HUGHES BOOM GROWS GREATER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 26.—Close friends of Justice Charles E. Hughes, fully convinced that he is to be the Republican presidential nominee, will endeavor to influence him to resign from the bench before the Chicago convention assembles and to announce his candidacy. They assert that if he would do so now the fight would be over. The Hughes sentiment they claim is spreading like wildfire through the southern delegates and the justice has followers in every state delegation. So far Mr. Hughes positively has refused to discuss politics even with judicial associates. It was said today by a fellow member of the supreme court bench that there was not a single member who had the slightest idea what the justice's position was. He has been good humoredly chaffed about his possible nomination and has replied in kind, but at no time has he made a single statement that would permit any line on his personal thoughts regarding the Republican nomination.

Progressive senators who stuck by the Republican party in the last national campaign thereby retaining their reputations for party regularity are a unit in believing that the nomination of Justice Hughes is as certain at Chicago as is the renomination of President Wilson at St. Louis a week later. They are devoting most of their attention to questions of platform and several prospective planks already have been framed. Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, will offer the Mexican plank, which will denounce watchful waiting. He has held several conferences with border senators on the subject and it is expected that the platform declaration will assail all of the administration moves in Mexico. The entire international policy of the administration also is to be handled without gloves. In this connection it is expected that this plank will be framed by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, who has decided views on what he claims has been the administration's failure to meet the situations as they have presented themselves.

In order that no time shall be wasted there is a growing disposition among Republican leaders here to have the temporary organization at Chicago made permanent with Senator W. G. Harding of Ohio as temporary and permanent chairman. This might permit the convention reaching the business of nominations late on Thursday if the resolutions committee can agree upon the platform Wednesday night and Thursday morning. It is not believed that there will be any great difficulty in reconciling the various elements so far as the platform is concerned. Even the "dyed in the wool" high tariff protection leaders admit that the platform must utter strongly progressive sentiments and there is no question but that this will be so.

With only 53 contests to be settled, the lowest in many years, it is expected that the national committee will have the temporary roll made up not later than next Saturday. Word reaching Republican headquarters here indicates that all convention arrangements are about completed.

That the Republicans recognize that the heavy fighting will be centered in the middle western states and the Pacific coast is shown by the announcement that three and possibly four national headquarters will be opened in New York, Chicago Portland, Oregon, and probably in this city.

This will make possible more uniform effort everywhere.

The Democratic convention is expected to be the most harmonious in the history of the party. Former Governor Martin H. Glynn of New York will make the keynote speech as temporary chairman, while Speaker Champ Clark will be the permanent chairman. Although the names of Governor Major of Missouri and Roger Sullivan of Illinois may be suggested for the vice-presidential nomination, and possibly that of Joseph W. Folk, also of Missouri, it already is conceded that the ticket will be Wilson and Marshall. The president will "O. K." the platform and, so far the actual routine is concerned, the convention could complete its program in one day if the delegates and leaders felt so inclined.

It has bought the machines and fixtures of the Miller-Hale Shirt Company, which now is operating at its new plant in the Buffing Wheel Works, Coxsackie. The other directors are Max Mirenberg of New York, W. P. Hale of Troy, and E. J. Miller of Coxsackie.

Thaw's Victory in the Air.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 26.—Lieut. William Thaw, an American member of the French air corps, scored a brilliant aerial victory near Verdun on Thursday, when he shot down a Fokker machine. it was announced today by the war office. Thaw and the German airman fought a thrilling duel high above the battle fields before the well directed fire of the American brought his antagonist to earth.

KINGSTON GREETS 'FRISCO ON PHONE

Transcontinental Talkfest Staged by New York Telephone Company Officials a Conspicuous Success—Mayor Caufield and Others Exchange Views With California Citizens.

Kingston exchanged personal greetings with San Francisco Thursday night at the Elks' Club where more than 300 leading business and professional men "listened in" on the transcontinental telephone wire to the exchange of messages and heard the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" literally "all over the country." The demonstration proved a great success and District Manager Willis Hills, Local Manager R. D. Clearwater with Special Agent H. J. Carroll of the New York Telephone Company shared in the congratulations of all present for the enterprise with which the genius of Alexander Graham Bell has been crowned in long distance telephony to say nothing of the accuracy and promptness which marked the connections. The demonstration was accompanied by a smoker arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

Before the signals were flashed to announce the opening of "the talk tracks" over the continent, a lecture illustrated with motion pictures was given by Mr. Carroll who showed the wonderful progress which has marked the development of the telephone, a story not new to the growing army of telephone users, but, nevertheless, of absorbing interest as pictured by the lecturer. Statistics and a lot of technical information were presented in entertaining fashion and the problems and tremendous volume of the telephone business were made clear to the hearers as never before.

During the actual demonstration which followed every guest had a receiver attached to his ear and was in on the listening end of the subsequent conversations. One fifteenth of a second is required for sound to make the trip and the electrical equipment makes possible the accelerating of the rate at which sound travels from 1160 feet a second to 56,000 miles a second. You can figure it out for yourself if you do not accept these calculations of Bell engineers.

What They Talked About.

When the blue light on the switchboard flashed and things began to tune up at the speakers' table, everybody adjusted his receiver in place and wondered how Central managed to keep her temper so well after wearing one of those things all day. Then Manager Clearwater cut into things and connected up with Pittsburgh as quickly as one could make a local connection on an exchange. After talking shop a moment and making sure it was actually Pittsburgh speaking through its usual cloud of smoke, Mr. Clearwater passed the time of day which happened to be 9:05 in the Smoky City; weather clear and temperature about 70.

Chicago came next and gave the time as 8:04 and the temperature as 72 without volunteering any information about the White Sox standing. Omaha followed with a temperature of 85, being nearer the Mexican border, and Denver changed the time schedule to 7:05. Salt Lake City's wire chief testified to the fact that the Latter Day Saints are early abroad in the matter of telephone improvements and Willimaque, some 165 miles from Reno where all connections except the telephone variety are broken, carried the line across to San Francisco. Then came the speeches, all of the speakers being in fine continental voice with the Atlantic tones a little higher in pitch than the Pacific.

Here came the first setback when Edward Rainey, secretary to Mayor Rolfe of 'Frisco, was detained and so it was up to President Leighton of the Chamber of Commerce to break the transcontinental ice with a talk to H. C. Adams, representing the president of the San Francisco Chamber.

Greetings to New Neighbor.

"Kingston is in its 258th year, but we congratulate San Francisco on its 67th birthday," was one of the greetings from Mr. Leighton and he concluded with expressing best regards and a cordial invitation to visit Kingston extended to all the residents of "our new neighbor in the west." Mr. Adams praised Chamber of Commerce work and gave the local Chamber a boost.

Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson, U. S. N., retired, next talked with Captain Frank M. Bennett, commandant of the Mare Island naval station. But as the connection had to be changed to the Presidio, this conversation had to be deleted by the censor. Anyway, men are under orders not to discuss naval matters.

Far From Little Gray Home.

As Secretary Rainey had not yet shown up at his home (they work long hours in San Francisco, he afterward told Mayor Caufield), a phonograph in San Francisco played "The Little Gray Home in the West" and the sound effect was marvelious. Every little jar of the needle in the machine was reproduced faithfully as well as all of the high notes. Nobody was sure of the singer but it sounded like Madam Homer.

HUDSON VALLEY UNIT FOR BRIDGE

With a hearty endorsement of Former Congressman Peter Ten Eyck's speech in favor of the deepening of the Hudson river by the federal government and the early completion of the Kingston-Port Ewen bridge over the Rondout creek, the Hudson Valley Chamber of Commerce adjourned its third session Thursday afternoon at the city hall after listening to reports from various chambers represented within its membership and the election of several new associations from Hudson, Ossining, Peekskill and Nyack. It was late in the afternoon before the reports were completed and many of the delegates had to hurry for their trains.

Ex-Congressman Ten Eyck's speech was the feature of the afternoon. He called the attention of his hearers to the necessity for co-operation of business men and for the getting together of cities of the Hudson Valley for the common interest. He referred to the early interests of the Clintons of Kingston in waterways projects and after comparisons with Canadian projects, he declared that the Hudson river improvement was essential from the standpoint of preparedness.

Right to Free Travel.

"In addition to this project," said Mr. Ten Eyck, "you people have a bridge over Rondout creek, in whose improvement the entire Hudson Valley is interested. As vice-president of the State Automobile Association I have been instrumental in aiding this undertaking and we in Albany hope to see it carried out to completion at as early a date as possible.

"The automobile has revolutionized transportation and brought communities closely in touch and in line with this development, we believe in free bridges. We believe that a citizen of this state whether in an automobile, a railroad train or on foot has a right to cross a bridge over any body of water anywhere in the state without paying tolls!"

Applause greeted this statement and the one which followed it in which the speaker said that Albany and every city on the river was interested in the bridge project and that they were all interested in the 27 foot channel as well, stating that any river was a benefit for all.

Leighton Shows Progress.

Previous to this speech, President Leighton in reporting for the Chamber of Commerce recited the interest that body has taken in the bridge matter and the success which followed the widespread public demand for cutting down the specifications. He told the delegates that the contract for the abutments would undoubtedly be let following the receipt of the bids on June 5, the state highway department having so assured Kingston citizens.

"Everybody along the Hudson is in favor of the bridge being built," said President Graham Wheelef, a leading attorney of Newburgh.

Reporting for Port Jervis, the Rev. Father William J. Donohue made one of the wittiest speeches of the session in telling how the Chamber of that place had literally made "a molehill out of a mountain" purchase by getting citizens interested in the project and as a result the fame of "the Sky Line drive" is a matter of record in three states whose borders join at Port Jervis.

A Popular Diversion.

Father Donohue was frequently applauded, especially when he expressed regret in conclusion at being unable to remain for the transcontinental telephone talk. "It is quite up-to-date you know," he said, "to 'listen in' and it is popular to tap the wires, especially all the way to San Francisco."

Secretary Hoomer of Catskill reported progress of the Chamber in that village and suggested a legislative committee to guard the interests of the Hudson valley communities at Albany. This suggestion will be acted upon.

Another valuable suggestion was made by William Schoenfeld of Saugerties who would advertise the Hudson valley on a nation-wide plan and appropriate at least $5,000 for such purposes. That will be acted upon by the Executive Committee.

Mr. Kearney's Good Work.

What former President John B. Kearney of the Kingston body and Secretary Hoehn had done for Athens in starting a Board of Trade there was told by Delegate Whiting from that village. Since then, he said, the village had landed a metal lath industry which would employ twice its present number of employes, 80 men, next year and had also started a bank.

Albany reported on its civic improvement work in the matter of garbage disposal and other problems. An invitation was extended all to join in the State Chamber of Commerce convention June 9-10th in that city.

Troy, Middletown and Newburgh made reports, the last named city showing its interest in city matters such as the planting of 4,000 seedling trees on its watershed, the reorganizations of its Chamber and the taking up of a 60 acre tract on the waterfront by business men who expect to make a second Bush terminal of the place. This report, made by Secretary Pellot was one of the most interesting of the many that were read.

Convention Advertisements.

President Frank of the Poughkeepsie Chamber asserted that conventions were the best means of advertising a city and told what had been done in that connection. Co-operation with city officials and keeping what industries a city had were two features important in succesful Chamber of Commerce work, he said, and declared that the new station and the new water system were both secured through the Chamber's aid.

Haverstraw, Hudson and Peekskill also reported with Walden and the other cities. That industries are not the sole objective of a Chamber was the burden of these reports, most of them claiming that aiding civic enterprise and improvement were two chief objects that would make a city more desirable as a residence place and, hence, more attractive to manufactures of a legitimate nature.

None Care to Advertise?

On the suggestion of advertising, Secretary Hoehn stated that last fall he had sent out a circular letter to all of the secretaries of the various Chambers of Commerce along the river asking for data and photographs of their respective cities for use in a big advertising folder to be issued by a steamboat company.

"And not a single reply did I get," said Mr. Hoehn.

The Executive Committee reported its work on the mail improvement matter, the boat races at Poughkeepsie, the New York Central fare increase and assistance to various Chambers in the matter of organization.

After the passage of a vote of thanks for the entertainment given by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, adjournment was taken. Among the final matters up was the suggestion of Mr. Kearney that routine reports be abbreviated hereafter, a subject that was turned over to the Executive Committee with power to act. As a result it is likely that reports will be made by only a part of the membership at each meeting.

Bowling at Y. M. C. A.

This evening another game will be bowled in the Church League when the teams of the Rondout Presbyterian Church and the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will roll. Wednesday evening the Wurts Street Baptist Church was defeated by Trinity M. E. Church by a score of 2,949 to 1,919 pins. The Baptists were Winchell, Powell, Van Valkenburgh, McEntee and Tongue, while the Methodists were Ostrander, Towne, Shultis, Healy for Eighmey, and Brown for Watts.

Red Monogram's Sunday Excursion.

Sunday the Red Monograms of this city will play the fast Hyde Park Club at Hyde Park. The locals will make an excursion to that place Sunday afternoon on the yacht leaving the Rondout creek at 1:30 o'clock. Williams, Spalt and Smedes will be in the points for the locals. As there will be no game on McVey's field on that afternoon many of the local fans are expected to accompany the team.

Boy Drowned in Catskill Creek.

Louis, the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Desco, West Main street, Catskill, was drowned in the Catskill creek on Wednesday. The boy had gone fishing and his fish line was found fast to a stone in the bottom of the creek and it is believed that when the lad was endeavoring to loosen it, he lost his balance and fell overboard. The body was recovered Thursday.

Like Mary's Little Lamb

Keeping in line with the clean-up movement the office bulding of Brinnier & Canfield on John street is being painted. The building is being painted snow white and presents a very neat appearance.

Speaks at Accord Tonight.

The Rev. Dr. P. N. Chase of this city will deliver a temperance address this evening at Accord.

HIS FORD CAR WOULD NOT STOP

Judge Lang Takes Official Notice of Make of Car and Reduced Fine to $3—Salvuci Claimed the Brakes Would Not Work.

Another automobilist who fell afoul of the law for violating the traffic ordinance on Thursday was Frank Salvuci of West Hurley, who drove his Ford car past a trolley car receiving and discharging passengers on Broadway at Elmendorf street. The arrest was made by Policeman Welsh.

This morning Mr. Salvuci was arraigned before Recorder Lang and said that the reason he did not stop his car was because the brakes would not work. At the time he passed the trolley another car was ahead of him and had stopped and as his brakes did not work well he did not like to take a chance in hitting the car ahead, and so kept on going expecting to turn into Van's garage to have repairs made to his brakes.

Questioned by the court as to the make of his car, Mr. Salvuci replied that it was a Ford.

In imposing sentence Recorder Lang said that he would take into consideration the fact that the car was a Ford and that the brakes were were working properly and for that reason would reduce the fine to $3.

Mr. Salvuci paid.

This was the first time he had been arrested for traffic violation.

RECORDER LANG HAS "FINE" DAY

Two Auto Speeders Found Guilty and Fined $5 Each—One Was Speeding 30 Miles an Hour and the Other 25 Miles.

"Sure I was not going in excess of thirty miles an hour," said Chauncey Snyder of this city in reply to questions by Recorder Lang when Mr. Snyder was arraigned before him this morning on a charge of reckless driving and running his car with the cutout open.

"I hope not," replied the court imposing a fine of $5, which Mr. Snyder paid.

From Snyder's story he had a party in his car who were anxious to make the ferry and he was hurrying. Questioned about what the speed of the car was at the time he was arrested he said that he did not notice what the speedometer was registering.

"You have driven an automobile for many years, have you not?" queried the court.

"No, sir," he replied.

"Well, then give me your best estimate of how fast your car was running," said the court.

This was the question that led Mr. Snyder to remark earnestly that he was not running in excess of thirty miles.

Policeman Hess arrested Mr. Snyder.

Another speeder who was pulled in by Policeman Hess for reckless driving was Michael Costello of Henry street. Asked as to what excuse he had to offer by the court, Mr. Costello replied that he had nothing to say except tthat he was hurrying to get his work done. He said that he judged he was running his car about twenty-five miles an hour.

A fine of $5 was imposed by the court and paid by Mr. Costello.

This was the first time that either Mr. Snyder or Mr. Costello had been arrested for violation of the traffic ordinance.

The Ever Ready Club.

There will be a meeting of the Ever Ready Club tonight at the home of Mrs. George Ballantine of Sleightsburgh at 8 o'clock.

CARRANZA TROOPS STONE AMERICANS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Columbus, N. M., May 26.—Carranza soldiers and civilians at Casas Grandes stones an American truck train in command of Captain Harper coming north from Namiquipa on Wednesday afternoon, injuring a truck squad foreman and several drivers.

The train arrived here with an account of the attack. Acting on orders of Captain Harper the Americans fired no retaliatory shots at their assailants, but merely put on additional speed and drew away in a shower of stones and clubs. The men's hurts are painful but not serious.

The attack of Wednesday is the second to which truck trains operating between here and General Pershing's base have been subjected.

Soldiers accompanying the train as guards declared the situation is fast becoming grave along the line of communications. Numerous times they were forced to stop and cut barbed wire which had been placed across the deeply rutted roads.

Arriving a few miles north of Namiquipa Wednesday afternoon the train was halted to give the drivers a brief rest. A crowd gathered about. In it were civilians and a number of Carranza soldiers in uniform. From some part of the throng came a heavy stone, striking an American in the mouth. As if at a signal the mob began hurling stones, heavy sticks—anything it could get its hands on, according to the soldiers. Many women joined in the stoning.

Captain Harper hurriedly gave the command to move, and the train pulled out amid a shower of missiles and jeers.

FITTING CLOSE TO MEMORIAL DAY

After Honoring the Dead and the Aged, Kingston Folks Will Aid the Living and the Young to Live Right.

On Tuesday next, the day set aside to the memory of the soldiers and sailors who offered their lives for the flag, we will in this city devote the day to the honor of those brave men who are no longer in the ranks.

Appropriate exercises, public speaking, the big parade, the decorations of the cemeteries, all the doings of the day will be to this purpose.

When the day is done and the sun has set, Kingston will find many guests within her walls who will wish to spend the evening in recreation. What can we do to amuse our visitors on the night of Memorial Day?

The Boy Scouts offer a delightful way of spending the hours that remain, and have arranged for a splendid dance which will be ideal ending to the day. The State Armory is theirs for the evening, the admission is only 50 cents, the music will be excellent, the floor good and the object appeals to everyone. The money realized at this dance will be used to establish a permanent camp for this organization of lads who represent the kind of men we want to raise for our next generation.

The boys are selling their own tickets for the dance and groups of two or three may be seen in all parts of the city as they go about among their friends talking up their ball and explaining its object. The Boy Scouts may be recognized not only by their uniforms but by a certain manliness of appearance, a directness of address, a purposeful manner which is the result of organization and training.

An outdoor vacation for these boys will be a wonderful help in perfecting their physical condition and offering further opportunities for the study of nature and woodcraft. Senator Walton has given them the place, let Kingston people help them to raise the small amount necessary to establish their camp. Buy tickets for the Boy Scout Ball even if you cannot attend.

VILLA LEADER KILLED IN FIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Field Headquarters, United States Army, Near Namiquipa, Mex., May 25—(Via Radio to Columbus, N. M., May 26.)—A short sharp battle between a force of American army engineers and a gang of Mexican bandits under the leadership of the renowned Candelaria Cervantes, one of Pancho Villa's most trusted lieutenants, was fought this morning south of Cruces.

Three Americans were wounded, one so badly that he died a short time afterward, and two of the bandits were killed, several wounded and the band scattered. Among those killed was Cervantes himself.

An official report on the battle was made today to General Pershing at his headquarters here.

ISAIAH'S LOST GRIP GOT HIM JAILED

Thursday Isaiah Shultis, who resides back of Saugerties, came to Kingston to see his attorneys about the progress of his claim against the New York city water works, and he paid a visit to the office of Brinnier & Canfield on John street, and while waiting for an audience found that there were a number of other clients ahead of him, and left the office to walk about and see the sights.

Shortly after that the phone in police headqquarters rang and an effeminate voice informed the one who respond to the call that a grip had been lost, and asked that a policeman be sent to assist in finding it. Policeman Fout was sent.

Later it developed that Mr. Shultis had mislaid his grip, and was unable to recall just where he had left it. In an effort to recover it he made a tour of the uptown saloons, lunch rooms and hotels, and by the time he had completed the rounds he had acquired a considerable load of joy juice. This resulted in his making a nuisance of himself, and accusing the proprietors of the various places he visited of having stolen his grip, and which finally led to his arrest by Policeman Fout.

This morning Chris J. Flanagan, of the law office of Brinnier & Canfield, appeared in recorder's court in behalf of Mr. Shultis. Mr. Flanagan explained that the office had charge of Mr. Shultis's claim for damages against the city, and that thirty or forty other clients were at the office Thursday and as Mr. Shultis's name was low down on the list he grew tired of waiting until his turn came to see his attorney and left the office, leaving his suit case behind.

It developed that the reason Mr. Shultis was so anxious to get his grip back was because he carried his money in it, and it contained over $20.

"How many drinks did you have?" asked Recorder Lang, addressing Shultis.

"Really, sir," he replied, "I did not keep track of them, but I have not touched a drop since last fall, and a presume whatever I drank must have muddled me up."

"I might say," said Mr. Flanagan, "that Mr. Shultis's claim against New York city has been adjusted, and it is not likely that he will visit Kingston again in some time."

"I am really ashamed of myself" Mr. Shultis added.

"And I am ashamed of you" replied Judge Lang. He continued "Under the circumstances I will fine you $3. Have you the money with you?"

"Oh yes sir" replied Mr. Shultis as he opened the grip which had been returned to him and he ashed out $3 and paid his fine.

As he left the court room he remarked earnestly that Kingston would not see him again in a long, long time, and if he ever did come again he would not get drunk.

Women's Work Appreciated.

A goodly audience witnessed the final class work in connection with the ladies' day gymnastic classes at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening, and were enthusiastic in the praise they gave to Mrs. Winne, who has been the efficient volunteer instructor. Several young women had been trained to act as leaders in the various exercises and movements and all showed marked efficiency. The classes will be resumed in October next.

Stenographer Lost Teeth.

Rather than run her automobile into a deep ditch, Miss Marion Yager, a Monticello stenographer, ran the car through a herd of cattle. Collision with one cow sent the young woman through the windshield and cost her two front teeth.

To Have Baby Contest.

Miss Bessie L. Parker and Miss Anna Herring are serving on the committee for the Baby Contest which will be held during the Field Day exercises on June 3 at New Paltz. Only babies under 1½ years will be registered. A doctor of pediatrics and a nurse will be in charge.

KINGSTON GREETS 'FRISCO ON PHONE

Transcontinental Talkfest Staged by New York Telephone Company Officials a Conspicuous Success—Mayor Canfield and Others Exchange Views With California Citizens.

Kingston exchanged personal greetings with San Francisco Thursday night at the Elks' Club where more than 300 leading business and professional men "listened in" on the transcontinental telephone wire to the exchange of messages and heard the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" literally "all over the country." Before the signals were flashed to announce the opening of "the talk tracks" over the continent, a lecture illustrated with motion pictures was given by Mr. Carroll who showed the wonderful progress which has marked the development of the telephone, a story not new to the growing army of telephone users, but, nevertheless, of absorbing interest as pictured by the lecturer. Statistics and a lot of technical information were presented in entertaining fashion and the problems and tremendous volume of the telephone business were made clear to the hearers as never before.

During the actual demonstration which followed every guest had a receiver attached to his ear and was in on the listening end of the subsequent conversations. One fifteenth of a second is required for sound to make the trip and the electrical equipment makes possible the accelerating of the rate at which sound travels from 1160 feet a second to 56,000 miles a second. You can figures it out for yourself if you do not accept these calculations of Bell engineers.

What They Talked About.

When the blue light on the switchboard flashed and things began to tune up at the speakers' table, everybody adjusted his receiver in place and wondered how Central managed to keep her temper so well after wearing one of those things all day. Then Manager Clearwater cut into things and connected up with Pittsburgh as quickly as one could make a local connection on an exchange. After talking shop a moment and making sure it was actually Pittsburgh speaking through its usual cloud of smoke, Mr. Clearwater passed the time of day which happened to be 9:05 in the Smoky City; weather clear and temperature about 70.

Chicago came next and gave the time as 8:04 and the temperature as 72 without volunteering any information about the White Sox standing. Omaha followed with a temperature of 85, being nearer the Mexican border, and Denver changed the time schedule to 7:05. Salt Lake City's wire chief testified to the fact that the Latter Day Saints are early abroad in the matter of telephone improvements and Willimaque, some 165 miles from Reno where all connections except the telephone variety are broken, carried the line across to San Francisco. Then came the speeches, all of the speakers being in fine continental voice with the Atlantic tones a little higher in pitch than the Pacific.

Here came the first setback when Edward Rainey, secretary to Mayor Rolfe of 'Frisco, was detained and so it was up to President Leighton of the Chamber of Commerce to break the transcontinental ice with a talk to H. C. Adams, representing the president of the San Francisco Chamber.

Greetings to New Neighbor.

"Kingston is in its 258th year, but we congratulate San Francisco on its 67th birthday," was one of the greetings from Mr. Leighton and he concluded with expressing best regards and a cordial invitation to visit Kingston extended to all the residents of "our new neighbor in the west." Mr. Adams praised Chamber of Commerce work and gave the local Chamber a boost.

Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson, U. S. N., retired, next talked with Captain Frank M. Bennett, commandant of the Mare Island naval station. But as the connection had to be changed to the Presidio, this conversation had to be deleted by the censor. Anyway, men are under orders not to discuss naval matters.

Far From Little Gray Home.

As Secretary Rainey had not yet shown up at his home (they work long hours in San Francisco, he afterward told Mayor Canfield), a phonograph in San Francisco played "The Little Gray Home in the West" and the sound effect was marvellous. Every little jar of the needle in the machine was reproduced faithfully as well as all of the high notes. Nobody was sure of the singer but it sounded like Madam Homer.

HUDSON VALLEY UNIT FOR BRIDGE

With a hearty endorsement of Former Congressman Peter Ten Eyck's speech in favor of the deepening of the Hudson river by the federal government and the early completion of the Kingston-Port Ewen bridge over the Rondout creek, the Hudson Valley Chamber of Commerce adjourned its third session Thursday afternoon at the city hall after listening to reports from various chambers represented within its membership and the election of several new associations from Hudson, Ossining, Peekskill and Nyack. It was late in the afternoon before the reports were completed and many of the delegates had to hurry for their trains.

Ex-Congressman Ten Eyck's speech was the feature of the afternoon. He called the attention of his hearers to the necessity for co-operation of business men and for the getting together of cities of the Hudson Valley for the common interest. He referred to the early interests of the Clintons of Kingston in waterways projects and after comparisons with Canadian projects, he declared that the Hudson river improvement was essential from the standpoint of preparedness.

Right to Free Travel.

"In addition to this project," said Mr. Ten Eyck, "you people have a bridge over Rondout creek, in whose improvement the entire Hudson Valley is interested. As vice-president of the State Automobile Association I have been instrumental in aiding this undertaking and we in Albany hope to see it carried out to completion at as early a date as possible.

"The automobile has revolutionized transportation and brought communities closely in touch and in line with this development, we believe in free bridges. We believe that a citizen of this state whether in an automobile, a railroad train or on foot has a right to cross a bridge over any body of water anywhere in the state without paying tolls!"

Applause greeted this statement and the one which followed it in which the speaker said that Albany and every city on the river was interested in the bridge project and that they were all interested in the 27 foot channel as well, stating that any benefit to any community along the river was a benefit for all.

Leighton Shows Progress.

Previous to this speech, President Leighton in reporting for the Chamber of Commerce recited the interest that body has taken in The bridge matter and the success which followed the widespread public demand for cutting down the specifications. He told the delegates that the contract for the abutments would undoubtedly be let following the receipt of the bids on June 5, the state highway department having so assured Kingston citizens.

"Everybody along the Hudson is in favor of the bridge being built," said President Graham Wheelef, a leading attorney of Newburgh.

Reporting for Port Jervis, the Rev. Father William J. Donohue made one of the wittiest speeches of the session in telling how the Chamber of that place had literally made "a molehill out of a mountain" purchase by getting citizens interested in the project and as a result the fame of "the Sky Line drive" is a matter of record in three states whose borders join at Port Jervis.

A Popular Diversion.

Father Donohue was frequently applauded, especially when he expressed regret in conclusion at being unable to remain for the transcontinental telephone talk. "It is quite up-to-date you know," he said, "to 'listen in' and it is popular to tap the wires, especially all the way to San Francisco.

Secretary Hocmer of Catskill reported progress of the Chamber in that village and suggested a legislative committee to guard the interests of the Hudson valley communities at Albany. This suggestion will be acted upon.

Another valuable suggestion was made by William Schoenfeld of Saugerties who would advertise the Hudson valley on a nation-wide plan and appropriate at least $5,000 for such purposes. That will be acted upon by the Executive Committee.

Mr. Kearney's Good Work.

What former President John B. Kearney of the Kingston body and Secretary Hoehn had done for Athens in starting a Board of Trade there was told by Delegate Whiting from that village. Since then, he said, the village had landed a metal lath industry which would employ twice its present number of employes, 80 men, next year and had also started a bank.

Albany reported on its civic improvement work in the matter of garbage disposal and other problems. An invitation was extended all to join in the State Chamber of Commerce convention June 9-10th in that city.

Troy, Middletown and Newburgh made reports, the last named city showing its interest in city matters such as the planting of 4,000 seedling trees on its watershed, the reorganizations of its Chamber and the taking up of a 60 acre tract on the waterfront by business men who expect to make a second Bush terminal of the place. This report, made by Secretary Pellot was one of the most interesting of the many that were read.

Convention Advertisements.

President Frank of the Poughkeepsie Chamber asserted that conventions were the best means of advertising a city and told what had been done in that connection. Co-operation with city officials and keeping what industries a city had were two features important in succesful Chamber of Commerce work, he said, and declared that the new station and the new water system were both secured through the Chamber's aid.

Haverstraw, Hudson and Peekskill also reported with Walden and the other cities. That industries are not the sole objective of a Chamber was the burden of these reports, most of them claiming that aiding civic enterprise and improvement were two chief objects that would make a city more desirable as a residence place and, hence, more attractive to manufactures of a legitimate nature.

None Care to Advertise?

On the suggestion of advertising, Secretary Hoehn stated that last fall he had sent out a circular letter to all of the secretaries of the various Chambers of Commerce along the river asking for data and photographs of their respective cities for use in a big advertising folder to be issued by a steamboat company.

"And not a single reply did I get," said Mr. Hoehn.

The Executive Committee reported its work on the mail improvement matter, the boat races at Poughkeepsie, the New York Central fare increase and assistance to various Chambers in the matter of organization.

After the passage of a vote of thanks for the entertainment given by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, adjournment was taken. Among the final matters up was the suggestion of Mr. Kearney that routine reports be abbreviated hereafter, a subject that was turned over to the Executive Committee with power to act. As a result it is likely that reports will be made by only a part of the membership at each meeting.

Bowling at Y. M. C. A.

This evening another game will be bowled in the Church League when the teams of the Rondout Presbyterian Church and the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will roll. Wednesday evening the Wurts Street Baptist Church was defeated by Trinity M. E. Church by a score of 2,049 to 1,919 pins. The Baptists were Winchell, Powell, Van Valkenburgh, McEntee and Tongue, while the Methodists were Ostrander, Towne, Shultis, Healy for Eighmey, and Brown for Watts.

Red Monogram's Sunday Excursion.

Sunday the Red Monograms of this city will play the fast Hyde Park Club at Hyde Park. The locals will make an excursion to that place Sunday afternoon on the yacht leaving the Rondout creek at 1:30 o'clock. Williams, Spalt and Smedes will be in the points for the locals. As there will be no game on McVey's field on that afternoon many of the local fans are expected to accompany the team.

Boy Drowned in Catskill Creek.

Louis, the seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Desco, West Main street, Catskill, was drowned in the Catskill creek on Wednesday. The boy had gone fishing and his fish line was found fast to a stone in the bottom of the creek and it is believed that when the lad was endeavoring to loosen it, he lost his balance and fell overboard. The body was recovered Thursday.

HIS FORD CAR WOULD NOT STOP

Judge Lang Takes Official Notice of Make of Car and Reduced Fine to $3—Salvuci Claimed the Brakes Would Not Work.

Another automobilist who fell afoul of the law for violating the traffic ordinance on Thursday was Frank Salvuci of West Hurley, who drove his Ford car past a trolley car receiving and discharging passengers on Broadway at Elmendorf street. The arrest was made by Policeman Welsh.

This morning Mr. Salvuci was arraigned before Recorder Lang and said that the reason he did not stop his car was because the brakes would not work. At the time he passed the trolley another car was ahead of him and had stopped and as his brakes did not work well he did not like to take a chance in hitting the car ahead, and so kept on going expecting to turn into Van's garage to have repairs made to his brakes.

Questioned by the court as to the make of his car, Mr. Salvuci replied that it was a Ford.

In imposing sentence Recorder Lang said that he would take into consideration the fact that the car was a Ford and that the brakes were were working properly and for that reason would reduce the fine to $3.

Mr. Salvuci paid.

This was the first time he had been arrested for traffic violation.

RECORDER LANG HAS "FINE" DAY

Two Auto Speeders Found Guilty and Fined $5 Each—One Was Speeding 30 Miles an Hour and the Other 25 Miles.

"Sure I was not going in excess of thirty miles an hour," said Chauncey Snyder of this city in reply to questions by Recorder Lang when Mr. Snyder was arraigned before him this morning on a charge of reckless driving and running his car with the cutout open.

"I hope not," replied the court imposing a fine of $5, which Mr. Snyder paid.

From Snyder's story he had a party in his car who were anxious to make the ferry and he was hurrying. Questioned about what the speed of the car was at the time he was arrested he said that he did not notice what the speedometer was registering.

"You have driven an automobile for many years, have you not?" queried the court.

"No, sir," he replied.

"Well, then give me your best estimate of how fast your car was running," said the court.

This was the question that led Mr. Snyder to remark earnestly that he was not running in excess of thirty miles.

Policeman Hess arrested Mr. Snyder.

Another speeder who was pulled in by Policeman Hess for reckless driving was Michael Costello of Henry street. Asked as to what excuse he had to offer by the court, Mr. Costello replied that he had nothing to say except tthat he was hurrying to get his work done. He said that he judged he was running his car about twenty-five miles an hour.

A fine of $5 was imposed by the court and paid by Mr. Costello.

This was the first time that either Mr. Snyder or Mr. Costello had been arrested for violation of the traffic ordinance.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Columbus, N. M., May 26.—Carranza soldiers and civilians at Casas Grandes stones an American truck train in command of Captain Harper coming north from Namiquipa on Wednesday afternoon, injuring a truck squad foreman and several drivers.

The train arrived here with an account of the attack. Acting on orders of Captain Harper the Americans fired no retaliatory shots at their assailants, but merely put on additional speed and drew away in a shower of stones and clubs. The men's hurts are painful but not serious.

The attack of Wednesday is the second to which truck trains operating between here and General Pershing's base have been subjected.

Soldiers accompanying the train as guards declared the situation is fast becoming grave along the line of communications. Numerous times they were forced to stop and cut barbed wire which had been placed across the deeply rutted roads.

Arriving a few miles north of Namiquipa Wednesday afternoon the train was halted to give the drivers a brief rest. A crowd gathered about. In it were civilians and a number of Carranza soldiers in uniform. From some part of the throng came a heavy stone, striking an American in the mouth. As if at a signal the mob began hurling stones, heavy sticks—anything it could get its hands on, according to the soldiers. Many women joined in the stoning.

Captain Harper hurriedly gave the command to move, and the train pulled out amid a shower of missiles and jeers.

FITTING CLOSE TO MEMORIAL DAY

After Honoring the Dead and the Aged, Kingston Folks Will Aid the Living and the Young to Live Right.

On Tuesday next, the day set aside to the memory of the soldiers and sailors who offered their lives for the flag, we will in this city devote the day to the honor of those Brave men who are no longer in the ranks.

Appropriate exercises, public speaking, the big parade, the decorations of the cemeteries, all the doings of the day will be to this purpose.

When the day is done and the sun has set, Kingston will find many guests within her walls who will wish to spend the evening in recreation. What can we do to amuse our visitors on the night of Memorial Day?

The Boy Scouts offer a delightful way of spending the hours that remain, and have arranged for a splendid dance which will be ideal ending to the day. The State Armory is theirs for the evening, the admission is only 50 cents, the music will be excellent, the floor good and the object appeals to everyone. The money realized at this dance will be used to establish a permanent camp for this organization of lads who represent the kind of men we want to raise for our next generation.

The boys are selling their own tickets for the dance and groups of two or three may be seen in all parts of the city as they go about among their friends talking up their ball and explaining its object. The Boy Scouts may be recognized not only by their uniforms but by a certain manliness of appearance, a directness of address, a purposeful manner which is the result of organization and training.

An outdoor vacation for these boys will be a wonderful help in perfecting their physical condition and offering further opportunities for the study of nature and woodcraft. Senator Walton has given them the place, let Kingston people help them to raise the small amount necessary to establish their camp. Buy tickets for the Boy Scout Ball even if you cannot attend.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

VILLA LEADER KILLED IN FIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Field Headquarters, United States Army, Near Namiquipa, Mex., May 25—(Via Radio to Columbus, N. M., May 26.)—A short sharp battle between a force of American army engineers and a gang of Mexican bandits under the leadership of the renowned Candelaria Cervantes, one of Pancho Villa's most trusted lieutenants, was fought this morning south of Cruces.

Three Americans were wounded, one so badly that he died a short time afterward, and two of the bandits were killed, several wounded and the band scattered. Among those killed was Cervantes himself.

An official report on the battle was made today to General Pershing at his headquarters here.

ISAIAH'S LOST GRIP GOT HIM JAILED

Thursday Isaiah Shultis, who resides back of Saugerties, came to Kingston to see his attorneys about the progress of his claim against the New York city water works and he paid a visit to the office of Brinnier & Canfield on John street, and while waiting for an audience found that there were a number of other clients ahead of him, and left the office to walk about and see the sights.

Shortly after that the 'phone in police headqquarters rang and an effeminate voice informed the one who respond to the call that a grip had been lost, and asked that a policeman be sent to assist in finding it. Policeman Fout was sent.

Later it developed that Mr. Shultis had mislaid his grip, and was unable to recall just where he had left it. In an effort to recover it he made a tour of the uptown saloons, lunch rooms and hotels, and by the time he had completed the rounds he had acquired a considerable load of joy juice. This resulted in his making a nuisance of himself, and accusing the proprietors of the various places he visited of having stolen his grip, and which finally led to his arrest by Policeman Fout.

This morning Chris J. Flanagan, of the law office of Brinnier & Canfield, appeared in recorder's court in behalf of Mr. Shultis. Mr. Flanagan explained that the office had charge of Mr. Shultis's claim for damages against the city, and that thirty or forty other clients were at the office Thursday and as Mr. Shultis's name was low down on the list he grew tired of waiting until his turn came to see his attorney and left the office, leaving his suit case behind.

It developed that the reason Mr. Shultis was so anxious to get his grip back was because he carried his money in it, and it contained over $20.

"How many drinks did you have?" asked Recorder Lang, addressing Shultis.

"Really, sir," he replied, "I did not keep track of them, but I have not touched a drop since last fall, and a presume whatever I drank must have muddled me up."

"I might say," said Mr. Flanagan, "that Mr. Shultis's claim against New York city has been adjusted, and it is not likely that he will visit Kingston again in some time."

"I am really ashamed of myself" Mr. Shultis added.

"And I am ashamed of you" replied Judge Lang. He continued "Under the circumstances I will fine you $3, have you the money with you?"

"Oh yes sir" replied Mr. Shultis as he opened the grip which had been returned to him and he ashed out $3 and paid his fine.

As he left the court room he remarked earnestly that Kingston would not see him again in a long, long time, and if he ever did come again he would not get drunk.

Women's Work Appreciated.

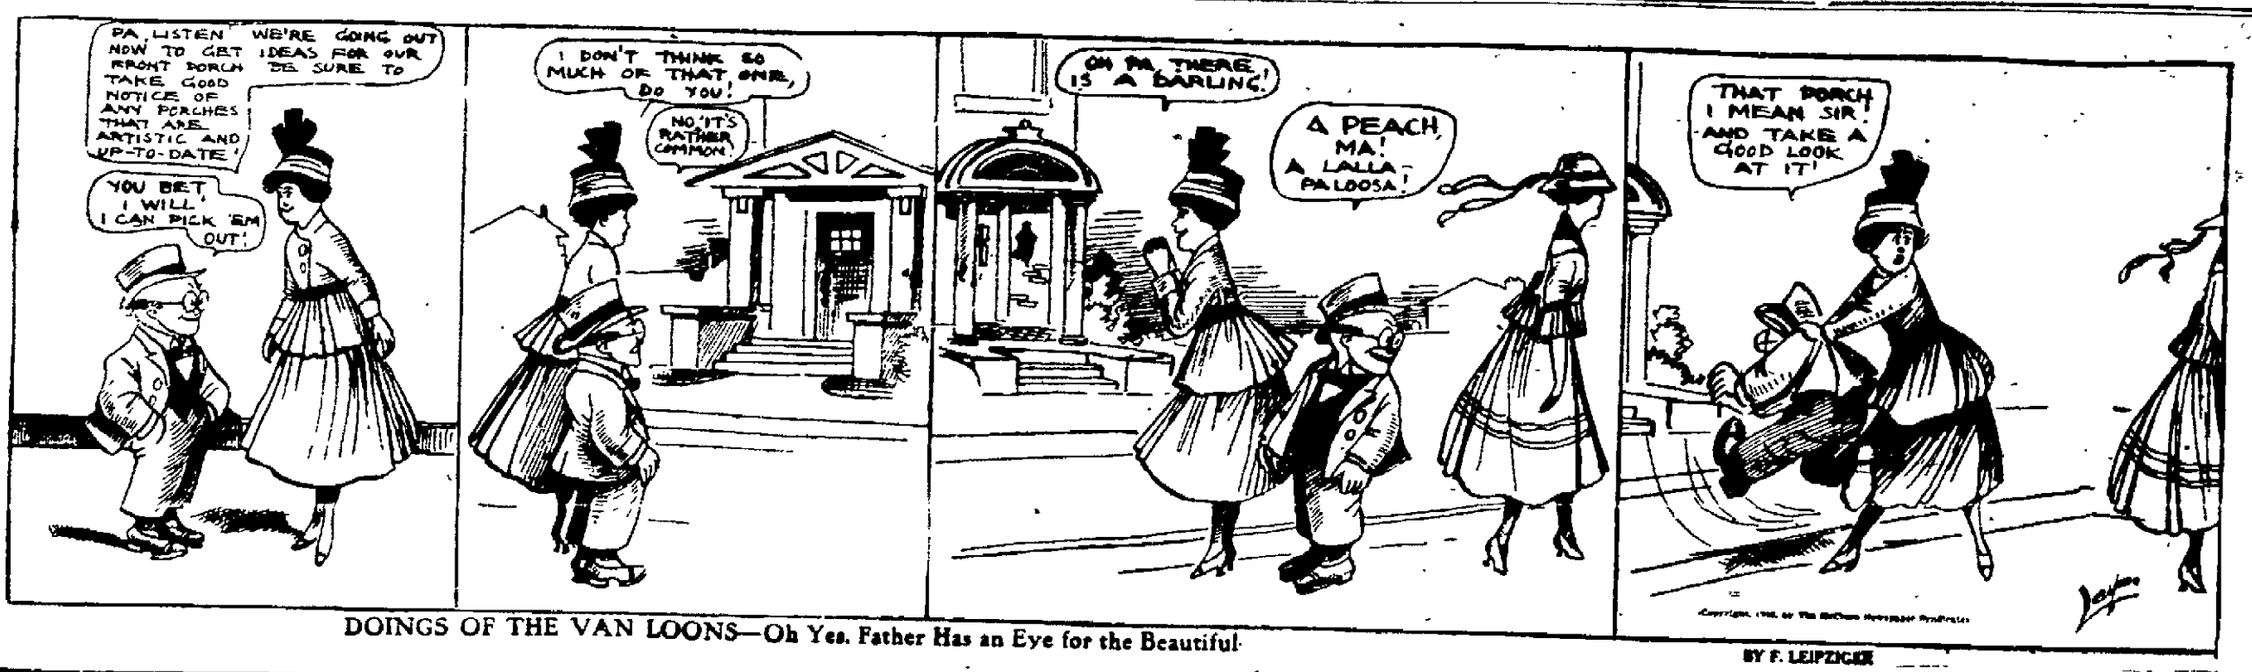

A goodly audience witnessed the final class work in connection with the ladies' day gymnastic classes at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening, and were enthusiastic in the praise they gave to Mrs. Winne, who has been the efficient volunteer instructor. Several young women had been trained to act as leaders in the various exercises and movements and all showed marked efficiency. The classes will be resumed in October next.

MANY ATTEND DUSTING EXHIBITS

Interested Fruit Growers Witness Practical Demonstration of the Latest Method of Applying Insecticide and Fungicide to trees.

Under the auspices of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, two very successful demonstrations of a new method of quickly protecting fruit trees from the ravages of biting insects and fungus diseases, were held in Ulster county.

The first through the courtesy of F. G. Schoonmaker, of Walkill was held in his orchard, Wednesday morning, May 24, when Manager Hook arrived with Professors Barrus and Matheson of Cornell, 36 fruit growers had already gathered for the meeting Some had come distances of over ten miles and quite a few of them were from Orange county.

Mr. Schoonmaker's duster was made by the Niagara people and is the only one of that make in Ulster county He had it connected to a two horse-power gasoline engine, which was amply able to drive the fanning wheel. This wheel produced a strong wind which passed through a three inch pipe into which the dusting material was falling, and blew it out from the delivery pipe in a dense cloud of dust.

College Men Make Explanations.

Before the actual dusting took place, Manager Hook introduced Prof. Matheson He pointed out that the dusting would not kill scale, aphis, or red bug, because these were sucking insects. It was effective, however, against the codling moth, tent caterpillar in its younger stages the canker worms, and other biting insects. He explained how the aphis and red bug could be controlled at the liquid codling moth spray by adding one pint of Black Leaf 40 to each 100 gallons of solution

Prof Barrus was next introduced. He had donned overalls, jumper and hat, so that at first glance, he did not impress the fruit growers present as a man of letters However, as he proceeded with his explanations, he soon convinced his hearers that he was thoroughly familiar with what he was talking about.

He reasoned that since in the liquid spray, the ingredient arsenate of lead is not dissolved, but remains suspended in solution, and simply dries on the leaves and young fruit, and since the material that controls he fungus diseases is lime-sulphur, and the only purpose of making the sulphur into a solution lime-sulphur, is to give a better distribution, what is the use of mixing the materials with water, if a satisfactory distribution can be secured with the dry materials and the weight to be handled is only about 1-10 as much. If one thinks of how much easier it would be to carry 10 lbs. a mile instead of 100 lbs., they could get a comparison of the saving in the weight transported.

The material that prevents apple scab and kindred fungus diseases is sulphur and that which kills the insects is arsenate of lead and both of these can be secured in the dry powdered form, and consequently can be blown in a fine dust which covers the leaves and fruit of the tree

2 MANY . . . 41,43 Wilbraham Place

Prof. Barrus further explained that the dusting could be done in 1-10 of the time required to cover the same number of trees with liquid spray. At this particular time of the year, this saving of time is very important to the farmer. The materials for dusting cost more for the same area than the materials for spraying, but the saving in time and labor more than offsets the increased cost of materials.

Orchard Demonstration.

All proceeded to the orchard and the dusting began. It was a still morning with plenty of moisture in the air and the dust quickly filled a large portion of the orchard with big white clouds which stuck to the leaves as they went up and then settled upon the top of the leaves as they fell

Prof. Barrus, operating the duster, went down through the row of trees and easily covered the side nearest him of each row as fast as the horses walked. He swung between the next rows and thus covered the remaining side of one row of trees and half of the third row. In 30 minutes he had covered 64 trees.

Not only does the material strike the trees as the delivery pipe is aimed toward them, but the dense fog of dust may be seen settling down on trees three rows away, five minutes later. An examination of the leaves and calyx lobes, even on the inside of the trees, showed them to be entirely and satisfactorily covered with dust.

Afternoon Demonstration at Milton.

The second demonstration was at the orchard of J. A. Hepworth, Milton Here was an interested and enthusiastic crowd of about 53 fruit growers The demonstration proceeded similarly to that at Mr. Schoonmaker's. However, the audience might be said to be more outspoken. As the dusting went on, some gave constructive criticism and suggestions, while a few took the exceedingly objectionable non-progressive attitude, picking flaws and throwing cold water in all directions

Again the criticism arose, which always arises, so the demonstrator says, to the unmitiated, that the work was not being done thoroughly. Yet an examination of the leaves and calyx lobes showed that the dust had hit all parts satisfactorily.

Only Two Dusters in Ulster County.

Mr. Hepworth's duster is of the Kansas City make. He and Mr. Schoonmaker are the only fruit growers in Ulster county who have purchased dusters thus far. They both deserve a great deal of credit for their daringness in becoming pioneers in taking up a new method. They also deserve the appreciation of the public for taking the trouble to provide demonstrations.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The most completely lost of all our days is the one on which we have not laughed.

Great minds have purposes; others have wishes.—Anon.

SOME MAIN DISHES.

In preparing a main dish the dessert will vary, as a light dessert should be preceded by a heavy main dish and vice versa.

Hamburg Luncheon Dish.—Mix two teaspoonfuls of salt and a fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper with a pound and three quarters of hamburg steak and pat into a thin loaf. Sprinkle the bottom of the roasting pan with flour and salt, place the meat in the pan and dredge with flour; place six strips of bacon over the meat and eight small, round potatoes around it after they have been parboiled ten minutes. Dust with flour and dot with bits of butter on each. Roast for thirty minutes in a moderate oven In the meantime heat a can of vegetable soup and when the meat is done, place it on a platter, pour the hot soup around it and garnish with the potatoes

Pot Roast of Veal.—Try out two ounces of suet and remove the cracklings. Put a four pound rump of veal in the fat and brown carefully; remove from the pot and add a pint of stewed tomatoes, three diced carrots, two teaspoonfuls of salt and an eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper; add a pint of stock and the meat with the bones and cook slowly for four hours When the meat is tender remove and let it cool slightly so it will not fall apart when carved. Thicken the gravy with flour, add a teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce and serve.

Salmon Loaf.—Drain a pound of salmon and shred fine; add three egg yolks well beaten, a half cupful of crumbs, a tablespoonful of melted butter and the egg whites beaten stiff. Mix well and bake in a buttered baking dish until firm.

Stringbean Salad.—Fresh-cooked or canned beans may be used. For a pint, chop fine a half slice of Bermuda or Spanish onion; add three tablespoonfuls of oil, a few dashes of paprika, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a chili pepper, chopped fine, one and a half tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Mix thoroughly and turn on a plate. Garnish with slices of hard-cooked egg and parsley.

MANY ATTEND DUSTING EXHIBITS

Interested Fruit Growers Witness Practical Demonstration of the Latest Method of Applying Insecticide and Fungicide to trees.

Under the auspices of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, two very successful demonstrations of a new method of quickly protecting fruit trees from the ravages of biting insects and fungus diseases, were held in Ulster county.

The first through the courtesy of F. G. Schoonmaker of Wallkill was held in his orchard, Wednesday morning, May 24, when Manager Hook arrived with Professors Barrus and Matheson of Cornell, 36 fruit growers had already gathered for the meeting. Some had come distances of over ten miles and quite a few of them were from Orange county.

Mr. Schoonmaker's duster was made by the Niagara people and is the only one of that make in Ulster county. He had it connected to a two horse-power gasoline engine, which was amply able to drive the fanning wheel. This wheel produced a strong wind which passed through a three inch pipe into which the dusting material was falling, and blew it out from the delivery pipe in a dense cloud of dust.

College Men Make Explanations.

Before the actual dusting took place, Manager Hook introduced Prof. Matheson. He pointed out that the dusting would not kill scale, aphis, or red bug, because these were sucking insects. It was effective, however, against the codling moth, tent caterpillar in its younger stages, the canker worms, and other biting insects. He explained how the aphis and red bug could be controlled at the liquid codling moth spray by adding one pint of Black Leaf 40 to each 100 gallons of solution.

Prof. Barrus was next introduced. He had donned overalls, jumper and hat, so that at first glance, he did not impress the fruit growers present as a man of letters. However, as he proceeded with his explanations, he soon convinced his hearers that he was thoroughly familiar with what he was talking about.

He reasoned that since in the liquid spray, the ingredient arsenate of lead is not dissolved, but remains suspended in solution, and simply dries on the leaves and young fruit, and since the material that controls he fungus diseases is lime-sulphur, and the only purpose of making the sulphur into a solution, lime-sulphur, is to give a better distribution, what is the use of mixing the materials with water, if a satisfactory distribution can be secured with the dry materials and the weight to be handled is only about 1-10 as much. If one thinks of how much easier it would be to carry 10 lbs. a mile instead of 100 lbs., they could get a comparison of the saving in the weight transported.

The material that prevents apple scab and kindred fungus diseases is sulphur and that which kills the insects is arsenate of lead and both of these can be secured in the dry powdered form, and consequently can be blown in a fine dust which covers the leaves and fruit of the tree.

2 MANY .... 41,v3 W.Ireas-. 30:e

Prof. Barrus further explained that the dusting could be done in 1-10 of the time required to cover the same number of trees with liquid spray. At this particular time of the year, this saving of time is very important to the farmer. The materials for dusting cost more for the same area than the materials for spraying, but the saving in time and labor more than offsets the increased cost of materials.

Orchard Demonstration.

All proceeded to the orchard and the dusting began. It was a still morning with plenty of moisture in the air and the dust quickly filled a large portion of the orchard with big white clouds which stuck to the leaves as they went up and then settled upon the top of the leaves as they fell.

Prof. Barrus, operating the duster, went down through the row of trees and easily covered the side nearest him of each row as fast as the horses walked. He swung between the next rows and thus covered the remaining side of one row of trees and half of the third row. In 30 minutes he had covered 64 trees.

Not only does the material strike the trees as the delivery pipe is aimed toward them, but the dense fog of dust may be seen settling down on trees three rows away, five minutes later. An examination of the leaves and calyx lobes, even on the inside of the trees, showed them to be entirely and satisfactorily covered with dust.

Afternoon Demonstration at Milton.

The second demonstration was at the orchard of J. A. Hepworth, Milton. Here was an interested and enthusiastic crowd of about 53 fruit growers. The demonstration proceeded similarly to that at Mr. Schoonmaker's. However, the audience might be said to be more outspoken. As the dusting went on, some gave constructive criticism and suggestions, while a few took the exceedingly objectionable a non-progressive attitude, picking flaws and throwing cold water in all directions.

Again the criticism arose, which always arises, so the demonstrator says, to the uninitiated, that the work was not being done thoroughly. Yet an examination of the leaves and calyx lobes showed that the dust had hit all parts satisfactorily.

Only Two Dusters in Ulster County.

Mr. Hepworth's duster is of the Kansas City make. He and Mr. Schoonmaker are the only fruit growers in Ulster county who have purchased dusters thus far. They both deserve a great deal of credit for their daringness in becoming pioneers in taking up a new method. They also deserve the appreciation of the public for taking the trouble to provide demonstrations.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The most completely lost of all our days is the one on which we have not laughed.

Great minds have purposes; others have wishes.—Anon.

SOME MAIN DISHES.

In preparing a main dish the dessert will vary, as a light dessert should be preceded by a heavy main dish and vice versa.

Hamburg Luncheon Dish.—Mix two teaspoonfuls of salt and a fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper with a pound and three quarters of hamburg steak and pat into a thin loaf. Sprinkle the bottom of the roasting pan with flour and salt, place the meat in the pan and dredge with flour; place six strips of bacon over the meat and eight small, round potatoes around it after they have been parboiled ten minutes. Dust with flour and dot with bits of butter on each. Roast for thirty minutes in a moderate oven. In the meantime heat a can of vegetable soup and when the meat is done, place it on a platter, pour the hot soup around it and garnish with the potatoes.

Pot Roast of Veal.—Try out two ounces of suet and remove the cracklings. Put a four pound rump of veal in the fat and brown carefully; remove from the pot and add a pint of stewed tomatoes, three diced carrots, two teaspoonfuls of salt and an eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper; add a pint of stock and the meat with the bones and cook slowly for four hours. When the meat is tender remove and let it cool slightly so it will not fall apart when carved. Thicken the gravy with flour, add a teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce and serve.

Salmon Loaf.—Drain a pound of salmon and shred fine; add three egg yolks well beaten, a half cupful of crumbs, a tablespoonful of melted butter and the egg whites beaten stiff. Mix well and bake in a buttered baking dish until firm.

Stringbean Salad.—Fresh-cooked or canned beans may be used. For a pint, chop fine a half slice of Bermuda or Spanish onion; add three tablespoonfuls of oil, a few dashes of paprika, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a chili pepper, chopped fine, one and a half tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Mix thoroughly and turn on a plate. Garnish with slices of hard-cooked egg and parsley.

FARM POULTRY

MEAT AND EGGS FOR FARMER

One of General Purpose Breeds Is to Be Desired—Strain More Important Than Breed.

Leghorns, Minorcas, Spanish, Blue Andalusians, Campines, and Anconas are egg breeds.

Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Orpingtons, Javas, Dominiques, Rhode Island Reds, and Cornish are general purpose breeds.

Brahmas, Cochins and Langshans are meat breeds.

egg production. One of the general purpose breeds is best for the farmer because he usually desires both meat and eggs.

The strain is more important than the breed. Get stock always from someone who has developed a strain bred to lay. The trap-nest is the only test.

DIRT FLOORS GAIN IN FAVOR

There is difference of opinion as to which kind of floor is best for poultry houses. In my opinion, says a writer in an exchange, if given proper attention, a dirt floor comes nearer pleasing the hens than floors of either board or concrete. If a brick or concrete wall is built entirely around the house, and the wall filled in until the floor is ten or twelve inches above the ground outside, the building will not only be rat-proof but damp-proof as well.

Board floors must be raised at least eight or ten inches above the ground. This allows air to circulate underneath, which makes the house cold during winter months. Concrete floors are hard, cold and damp, and must be covered with an inch or two of soil or sand. Concrete and board floors are easy to clean, but unless cleaned often they quickly become foul and insanitary. On the other hand, a dirt floor will take up moisture from the droppings and need not be cleaned, other than once a year.

PLAN FOR MOVABLE ROOSTS

Great Aid in Keeping Fowls Free From Mites and Lice—Easy to Take Apart and Clean.

A well-known poultry woman sent in her method for movable roosts. She says that movable roosts three feet apart, as seen in the cut, are a great aid in keeping fowls free from mites and lice. These roosts are easily taken apart and saturated with hot water. The trestles are 2 by 4 inches. The cut herewith shows the construction.—Wisconsin Farmer.

POULTRY INDUSTRY IN U. S.

Unlimited Demand Guaranteed for Products by Increase in Population and Short Beef Supply.

The poultry industry has increased more rapidly than any other branch of agriculture. The annual valuation of poultry and eggs produced in the United States is reputed to be at least one billion dollars. The gradual increase in our population and decrease in the beef supply will guarantee an unlimited demand for poultry products for years to come and at lucrative prices.

Water for Ducks and Geese.

A pond is not absolutely necessary to raise geese and ducks, but water fowl enjoy water and thrive better when they have access to it. On many farms there are facilities for making ponds and storing water.

AN ACT to amend section thirty-seven of the election law, in relation to county committee.

Became a law March 31, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section thirty-seven of chapter twenty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the elections, constituting chapter seventeen of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter eight hundred and twenty of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 37. County committee. The county committee of each party shall be constituted by the election in each election district within such county of at least one member, and of such additional members as the rules and regulations of the party may provide for such district, proportional to the party vote in the district for governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election, or in case the boundaries of such district have been changed or a new district has been created since the last preceding gubernatorial election, proportionate to the party vote cast for member of assembly at the last preceding general election; or, if no additional members are required by the rules, the voting power of each member shall be in proportion to such vote. Each member of a county committee shall be an enrolled voter of the party residing in the assembly district containing the election district in which he is elected. Each member of a county committee shall be entitled to one vote.

In case of the death, declination, disqualification, removal from district or removal from office of a member of the county committee, or the failure to elect a member, as by reason of a tie vote, the vacancy in such county committee caused thereby shall be filled by the remaining members of such county committee as provided in section forty-three of this chapter.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the establishment of publicity funds and to raise money by taxation therefor.

Became a law April 1, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section eighty-nine of chapter sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to villages, constituting chapter sixty-four of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended by adding thereto a new subdivision known as subdivision twenty-eight and to read as follows:

28. Publicity fund. When authorized by a resolution duly adopted by a majority of the qualified voters of such village, voting thereon at a general village election or at a special election called and held for such purpose, may establish a publicity fund of such amount as the resolution may direct, to be expended for the purpose of advertising the advantages of such village as a summer and winter resort or otherwise, including the necessary and legitimate expense of securing the designation of such village as the place for holding the convention or meeting of any organization or society, and for such other and additional purposes as may tend to promote the general commercial and industrial welfare of the village, and for that purpose may raise by taxation a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars per annum to be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner that other village taxes are assessed, levied and collected.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.
CHAP. 118.

AN ACT to amend the consolidation laws, and other general acts, in relation to change of the fiscal year and to adapting such laws to such change.

Became a law April 3, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two of chapter fifty-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to state finance, constituting chapter fifty-six of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 2. Fiscal year. The fiscal year of all offices, asyums, hospitals, charitable and reformatory institutions in this state shall begin with the first day of July and end with the next following thirtieth day of June. All books and accounts in the offices of the comptroller and treasurer shall be kept by fiscal years. All annual accounts required to be rendered to the comptroller or treasurer by any person shall be closed on the thirtieth day of June in each year, and rendered as soon thereafter as practicable, if no time is specially prescribed by law. The first fiscal year under this section as hereby amended shall begin on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and sixteen; and the current fiscal year is hereby abridged, to end on the thirtieth day of June in such year.

Where any statute provides, in terms or effect, that any inventory or account, or a report relating in whole or in part to receipts and disbursements of money, be made to the legislature or any state officer annually, or for a year, by a board, commission or officer under the state government, such inventory or account, and such report so far as it relates to such receipts and disbursements, shall be for the preceding fiscal year, unless the calendar year be expressly mentioned.

§ 2. Subdivision six of section four of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

6. Make a report to the legislature at its annual session, containing a complete statement of the funds of the state, its resources and public expenditures during the preceding fiscal year, a statement of each object of expenditure, the funds, if any, from which it is to be defrayed, and a statement of all claims against the state presented to him where no provision or an insufficient provision for the payment thereof has been made by law, with the facts relating thereto and his opinion thereon, and suggesting plans for the improvement and management of the public resources, and containing such other information and recommendations relating to the fiscal affairs of the state, as in his judgment should be communicated to the legislature. He shall also report to the legislature on or before February first in each year the expenditures, except for construction work and permanent betterments, of each state department, commission, board, bureau, office and institution, for the first six months of the then current fiscal year.

§ 3. Section seventeen of such chapter, as amended by chapter two hundred and fifteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 17. Itemized and monthly accounts of public officers. The proper officer of each state hospital, asylum, charitable or reformatory institution, the state hospital commission, the state board of charities, the state board of health, the conservation commission and all other state commissions, commissioners and boards, shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, render to the comptroller a detailed and itemized account of all receipts and expenditures of such hospital, asylum, institution, commission, or board of commissioners during the month next preceding. Such account shall give in detail the source of all receipts, including the sums received from any county, and to be accompanied by original and proper vouchers for all funds paid from the state treasury, unless such vouchers have been previously filed with the comptroller and have appended or annexed thereto the affidavit of the officer making the same to the effect that the goods and other articles therein specified were purchased and received by him or under his direction; or that the indebtedness was incurred under his direction; that the goods were purchased at a fair cash market price and that neither he, nor any person in his behalf, had any pecuniary or other interest in the articles purchased or in the indebtedness incurred; that he received no pecuniary or other benefit therefrom, nor any promises thereof; that the articles contained in such bill were received by him, and that they conformed in all respects to the goods ordered by him or under his direction, both in quality and quantity. The state comptroller, the president of the state board of charities, and the fiscal supervisor of state charities shall from time to time classify into grades the officers and employees of the various charitable and reformatory institutions required by law to report to the fiscal supervisor, and in the month of September of each year recommend to the governor such changes in the salaries or wages of such officers and employees for the ensuing fiscal year as may seem proper, but such changes shall not be made unless the governor shall approve the same in writing. Differences in the expense of living and rates of wages in the localities in which such institutions are situate may be considered. The comptroller shall have the power of audit subject to such classification.

§ 20. Annual inventory and report of institutions. Every state charitable institution, state hospital, reformatory, house of refuge and industrial school shall file with the comptroller annually, on or before July twentieth, a certified inventory of all articles of maintenance on hand at the close of the preceding fiscal year, stating the kind and amount of each article. Every state charitable institution, state hospital, reformatory, house of refuge, state agricultural experiment station, and the health officer of the port of New York during the continuance of such office, required by law to report annually to the legislature, shall state an inventory of each article of property, stating its kind and amount, except supplies for maintenance, belonging to the state and in their possession on July first of each year.

§ 5. Section forty-four of chapter fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to state charities, constituting chapter fifty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and five of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby repealed.

§ 6. Subdivision seven of section sixty-five of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that such accounts and records shall be fully made up to the first days of January and July in each year, and that the principal effects and results, with his report thereon, be presented to the board at its next meeting.

§ 7. Subdivision three of section sixty-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all the accounts on his books on the first day of each July, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of all the receipts and payments of the past year; and within three days thereafter deliver the same to the auditing committee of the managers, who shall compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify the same by a further comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify the correctness thereof to the managers at their annual meeting.

§ 8. Subdivision three of section one hundred and eight of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all the accounts on his books on the first day of each July, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of all the receipts and payments of the past year; and within five days thereafter deliver the same to the auditing committee of the managers, who shall compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify the same by a comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify the correctness thereof to the managers at their annual meeting.

§ 9. Subdivision three of section one hundred and thirty-two of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Make a detailed report to the legislature on or before the fifteenth day of January in each year, with recommendations as said managers may deem expedient, together with a statement of all moneys received by them and of the progress made in the erection of buildings for hospital purposes, if any, for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report.

§ 10. Subdivision three of section one hundred and thirty-four, as thus renumbered by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all accounts on his books annually on the last day of June and make a statement thereof and an abstract of the receipts and payments of the past year, and deliver the same within thirty days to the auditing committee of the managers who shall compare the same with the books and vouchers and verify the results upon further comparison with the books of the steward and certify to the correctness thereof to the managers at their next meeting.

§ 11. Subdivision three of section one hundred and fifty-eight, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all the accounts on his books on the first day of each July, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of all the receipts and payments of the past fiscal year; and within five days thereafter deliver the same to the auditing committee of the managers, who shall compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify the same by a comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify the correctness thereof to the managers at their next meeting.

§ 12. Section eleven of chapter thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the insane, constituting chapter twenty-seven of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter one hundred and eleven of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 11. Annual report. The commission shall annually report to the legislature its acts and proceedings for the year ending June thirtieth last preceding, with such facts in regard to the management of the institutions for the insane as it may deem necessary for the information of the legislature, including estimates of the amounts required for the use of the state hospitals and the reasons therefor; and also so much of the annual reports made to the commission by the State Charities Aid Association and by the boards of managers of the state hospitals as the commission may deem necessary for the consideration of the legislature. The commission shall determine from time to time the capacity of each of the state hospitals and shall incorporate a statement of such capacity in its annual report to the legislature.

§ 13. Section seventeen of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 17. Commission to provide for the prospective wants of the insane. The commission shall provide sufficient accommodations for the prospective wants of the poor and indigent insane of the state. To prevent overcrowding in the state hospitals, it shall recommend to the legislature the establishment of other state hospitals, in such parts of the state as in its judgment will best meet the requirements of such insane. It shall also furnish to the legislature in each year, an estimate of the probable number of patients who will become inmates of the respective state hospitals during the year beginning July first next ensuing, and, unless otherwise provided by law, an estimate of the cost of all the additional buildings and equipments, if any, which will be required to carry out the provisions of this chapter relating to the care, custody and treatment of the poor and indigent insane of the state. No money shall be expended for the erection of additional buildings, or for unusual repairs or improvements of state hospitals, except upon plans and specifications to be approved by the commission and the governor. No municipality of the state shall have the power to modify or change plans or specifications for the erection, repair or improvement of state hospital buildings or the plumbing or sewerage connected therewith. The commission may secure a blanket policy of insurance covering any or all of the buildings, property or fixtures of the state hospitals.

§ 14. Subdivision six of section forty-three of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

6. Make the commission, in July of each year, a detailed report of the results of their visits and inspection, with suitable suggestions and such other matters as may be required of them by the commission, for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report. Such report shall be prepared by a committee of the board, subject to the approval of the board.

§ 15. Subdivision ten of section forty-five of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

10. See that all such accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and that the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, are presented to the board of managers within thirty days thereafter, who shall incorporate it in their report to the commission. The commission may prescribe the form of and the subjects to be embraced in such reports. Such superintendent shall make other reports at such times, in such manner and in respect to such matters as the board of managers or the commission may direct.

§ 16. Subdivision seven of section fifty-two of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. Balance all accounts on his books, annually, for the year ending on the last day of June, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of the receipts and payments of the past year and deliver the same, within thirty days, to the commission.

§ 17. Section one hundred and thirty-three of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to prisons, constituting chapter forty-three of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 133. Medical superintendent as treasurer of the hospital. The medical superintendent shall be the treasurer of the hospital, and before entering upon his duties, shall file with the comptroller of the state his undertaking to the people with sureties to be approved by the superintendent of state prisons, to the effect that he will faithfully perform his trust as such treasurer. He shall have the custody of the moneys, securities and obligations belonging to the hospital and not required by law to be or remain in the custody of the comptroller or in the state treasury, and shall open with some bank, in the vicinity of the hospital, to be selected with the approval of the comptroller, an account in his name as such medical superintendent, and immediately deposit in such bank all moneys received by him as such medical superintendent and treasurer, and shall draw therefrom only for the use of the hospital and in the manner provided by the by-laws and upon the order of the steward, specifying the object of each payment. He shall keep a full and accurate account of the receipts and payments, as directed by the by-laws, and of such other matters as the superintendent of state prisons and the state hospital commission may prescribe, and balance all his accounts, annually, on the thirtieth day of June, and within ten days thereafter deliver to the superintendent of state prisons a statement thereof and an abstract of such receipts and payments for the past year. His books and vouchers shall at all times be open to the inspection of the superintendent of state prisons and the commission, and they may at any time require of him a statement of his accounts and of the funds and property in his custody.

§ 18. Subdivision seven of section one hundred and thirty-five of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that all accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and present the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, to the superintendent of state prisons, within forty days thereafter. The resident officers, before entering upon their duties as such, shall severally take and file in the office of the secretary of state, the constitutional oath of office. The first assistant physician shall perform the duties and be subject to the responsibilities of the superintendent in his sickness or absence. The steward may personally purchase any supplies for the use of such hospital, but only in the name of the medical superintendent, and in each instance by his direction and not otherwise.

§ 19. Section one hundred and fifty-three of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter thirty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 153. Medical superintendent as treasurer of the hospital. The medical superintendent shall be the treasurer of the hospital, and before entering upon his duties, shall file with the state comptroller his undertaking to the people with sureties, to be approved by the superintendent of state prisons, to the effect that he will faithfully perform his trust as such treasurer. He shall have the custody of the moneys, securities and obligations belonging to the hospital and not required by law to be or remain in the custody of the comptroller or in the state treasury, and shall open with some bank, in the vicinity of the hospital, to be selected with the approval of the comptroller, an account in his name as such medical superintendent, and immediately deposit in such bank all moneys received by him as such medical superintendent and treasurer, and shall draw therefrom only for the use of the hospital and in the manner provided by the by-laws and upon the order of the steward, specifying the object of each payment. He shall keep a full and accurate account of the receipts and payments, as directed by the by-laws, and of such other matters as the superintendent of state prisons and the state hospital commission may prescribe, and balance all his accounts, annually, on the thirtieth day of June, and within ten days thereafter deliver to the superintendent of state prisons a statement thereof and an abstract of such receipts and payments for the past year. His books and vouchers shall at all times be open to the inspection of the superintendent of state prisons and the commission, and they may at any time require of him a statement of his accounts and of the funds and property in his custody.

§ 20. Subdivision seven of section one hundred and fifty-five of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that all accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and present the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, to the superintendent of state prisons, within forty days thereafter. The resident officers, before entering upon their duties and subject to the responsibilities of the superintendent of state prisons, and the manner provided by the by-laws and upon the order of the steward, specifying the object of each payment. He shall keep a full and accurate account of the receipts and payments, as directed by the by-laws, and of such other matters as the superintendent of state prisons, as directed by the by-laws, and balance all his accounts, annually, on the thirtieth day of June, and within ten days thereafter deliver to the superintendent of state prisons, a statement thereof and an abstract of such receipts and payments for the past year. His books and vouchers shall at all times be open to the inspection of the superintendent of state prisons, who may at any time require of him a statement of his accounts and of the funds and property in his custody.

§ 21. Subdivision seven of section one hundred and fifty-five of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that all accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and present the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, to the superintendent of state prisons, within forty days thereafter. The resident officers, before entering upon their duties as such, shall severally take and file in the office of the secretary of state, the constitutional oath of office. The first assistant physician shall perform the duties and be subject to the responsibilities of the superintendent in his sickness or absence. The steward may personally purchase any supplies for the use of such hospital, but only in the name of the medical superintendent, and in each instance by his direction and not otherwise.

§ 22. Section fifty of chapter forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to prisons, constituting chapter forty-three of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 50. Reports of prison officers. The agent and warden of every prison, the superintendent or manager of every penitentiary, the keeper of every jail or other institution used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime or detained as witnesses or debtors, subject to the visitation of the commission, shall, besides such information as may from time to time be required of him by the state commission of prisons pursuant to the powers hereinbefore conferred, on or before the first day of August in each and every year, report to said commission the number of male and female persons charged with crime and awaiting trial, the number convicted of crime, the number detained as witnesses and as debtors in his custody on the first day of July last past, together with a statistical exhibit of the number of admissions, discharges and deaths which have occurred within the past year, the nature of the charge, the period of detention or sentence, and such other facts and information as the commission may require.

§ 121. Annual report of superintendent. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of state prisons on or before the tenth day of January in each year to report to the legislature in writing the condition of each of the prisons for the year ending with the last day of the previous June, specifying the number of convicts confined during such year, and for what offenses, the number transferred from any prison and the reason therefor in each case, the moral, intellectual and physical condition of the prisoners and how employed, the amount of money expended during such year and how, in detail, the amount of money earned during such year and how, in detail, the amount paid into the treasury during such year, and such other matters as may seem pertinent and proper in the judgment of the superintendent.

§ 129. Annual report. The agent and warden of each of said prisons shall, on or before the fifteenth day of August each year, render to the superintendent of state prisons a full and true report for the year ending with the last day of the previous June, of all moneys received by him on account of the prison under his charge, and all the moneys expended under his direction for the use thereof, and also an inventory of the goods, raw material and other property of the state on hand on the last day of the previous June, which account and inventory shall be attested by the oath of the agent and warden and clerk of the prison to be just and true, together with a statement of all changes in the officers of such prison during such year, and the annual reports to the agent and warden of the clerk, physician and chaplain of each prison, and such other matters as shall be required by the superintendent of state prisons.

§ 25. Section one hundred and thirty-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and five of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 136. General duties of clerk. It shall be the duty of the clerk of each of said prisons to conform to the rules of discipline established by the superintendent of state prisons, and to perform his duties as prescribed by the comptroller in accordance with law; to keep a register of convicts, in which the names of the convicts shall be alphabetically arranged, and in which shall be entered, under appropriate columns, the date of conviction, where born, age, occupation, complexion, stature, crime, court in which, county where convicted, term of sentence, number of previous convictions, to what prison or prisons previously sent, when discharged and how discharged, and such additional facts as the superintendent of state prisons may require to be stated on the register; to annually report to the agent and warden of such prison on the first day of August the number of convicts remaining in prison on the last day of the previous June, the number received during the year ending with the last day of the previous June, the number discharged by expiration of sentence, habeas corpus or by the courts, the number of deaths and escapes, and the number transferred to any other penal institution during such year, and the number remaining in prison on the last day of said June, to keep books of account of the financial transactions of the prison; to keep a separate account in a book provided for that purpose of all money and other articles received by the agent and warden from each convict, crediting such convict therefor; to enter each bill taken by the agent and warden of the prison in the books of the prison at the time of the receipt of the articles mentioned in such account, and in case the articles received do not agree in all respects with the invoice, he shall immediately notify the agent and warden of such discrepancy, and note in his book the discrepancy, whether in weight, quantity or quality; to preserve in the prison a set of all official reports made to the legislature respecting the same, and a set of similar reports in relation to each of the other state prisons, and for that purpose a suitable number of such reports, when printed, shall be supplied to him by the superintendent of state prisons; to make an annual report, attested by his oath to be just and true, to the secretary of state, on or before the first day of September of each year, stating the names of convicts discharged or pardoned from said prison during the year ending with the last day of the preceding June, and all the particulars in relation to such convicts as are required to be stated in the agent and warden's monthly report to the superintendent of state prisons, and stating also, in the cases of pardons, the time unexpired of the time for which the convicts so pardoned were respectively pardoned, when such pardons were granted, and the conditions, if any, on which they were granted, and also the state of health of each convict so pardoned at the time of his discharge.

§ 26. Subdivision six of section two hundred and eighty-four of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

6. Report of the legislature, annually, on or before the tenth day of January, for the year ending with the last day of the next preceding June, the condition of said reformatories, the amount of money received and expended by them during such year with a detailed statement thereof; their proceedings in regard to the prisoners therein, and such other matters as they may deem proper, or as the legislature may require.

§ 27. Section three hundred and twenty-four of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 324. Money and transportation to be furnished prisoners on discharge. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of a county penitentiary to furnish to each convict, male or female, who shall have been convicted of a felony, and imprisoned therein in pursuance of the provisions of statute, upon his or her discharge from the penitentiary, by pardon or otherwise, necessary clothing not exceeding twelve dollars in value, except for the time between the first day of November and the first day of April, when clothing not exceeding eighteen dollars in value may be given; and a sum of money not exceeding, on an average, five dollars, as the superintendent may deem proper and necessary; and a railroad ticket or tickets for the transportation of one person from the penitentiary to the place of his or her conviction, or to such other place as said convict may designate at no greater distance from the penitentiary than the place of conviction. It shall be the duty of the superintendents of said penitentiaries to make a return to the comptroller of this state, under oath, on the thirtieth day of June of each year, in which he shall fully set for the name of each convict received in said penitentiaries by virtue of statute, in what court convicted, before what presiding justice or judge, the offense for which conviction was had, the date of such conviction and length of sentence, date of reception of such convict at such penitentiaries, and the date of his or her discharge therefrom; and in detail, the sums of money paid by them under the foregoing provisions of this section. The comptroller shall thereupon audit and allow to such penitentiaries such sum as may be found due to them, under the foregoing provisions, during the year preceding said thirtieth day of June, and shall draw his warrant upon the treasury of the state in favor of the superintendent of each penitentiary, for the amount so audited and allowed, payable out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

§ 324. Money and transportation to be furnished prisoners on discharge. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of a county penitentiary to furnish to each convict, male or female, who shall have been convicted of a felony, and imprisoned therein in pursuance of the provisions of statute, upon his or her discharge from the penitentiary, by pardon or otherwise, necessary clothing not exceeding twelve dollars in value, except for the time between the first day of November and the first day of April, when clothing not exceeding eighteen dollars in value may be given; and a sum of money not exceeding, on an average, five dollars, as the superintendent may deem proper and necessary; and a railroad ticket or tickets for the transportation of one person from the penitentiary to the place of his or her conviction, or to such other place as said convict may designate at no greater distance from the penitentiary than the place of conviction. It shall be the duty of the superintendents of said penitentiaries to make a return to the comptroller of this state, under oath, on the thirtieth day of June of each year, in which he shall fully set for the name of each convict received in said penitentiaries by virtue of statute, in what court convicted, before what presiding justice or judge, the offense for which conviction was had, the date of such conviction and length of sentence, date of reception of such convict at such penitentiaries, and the date of his or her discharge therefrom; and in detail, the sums of money paid by them under the foregoing provisions of this section. The comptroller shall thereupon audit and allow to such penitentiaries such sum as may be found due to them, under the foregoing provisions, during the year preceding said thirtieth day of June, and shall draw his warrant upon the treasury of the state in favor of the superintendent of each penitentiary, for the amount so audited and allowed, payable out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

§ 29. Section five of chapter nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to agriculture, constituting chapter one of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 6. Annual report. The commissioner of agriculture shall make an annual report to the legislature on or before January fifteenth, of his work and proceedings for the year ending June thirtieth, next preceding, which shall include a statement in detail of the number of assistant commissioners, chemists, experts, agents, and counsel employed under the provisions of this chapter during such year, and their compensation, expenses and disbursements; and also a statement in detail of the expenditures of moneys appropriated for the state agricultural society, the county agricultural societies and the New York agricultural experiment station; and other agricultural purposes and estimates of the amounts required for all such purposes for the ensuing year. He may require the state agricultural society and the county agricultural societies to make reports to him and prescribe the form of such reports.

§ 30. Section four of chapter eight hundred and fifty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act to establish a state college of forestry at Syracuse University, and making an appropriation therefor," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Powers and duties of board of trustees. The board of trustees of such college of forestry shall have the general care, supervision and control of such college and of its officers, and to carry out its objects and purposes shall:

1. Employ and at pleasure remove teachers, experts and all necessary clerks and assistants.

2. Adopt rules, not inconsistent with law, controlling the affairs of such college.

3. Prescribe the course of instruction and the methods of investigation and experiments to be followed in such college, and the degree to be conferred on graduation therefrom.

4. Report to the legislature on or before the first day of February a detailed statement of the general operation of such college for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June then next preceding.

§ 31. Section eight of chapter four hundred and fifteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, entitled "An act to establish a state commission for improving the condition of the blind of the state of New York, and making an appropriation therefor," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 8. The commission may appoint such officers and agents as may be necessary and fix their compensation within the limits of the annual appropriation, in all cases, giving preference to blind persons of equal efficiency, but no person employed by the commission shall be a member thereof. It shall make its own by-laws, and shall annually, on or before the first day of January, make a report to the governor and the legislature of its proceedings up to and including the thirtieth day of June preceding, embodying therein a properly classified and tabulated statement of its receipts and expenditures. The commission shall make a classified and tabulated statement of its estimate for the year ensuing, to the governor on or before the first day of January in each year. The annual report shall also present a concise review of the work of the commission for the preceding year, with such suggestions and recommendations for improving the condition of the blind and preventing blindness as to it may seem expedient.

§ 32. Section four of chapter four hundred and forty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act to provide for the management of the Eastern New York State Custodial Asylum, to be known hereafter as the 'Letchworth Village,' and for the admission and control of inmates therein," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Annual report. The board of managers shall make to the legislature in January of each year a detailed report with suitable suggestions and such other matter as may be required of them for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report.

§ 33. Section ten hundred and sixty of chapter twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to education, constituting chapter sixteen of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter one hundred and forty of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, and as added by chapter six hundred and seventy-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1060. Reports. The board of control shall report to the commissioner of agriculture annually, on or before the first day of December, a detailed statement of all expenditures and of the general operations of the said school of agriculture for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding; and a copy of such report shall be transmitted to the legislature.

§ 34. Section ten hundred and seventy-eight of such chapter, as added by chapter eight hundred and fifty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1078. Powers and duties of board of trustees. The board of trustees of such school shall have the general care, supervision and control of such school and of all its affairs, and to carry out its objects and purposes shall:

1. Employ and at pleasure remove teachers, experts, chemists and all necessary clerks and assistants;

2. Adopt rules not inconsistent with law controlling the affairs of such school and regulating the meetings and organization of such board;

3. Prescribe the course of instruction and the methods of investigation and experiments to be followed in such school.

The board of trustees shall report to the commissioner of agriculture annually, on or before the first day of December, a detailed statement of such expenditures and of the general operations of the said school of agriculture for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding, and a copy of such report shall be transmitted to the legislature.

§ 35. Section ten hundred and ninety-three of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and forty of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1093. Powers and duties of board of trustees. The board of trustees so appointed by the governor shall have the general care, supervision and control of such school and all its affairs and to carry out its objects and purposes:

1. Employ and remove teachers, experts, chemists and all necessary clerks and assistants.

2. Adopt rules not inconsistent with the law controlling the affairs of such school.

3. Prescribe the course of instruction and the methods of investigation and experiments to be followed in such school.

The board of trustees shall report to the commissioner of agriculture annually, on or before the first day of December, a detailed statement of such expenditures and of the general operations of the said school of agriculture for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding, and a copy of such report shall be transmitted to the legislature. Students bona fide residents of the state of New York for one year preceding the date of their admission shall be entitled to free tuition. Other fees and charges, if any, in the said school of agriculture, and any moneys received from tuition paid by students not residents of the state of New York, and from the sale of products, shall be reported and forwarded monthly to the state treasurer as required by the state finance law.

§ 36. This act shall take effect immediately.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss:

I have compared the preceding with the original law on file in this office, and do hereby certify that the same is a correct transcript therefrom and of the whole of said original law.

DIRT FLOORS GAIN IN FAVOR

There is difference of opinion as to which kind of floor is best for poultry houses. In my opinion, says a writer in an exchange, if given proper attention, a dirt floor comes nearer pleasing the hens than floors of either board or concrete. If a brick or concrete wall is built entirely around the house, and the wall filled in until the floor is ten or twelve inches above the ground outside, the building will not only be rat-proof but damp-proof as well.

Board floors must be raised at least eight or ten inches above the ground. This allows air to circulate underneath, which makes the house cold during winter months. Concrete floors are hard, cold and damp, and must be covered with an inch or two of soil or sand. Concrete and board floors are easily cleaned, but unless cleaned often they quickly become foul and insanitary. On the other hand, a dirt floor will take up moisture from the droppings and need not be cleaned, other than once a year.

PLAN FOR MOVABLE ROOSTS

A well-known poultry woman sent in her method for movable roosts. She says that movable roosts three feet apart, as seen in the cut, are a great aid in keeping fowls free from mites lice. These roosts are easily taken apart and saturated with hot water. The trestles are 2 by 4 inches. The cut herewith shows the construction.—Wisconsin Farmer.

POULTRY INDUSTRY IN U. S.

Limited Demand Guaranteed for Products by Increase in Population and Short Beef Supply.

The poultry industry has increased more rapidly than any other branch of agriculture. The annual valuation of poultry and eggs produced in the United States is reputed to be at least two billion dollars. The gradual increase in our population and decrease in beef supply will guarantee an unlimited demand for poultry products for years to come and at lucrative prices.

Water for Ducks and Geese.

Pond is not absolutely necessary to raise geese and ducks, but water will enjoy water and thrive better if they have access to it. On many farms there are facilities for making ponds and storing water.

Come Home to Roost.

Chickens come home to roost, and the better you make their home the sooner they come. And where there are many chickens to come home to there also will be many silver dollars to come home to roost.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.
CHAP. 104.

AN ACT to amend section thirty-seven of the election law, in relation to county committee.

Became a law March 31, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section thirty-seven of chapter twenty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the elections, constituting chapter seventeen of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter eight hundred and twenty of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 37. County committee. The county committee of each party shall be constituted by the election in each election district within such county of at least one member, and of such additional members as the rules and regulations of the party may provide for such district, proportional to the party vote in the district for governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election, or in case the boundaries of such district have been changed or a new district has been created since the last preceding gubernatorial election, proportionate to the party vote cast for member of assembly at the last preceding general election; or, if no additional members are required by the rules, the voting power of each member shall be in proportion to such vote. Each member of a county committee shall be an enrolled voter of the party residing in the assembly district containing the election district in which he is elected. Each member of a county committee shall be entitled to one vote.

In case of the death, declination, disqualification, removal from district or removal from office of a member of the county committee, or the failure to elect a member, as by reason of a tie vote, the vacancy in such county committee caused thereby shall be filled by the remaining members of such county committee as provided in section forty-three of this chapter.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 108.

AN ACT to amend the village law, in relation to the establishment of publicity funds and to raise money by taxation therefor.

Became a law April 1, 1916, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section eighty-nine of chapter sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to villages, constituting chapter sixty-four of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended by adding thereto a new subdivision known as subdivision twenty-eight and to read as follows:

28. Publicity fund. When authorized by a resolution duly adopted by a majority of the qualified voters of such village, voting thereon at a general village election or at a special election called and held for such purpose, may establish a publicity fund of such amount as the resolution may direct, to be expended for the purpose of advertising the advantages of such village as a summer and winter resort or otherwise, including the necessary and legitimate expense of securing the designation of such village as the place for holding the convention or meeting of any organization or society, and for such other and additional purposes as may tend to promote the general commercial and industrial welfare of the village, and for that purpose may raise by taxation a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars per annum to be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner that other village taxes are assessed, levied and collected.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority.
CHAP. 118.

AN ACT to amend the consolidation laws, and other general acts in relation to change of the fiscal year and to adapting such laws to such change.

Became a law April 3, 1216, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two of chapter fifty-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to state finance, constituting chapter fifty-six of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 2. Fiscal year. The fiscal year of all offices, asylums, hospitals, charitable and reformatory institutions in this state shall begin with the first day of July and end with the next following thirtieth day of June. All books and accounts in the offices of the comptroller and treasurer shall be kept by fiscal years. All annual accounts required to be rendered to the comptroller or treasurer by any person shall be closed on the thirtieth day of June in each year, and rendered as soon thereafter as practicable, if no time is specially prescribed by law. The first fiscal year under this section as hereby amended shall begin on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and sixteen; and the current fiscal year is hereby abridged, to end on the thirtieth day of June in such year.

Where any statute provides, in terms or effect, that any inventory or account, or a report relating in whole or in part to receipts and disbursements of money, be made to the legislature or any state officer annually, or for a year, by a board, commission or officer under the state government, such inventory or account, and such report so far as it relates to such receipts and disbursements, shall be for the preceding fiscal year, unless the calendar year be expressly mentioned.

§ 2. Subdivision six of section four of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

6. Make a report to the legislature at its annual session, containing a complete statement of the funds of the state, its resources and public expenditures during the preceding fiscal year, a statement of each object of expenditure, the funds, if any, from which it is to be defrayed, and a statement of all claims against the state presented to him where no provision or an insufficient provision for the payment thereof has been made by law, with the facts relating thereto and his opinion thereon, and suggesting plans for the improvement and management of the public resources, and containing such other information and recommendations relating to the fiscal affairs of the state, as in his judgment should be communicated to the legislature. He shall also report to the legislature on or before February first in each year the expenditures, except for construction work and permanent betterments, of each state department, commission, board, bureau, office and institution, for the first six months of the then current fiscal year.

§ 3. Section seventeen of such chapter, as amended by chapter two hundred and fifteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 17. Itemized and monthly accounts of public officers. The proper officer of each state hospital, asylum, charitable or reformatory institution, the state hospital commission, the state board of charities, the state board of health, the conservation commission and all other state commissions, commissioners and boards, shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, render to the comptroller a detailed and itemized account of all receipts and expenditures of such hospital, asylum, institution, commission, or board of commissioners during the month next preceding. Such account shall give in detail the source of all receipts, including the sums received from any county, and to be accompanied by original and proper vouchers for all funds paid from the state treasury, unless such vouchers have been previously filed with the comptroller and have appended or annexed thereto the affidavit of the officer making the same to the effect that the goods and other articles therein specified were purchased and received by him or under his direction; or that the indebtedness was incurred under his direction; that the goods were purchased at a fair cash market price and that neither he, nor any person in his behalf, had any pecuniary or other interest in the articles purchased or in the indebtedness incurred; that he received no pecuniary or other benefit therefrom, nor any promises thereof; that the articles contained in such bill were received by him, and that they conformed in all respects to the goods ordered by him or under his direction, both in quality and quantity. The state comptroller, the president of the state board of charities, and the fiscal supervisor of state charities shall from time to time classify into grades the officers and employees of the various charitable and reformatory institutions required by law to report to the fiscal supervisor, and in the month of September of each year recommend to the governor such changes in the salaries or wages of such officers and employees for the ensuing fiscal year as may seem proper, but such changes shall not be made unless the governor shall approve the same in writing. Differences in the expense of living and rates of wages in the localities in which such institutions are situate may be considered. The comptroller shall have the power of audit subject to such classification.

§ 20. Annual inventory and report of institutions. Every state charitable institution, state hospital, reformatory, house of refuge and industrial school shall file with the comptroller annually, on or before July twentieth, a certified inventory of all articles of maintenance on hand at the close of the preceding fiscal year, stating the kind and amount of each article. Every state charitable institution, state hospital, reformatory, house of refuge, state agricultural experiment station, and the health officer of the port of New York during the continuance of such office, required by law to report annually to the legislature, shall state an inventory of each article of property, stating its kind and amount, except supplies for maintenance, belonging to the state and in their possession on July first of each year.

§ 5. Section forty-four of chapter fifty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to state charities, constituting chapter fifty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter four hundred and five of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby repealed.

§ 6. Subdivision seven of section sixty-five of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that such accounts and records shall be fully made up to the first days of January and July in each year, and that the principal effects and results, with his report thereon, be presented to the board at its next meeting;

§ 7. Subdivision three of section sixty-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all the accounts on his book on the first day of each July, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of all the receipts and payments of the past year; and, within three days thereafter, deliver the same to the auditing committee of the managers, who shall compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify the same by a further comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify the correctness thereof to the managers at their annual meeting.

§ 8. Subdivision three of section one hundred and eight of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all the accounts on his books on the first day of each July, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of all the receipts and payments of the past year; and within five days thereafter deliver the same to the auditing committee of the managers, who shall compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify the same by a comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify the correctness thereof to the managers at their annual meeting.

§ 9. Subdivision three of section one hundred and thirty-two of such chapter, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Make a detailed report to the legislature on or before the fifteenth day of January in each year, with recommendations as said managers may deem expedient, together with a statement of all moneys received by them and of the progress made in the erection of buildings for hospital purposes, if any, for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report.

§ 10. Subdivision three of section one hundred and thirty-four, as thus renumbered by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all accounts on his books annually on the last day of June and make a statement thereof and an abstract of the receipts and payments of the past year, and deliver the same within thirty days to the auditing committee of the managers who shall compare the same with the books and vouchers and verify the results upon further comparison with the books of the steward and certify to the correctness thereof to the managers at their next meeting.

§ 11. Subdivision three of section one hundred and forty-eight, as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

3. Balance all the accounts on his books on the first day of each July, and make a statement thereof, and an abstract of all the receipts and payments of the past fiscal year; and within five days thereafter deliver the same to the auditing committee of the managers, who shall compare the same with his books and vouchers, and verify the same by a comparison with the books of the superintendent, and certify the correctness thereof to the managers at their annual meeting.

§ 12. Section eleven of chapter thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the insane, constituting chapter twenty-seven of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter one hundred and eleven of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 11. Annual report. The commission shall annually report to the legislature its acts and proceedings for the year ending June thirtieth last preceding, with such facts in regard to the management of the institutions for the insane as it may deem necessary for the information of the legislature, including estimates of the amounts required for the use of the state hospitals and the reasons therefor; and also so much of the annual reports made to the commission by the State Charities Aid Association and by the boards of managers of the state hospitals as the commission may deem necessary for the consideration of the legislature. The commission shall determine from time to time the capacity of each of the state hospitals and shall incorporate a statement of such capacity in its annual report to the legislature.

§ 13. Section seventeen of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 17. Commission to provide for the prospective wants of the insane. The commission shall provide sufficient accommodations for the prospective wants of the poor and indigent insane of the state. To prevent overcrowding in the state hospitals, it shall recommend to the legislature the establishment of other state hospitals, in such parts of the state as in its judgment will best meet the requirements of such insane. It shall also furnish to the legislature in each year, an estimate of the probable number of patients who will become inmates of the respective state hospitals during the year beginning July first next ensuing, and, unless otherwise provided by law, an estimate of the cost of all the additional buildings and equipments, if any, which will be required to carry out the provisions of this chapter relating to the care, custody and treatment of the poor and indigent insane of the state. No money shall be expended for the erection of additional buildings, or for unusual repairs or improvements of state hospitals, except upon plans and specifications to be approved by the commission and the governor. No municipality of the state shall have the power to modify or change plans or specifications for the erection, repair or improvement of state hospital buildings or the plumbing or sewerage connected therewith. The commission may secure a blanket policy of insurance covering any or all of the buildings, property or fixtures of the state hospitals.

§ 14. Subdivision six of section forty-three of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

6. Make the commission, in July of each year, a detailed report of the results of their visits and inspection, with suitable suggestions and such other matters as may be required of them by the commission, for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report. Such report shall be prepared by a committee of the board, subject to the approval of the board.

§ 15. Subdivision ten of section forty-five of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

10. See that all such accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and that the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, are presented to the board of managers within thirty days thereafter, who shall incorporate it in their report to the commission. The commission may prescribe the form of and the subjects to be embraced in such reports. Such superintendent shall make other reports at such times, in such manner and in respect to such matters as the board of managers or the commission may direct.

§ 16. Subdivision seven of section fifty-two of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. Balance all accounts on his books, annually, for the year ending on the last day of June, and make a statement thereof and an abstract of the receipts and payments of the past year and deliver the same, within thirty days, to the commission.

§ 17. Section one hundred and thirty-three of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 133. Medical superintendent as treasurer of the hospital. The medical superintendent shall be the treasurer of the hospital, and before entering upon his duties, shall file with the comptroller of the state his undertaking to the people with sureties to be approved by the superintendent of state prisons, to the effect that he will faithfully perform his trust as such treasurer. He shall have the custody of the moneys, securities and obligations belonging to the hospital and not required by law to be or remain in the custody of the comptroller or in the state treasury, and shall open with some bank, in the vicinity of the hospital, to be selected with the approval of the comptroller, an account in his name as such medical superintendent, and immediately deposit in such bank all moneys received by him as such medical superintendent and treasurer, and shall draw therefrom only for the use of the hospital and in the manner provided by the by-laws and upon the order of the steward, specifying the object of each payment. He shall keep a full and accurate account of the receipts and payments, as directed by the by-laws, and of such other matters as the superintendent of state prisons and the state hospital commission may prescribe, and balance all his accounts, annually, on the thirtieth day of June, and within ten days thereafter deliver to the superintendent of state prisons a statement thereof and an abstract of such receipts and payments for the past year. His books and vouchers shall at all times be open to the inspection of the superintendent of state prisons and the commission, and they may at any time require of him a statement of his accounts and of the funds and property in his custody.

§ 18. Subdivision seven of section one hundred and thirty-five of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that all accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and present the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, to the superintendent of state prisons, within forty days thereafter. The resident officers, before entering upon their duties as such, shall severally take and file in the office of the secretary of state, the constitutional oath of office. The first assistant physician shall perform the duties and be subject to the responsibilities of the superintendent in his sickness or absence. The steward may personally purchase any supplies for the use of such hospital, but only in the name of the medical superintendent, and in each instance by his direction and not otherwise.

§ 19. Section one hundred and thirty-six of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter thirty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 153. Medical superintendent as treasurer of the hospital. The medical superintendent shall be the treasurer of the hospital, and before entering upon his duties, shall file with the state comptroller his undertaking to the people with sureties, to be approved by the superintendent of state prisons, to the effect that he will faithfully perform his trust as such treasurer. He shall have the custody of the moneys, securities and obligations belonging to the hospital and not required by law to be or remain in the custody of the comptroller or in the state treasury, and shall open with some bank, in the vicinity of the hospital, to be selected with the approval of the comptroller, an account in his name as such medical superintendent, and immediately deposit in such bank all moneys received by him as such medical superintendent and treasurer, and shall draw therefrom only for the use of the hospital and in the manner provided by the by-laws and upon the order of the steward, specifying the object of each payment. He shall keep a full and accurate account of the receipts and payments, as directed by the by-laws, and of such other matters as the superintendent of state prisons and the state hospital commission may prescribe, and balance all his accounts, annually, on the thirtieth day of June, and within ten days thereafter deliver to the superintendent of state prisons a statement thereof and an abstract of such receipts and payments for the past year. His books and vouchers shall at all times be open to the inspection of the superintendent of state prisons and the commission, and they may at any time require of him a statement of his accounts and of the funds and property in his custody.

§ 20. Subdivision seven of section one hundred and fifty-five of such chapter, as thus renumbered by chapter fifty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve and amended by chapter one hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and twelve, is hereby amended to read as follows:

7. See that all accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of June in each year, and present the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, to the superintendent of state prisons, within forty days thereafter. The resident officers, before entering upon their duties as such, shall severally take and file in the office of the secretary of state, the constitutional oath of office. The first assistant physician shall perform the duties and be subject to the responsibilities of the superintendent in his sickness or absence. The steward may personally purchase any supplies for the use of such hospital, but only in the name of the medical superintendent, and in each instance by his direction and not otherwise.

§ 21. Section fifty of chapter forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to prisons, constituting chapter forty-three of the consolidated laws," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 50. Reports of prison officers. The agent and warden of every prison, the superintendent or manager of every penitentiary, the keeper of every jail or other institution used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime or detained as witnesses or debtors, subject to the visitation of the commission, shall, besides such information as may from time to time be required of him by the state commission of prisons pursuant to the powers hereinbefore conferred, on or before the first day of August in each and every year, report to said commission the number of male and female persons charged with crime and awaiting trial, the number convicted of crime, the number detained as witnesses and as debtors in his custody on the first day of July last past, together with a statistical exhibit of the number of admissions, discharges and deaths which have occurred within the past year, the nature of the charge, the period of detention or sentence, and such other facts and information as the commission may require.

§ 121. Annual report of superintendent. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of state prisons on or before the tenth day of January in each year to report to the legislature in writing the condition of each of the prisons for the year ending with the last day of the previous June, specifying the number of convicts confined during such year, and for what offenses, the number transferred from any prison and the reason therefor in each case, the moral, intellectual and physical condition of the prisoners and how employed, the amount of money expended during such year and how, in detail, the amount of money earned during such year and how, in detail, the amount paid into the treasury during such year, and such other matters as may seem pertinent and proper in the judgment of the superintendent.

§ 129. Annual report. The agent and warden of each of said prisons shall, on or before the fifteenth day of August in each year, render to the superintendent of state prisons a full and true report for the year ending with the last day of the previous June, of all moneys received by him on account of the prison under his charge, and all the moneys expended under his direction for the use thereof, and also an inventory of the goods, raw material and other property of the state on hand on the last day of the previous June, which account and inventory shall be attested by the oath of the agent and warden and clerk of the prison to be just and true, together with a statement of all changes in the officers of such prison during such year, and the annual reports to the agent and warden of the clerk, physician and chaplain of each prison, and such other matters as shall be required by the superintendent of state prisons.

§ 24. Section one hundred and thirty-six of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and five of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 136. General duties of clerk. It shall be the duty of the clerk of each of said prisons to conform to the rules of discipline established by the superintendent of state prisons, and to perform his duties as prescribed by the comptroller in accordance with law; to keep a register of convicts, in which the names of the convicts shall be alphabetically arranged, and in which shall be entered, under appropriate columns, the date of conviction, where born, age, occupation, complexion, stature, crime, court in which, county where convicted, term of sentence, number of previous convictions, to what prison or prisons previously sent, when discharged and how discharged, and such additional facts as the superintendent of state prisons may require to be stated on the register; to annually report to the agent and warden of such prison on the first day of August the number of convicts remaining in prison on the last day of the previous June, the number received during the year ending with the last day of the previous June, the number discharged by expiration of sentence, habeas corpus or by the courts, the number of deaths and escapes, and the number transferred to any other penal institution during such year, and the number remaining in prison on the last day of said June; to keep books of account of the financial transactions of the prison; to keep a separate account in a book provided for that purpose of all money and other articles received by the agent and warden from each convict, crediting such convict therefor; to enter each bill taken by the agent and warden of the prison in the books of the prison at the time of the receipt of the articles mentioned in such account, and in case the articles received do not agree in all respects with the invoice, he shall immediately notify the agent and warden of such discrepancy, and note in his book the discrepancy, whether in weight, quantity or quality; to preserve in the prison a set of all official reports made to the legislature respecting the same, and a set of similar reports in relation to each of the other state prisons, and for that purpose a suitable number of such reports, when printed, shall be supplied to him by the superintendent of state prisons; to make an annual report, attested by his oath to be just and true, to the secretary of state, on or before the first day of September of each year, stating the names of convicts discharged or pardoned from said prison during the year ending with the last day of the preceding June, and all the particulars in relation to such convicts as are required to be stated in the agent and warden's monthly report to the superintendent of state prisons, and stating also, in the cases of pardons, the time unexpired of the time for which the convicts so pardoned were respectively pardoned, when such pardons were granted, and the conditions, if any, on which they were granted, and also the state of health of each convict so pardoned at the time of his discharge.

§ 25. Subdivision six of section two hundred and eighty-four of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

6. Report of the legislature, annually, on or before the tenth day of January, for the year ending with the last day of the next preceding June, the condition of said reformatories, the amount of money received and expended by them during such year with a detailed statement thereof; their proceedings in regard to the prisoners therein, and such other matters as they may deem proper, or as the legislature may require.

§ 26. Section three hundred and twenty-four of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 324. Money and transportation to be furnished prisoners on discharge. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of a county penitentiary to furnish to each convict, male or female, who shall have been convicted of a felony, and imprisoned therein in pursuance of the provisions of statute, upon his or her discharge from the penitentiary, by pardon or otherwise, necessary clothing not exceeding twelve dollars in value, except for the time between the first day of November and the first day of April, when clothing not exceeding eighteen dollars in value may be given; and a sum of money not exceeding, on an average, five dollars, as the superintendent may deem proper and necessary; and a railroad ticket or tickets for the transportation of one person from the penitentiary to the place of his or her conviction, or to such other place as said convict may designate at no greater distance from the penitentiary than the place of conviction. It shall be the duty of the superintendents of said penitentiaries to make a return to the comptroller of this state, under oath, on the thirtieth day of June of each year, in which he shall fully set forth the name of each convict received in said penitentiaries by virtue of statute, in what court convicted, before what presiding justice or judge, the offense for which conviction was had, the date of such conviction and length of sentence, date of reception of such convict at such penitentiaries, and the date of his or her discharge therefrom; and in detail, the sums of money paid by them under the foregoing provisions of this section. The comptroller shall thereupon audit and allow to such penitentiaries such sum as may be found due to them, under the foregoing provisions, during the year preceding said thirtieth day of June, and shall draw his warrant upon the treasury of the state in favor of the superintendent of each penitentiary, for the amount so audited and allowed, payable out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

§ 5. Annual report. The commissioner of agriculture shall make an annual report to the legislature on or before January fifteenth, of his work and proceedings for the year ending June thirtieth, next preceding, which shall include a statement in detail of the number of assistant commissioners, chemists, experts, agents, and counsel employed under the provisions of this chapter during such year, and their compensation, expenses and disbursements; and also a statement in detail of the expenditures of moneys appropriated for the state agricultural society, the county agricultural societies and the New York agricultural experiment station; and other agricultural purposes and estimates of the amounts required for all such purposes for the ensuing year. He may require the state agricultural society and the county agricultural societies to make reports to him and prescribe the form of such reports.

§ 28. Section three hundred and six of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 306. The New York agricultural experiment station. The institution known as the New York agricultural experiment station, located in the city of Geneva, for the purpose of promoting agriculture in its various branches by scientific investigation and experiment, shall continue under the control and management of a board of trustees. Such board of trustees shall be known as the board of control of the New York agricultural experiment station and shall consist of nine members, except as hereinafter provided. The governor and commissioner of agriculture shall be members of the board by virtue of their offices. The governor shall appoint the other seven members of such board, whose term of office shall be three years, provided, however, that the present members of the board of control shall continue in office until the expiration of the terms to which they were appointed. Such board of control, of which five members shall constitute a quorum, shall hold an annual meeting and such other meetings from time to time as they may deem necessary and shall annually elect a president from their own number, and appoint a secretary and treasurer, to hold their offices during the pleasure of the board. Such board of control shall have general management of the station and shall appoint a director to have oversight and management of the experiments and investigations and other scientific and expert work which shall be deemed necessary to accomplish the objects of said institution, and such board may employ competent and suitable chemists and other experts and persons necessary for carrying on the work of the station, and shall fix the compensation of all persons connected with the work of said station. Said station shall, besides conducting experiments and investigations for the promotion of agricultural science, perform and report to the commissioner of agriculture such analysis and other expert scientific work as said commissioner may request as necessary for the administration of the provisions of this chapter and the salaries and other expenses incurred by reason of such analyses and other expert scientific service shall be paid from funds provided for said station for the express purpose of aiding in enforcing the provisions of this chapter. Said board of control shall publish or cause to be published, from time to time, bulletins and reports giving the results of the experiments and investigations conducted by said station for the promotion of agriculture in its various branches, together with such other information as may promote the purposes and welfare of said institution. Such board shall have direction of the expenditure of all moneys appropriated to said station; the director shall annually on or before the fifteenth day of December make a full report to the board of the work accomplished by said station, which report, together with a statement of the receipts and expenditures for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding, and such other statements as may seem desirable, the board shall transmit to the commissioner of agriculture on or before the first day of January next succeeding, and said report shall constitute part of the annual report of the commissioner of agriculture. No member of said board shall receive any compensation for his services as such, but shall be paid his necessary traveling expenses and those expenses incurred by him by an actual attendance upon the meetings of such board. The board shall make such rules and regulations as may from time to time become necessary to carry out the objects of the station.

§ 29. Section three hundred and eleven of such chapter is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 311. Distribution of moneys appropriated for certain agricultural societies. Of all moneys appropriated in the regular appropriation bill during any one year by the legislature for distribution among the agricultural societies by the commissioner of agriculture, the said commissioner may distribute to the agricultural societies entitled to partake thereof an amount to each one, on or after the first day of July, in the said year from the moneys due said society not to exceed fifty per centum of the amount of premiums paid by the said society at its annual fair held during said year. Any balance or balances shall be distributed as provided by section three hundred and ten of this chapter.

§ 30. Section four of chapter eight hundred and fifty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An act to establish a state college of forestry at Syracuse University, and making an appropriation therefor," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Powers and duties of board of trustees. The board of trustees of such college of forestry shall have the general care, supervision and control of such college and of its officers, and to carry out its objects and purposes shall:

1. Employ and at pleasure remove teachers, experts and all necessary clerks and assistants.

2. Adopt rules, not inconsistent with law, controlling the affairs of such college.

3. Prescribe the course of instruction and the methods of investigation and experiments to be followed in such college, and the degree to be conferred on graduation therefrom.

4. Report to the legislature on or before the first day of February a detailed statement of the general operation of such college for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June then next preceding.

§ 31. Section eight of chapter four hundred and fifteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, entitled "An act to establish a state commission for improving the condition of the blind of the state of New York, and making an appropriation therefor," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 8. The commission may appoint such officers and agents as may be necessary and fix their compensation within the limits of the annual appropriation, in all cases, giving preference to blind persons of equal efficiency, but no person employed by the commission shall be a member thereof. It shall make its own by-laws, and shall annually, on or before the first day of January, make a report to the governor and the legislature of its proceedings up to and including the thirtieth day of June preceding, embodying therein a properly classified and tabulated statement of its receipts and expenditures. The commission shall make a classified and tabulated statement of its estimate for the year ensuing, to the governor on or before the first day of January in each year. The annual report shall also present a concise review of the work of the commission for the preceding year, with such suggestions and recommendations for improving the condition of the blind and preventing blindness as to it may seem expedient.

§ 32. Section four of chapter four hundred and forty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act to provide for the management of the Eastern New York State Custodial Asylum, to be known hereafter as the 'Letchworth Village,' and for the admission and control of inmates therein," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 4. Annual report. The board of managers shall make to the legislature in January of each year a detailed report with suitable suggestions and such other matter as may be required of them for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June preceding the date of such report.

§ 33. Section ten hundred and sixty of chapter twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to education, constituting chapter sixteen of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter one hundred and forty of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, and as added by chapter six hundred and seventy-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1060. Reports. The board of control shall report to the commissioner of agriculture annually, on or before the first day of December, a detailed statement of all expenditures and of the general operations of the said school for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding; and a copy of such report shall be transmitted to the legislature.

§ 34. Section ten hundred and seventy-eight of such chapter, as added by chapter eight hundred and fifty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1078. Powers and duties of board of trustees. The board of trustees of such school shall have the general care, supervision and control of such school and of all its affairs, and to carry out its objects and purposes shall:

1. Employ and at pleasure remove teachers, experts, chemists and all necessary clerks and assistants;

2. Adopt rules not inconsistent with law controlling the affairs of such school and regulating the meetings and organization of such board;

3. Prescribe the course of instruction and the methods of investigation and experiments to be followed in such school.

The board of trustees shall report to the commissioner of agriculture annually, on or before the first day of December, a detailed statement of such expenditures and of the general operations of the said school of agriculture for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding, and a copy of such report shall be transmitted to the legislature. Students bona fide residents of the state of New York for one year preceding the date of their admission, shall be entitled to free tuition. Other fees and charges, if any, in the said school of agriculture, and any moneys received from tuition paid by students not residents of the state of New York, and from the sale of products, shall be reported and forwarded monthly to the state treasurer as required by the state finance law.

§ 35. Section ten hundred and ninety-three of such chapter, as amended by chapter one hundred and forty of the laws of nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1093. Powers and duties of board of trustees. The board of trustees so appointed by the governor shall have the general care, supervision and control of such school and all its affairs and to carry out its objects and purposes:

1. Employ and remove teachers, experts, chemists and all necessary clerks and assistants.

2. Adopt rules not inconsistent with the law controlling the affairs of such school.

3. Prescribe the course of instruction and the methods of investigation and experiments to be followed in such school.

The board of trustees shall report to the commissioner of agriculture annually, on or before the first day of December, a detailed statement of such expenditures and of the general operations of the said school of agriculture for the year ending the thirtieth day of June then next preceding, and a copy of such report shall be transmitted to the legislature. Students bona fide residents of the state of New York for one year preceding the date of their admission shall be entitled to free tuition. Other fees and charges, if any, in the said school of agriculture, and any moneys received from tuition paid by students not residents of the state of New York, and from the sale of products, shall be reported and forwarded monthly to the state treasurer as required by the state finance law.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 26, 1916.

Frank H. Spearman in a recent issue of the New York Times indicted big business as a kidnapping force which had robbed the field of literature and the kindred arts of some of the keenest minds of the century. In picturing the elder Morgan, Andrew Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller as potential leaders in the world of art, Mr. Spearman blames American standards, which put business success foremost in the affairs of life, for the loss of these keen minds that might otherwise have been ably directed in more artistic, if less remunerative, fields. It is difficult to feel regret for a loss of something which one has never known. While novel, the idea of big business wielding the pen, brush or chisel leaves one wondering as to the hands that would be left to manipulate the stylus at the bottom of some checks issued in exchange for artistic endeavor. Ambition, misdirected by prevailing standards, may be held responsible for making money magnates out of artistic genius, but the world of art and its devotees have not been appreciably reduced from this cause so far as can be noted. It may be that the instincts inspiring business success might have actuated their possessors in the world of art toward profitable manipulation or cornering of the works of genius, but most men, whether garret housed artists or plutocrats, follow their natural bents. Thus the end of all Mr. Spearman's imaginings is only conjecture, however pleasing it may be to the big business men to be pictured as incipient Academicians.

Decidedly different is the estimate of any finer artistic sensibilities possessed by captains of finance and industry that is given by Charles Francis Adams, the younger, in his autobiography just published. Witness his impressions of the leading business of America, encountered during an active career of more than a half century, as follows:

"... such the case, I am more than a little puzzled to account for the instances I have seen of business success—money-getting. It comes from a rather low instinct. Certainly, so far as my observation goes, it is rarely met with in combination with the finer or more interesting traits of character I have known, and known tolerably well, a good many "successful" men—"big" financially—men famous during the last half century; and a less interesting crowd I do not care to encounter. Not one that I have ever known would I care to meet again, either in this world or the next; nor is one of them associated in my mind with the idea of humor, thought, or refinement. A set of mere money-getters and traders, they were essentially unattractive and uninteresting.

In the light of these words, and infrequent personal observations, the tax upon imagination required to place big business men in artistic pursuits is too great. They best adorn the spheres where their natural abilities and desires called them. Whether or not they would have made good as artists, painters or sculptors is of no especial import anyway and the expressions quoted merely serve to show two widely contrasted views of a dominating type in American life.

Evidently on the theory that novelty pays, Coney Island makes it known that conscience will be added to the justly famous attractions of that well known resort this season and that fakers will be chased forth from that zone of innocent recreation. The announcement sounds suspiciously like a new press agent endeavoring to make a record on the job. But, as good wine needs no bush, so Coney Island needs no especial service from the authors of newspaper puffs. Coney is unique, and a whole lot of other things. In addition to catering exclusively to frivolous folk out for a holiday, this resort represents an actual cash investment of many millions and the investors themselves are rated among the wealthiest engaged in such enterprises. So, it will be seen, the introduction of conscience into the scheme is no light matter at all. The idea is to give everybody a good time without creating any liabilities in the form of ill feeling which is usually stirred by the activities of the faking gentry. So everything will be up to specifications, salt will be put into the waves, if necessary, to make the ocean equal to expectations of visitors from inland and the golden rule, a measure setting forth the cash outlay per foot of progress, will be invoked. And when all is said and done it will be the same old Coney and the same kind of people on both sides of the cashiers' apertures, regardless of conscience making cowards, or anything else different than ourselves, of all.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

Father—"Well, Bobby, what did you learn at school to-day?" Bobby—"Not to sass Tommy McNutt."—Boston Transcript.

Professor—"If a physician is called to see a patient, what is the first question he should ask?" Student—"Where he lives!"—Judge.

"My dear, I am going to get a new spring hat I saw down town marked only $40. It is a dream." "Go along, darling. I've set the alarm clock."—Baltimore American.

"A little learning is a dangerous thing." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "But that fact doesn't justify some of us in being proud of how little we know."—Washington Star.

"When you found you didn't have your fare, did the conductor make you get off and walk?" "Only get off. He didn't seem to care whether I walked or sat down."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"The great trouble nowadays," began the curbstone philosopher, "is that no man is satisfied with his job." "My job soots me," interrupted the chimney-sweep. "And I'm stuck on mine," yelled the tar-spreader from the adjoining roof. Whereupon the orator turned his theme from economics to preparedness.—Puck

Wins His Case.

Mose Ham was arrested for "loud and uproarious language" and "disturbing the peace." Judge Briles read the document in the case and then turned to the black-as-ebony prisoner. "Mose Ham," said he, "you are charged with shouting, groaning, crying loud in the night, lamentations, impure language, cursing, swearing, breaking the peace and general noisy conduct not befitting a citizen. What have you to say?" "Dos dis, jedge, dey ain't no spee er dat de truf; all I had wuz er slight visitation ov religion. Ef I talked loud, jedge, hit wuz becauz I'm further away from th' Lawd dan mos' folks."—Case and Comment.

On Preparedness.

President John Grier Hibben of Princeton was talking at a luncheon about preparedness.

"Preparedness is our duty," he said. "If we don't prepare we will find ourselves in fearful trouble. The man who in these cyclonic times opposes preparedness is apt to get the worst of it, like Jones.

"Jones, a fat, steady-going clerk, had worked for the same firm 17 years. A new hand, a nervous young fellow, complained to him one day:

"'I've been here six months now, and it's time I had a raise.'

"'Oh, keep your hair on,' said Jones. 'I was here two years before I got my first raise. Just plug away patiently, my boy—that's the way to get on. By the way, what is your salary anyhow?'

"'Only $20,' said the younger man.

"'Holy smoke!' roared Jones. 'And mine is $15.'"—New York Times.

The Difficulty.

Vernon Castle, before leaving New York to join the English army, was condemning the German submarine activity.

"To murder with submarines and then deny their guilt—that is the Germans' system, and it would be a good one, no doubt, if they could make it work; if they could get their hand in. But they can't.

"They are like the amateur pickpocket.

"'Don't you find pocket-picking difficult and dangerous work?' the judge, in pronouncing sentence, asked.

"'Yes,' the amateur answered, 'but it wouldn't be,' he added, hopefully, 'if I could only get my hand in.'"—New York Telegraph.

More Appropriate.

Sir George Alexander is drawing all London by his remarkable acting in a delightful comedy at the St James Theater.

As many people are aware, Sir George's original name was Samson before he went on the stage, and apropos of this fact a good story is told.

A well-known theatrical manager was once discussing Sir George with a friend.

"By the way, Alexander isn't his right name, is it?" inquired the friend.

"No," said the manager. "It used to be Samson. It was a pity to change the name of Samson to Alexander."

"Oh, but Alexander conquered the world you know," laughed the other.

"Yes," answered the manager; "but Samson is a more appropriate theatrical name. Have you forgotten that Samson was the first man who brought down the house?"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

IN war or peace, Memorial Day commemorates the heroic valor of the men of this nation. Whatever men may do hereafter in the cause of humanity and in the sacred name of patriotism, each recurrence of this day should be an occasion for a backward look at past heroisms and a forward look at future consecrations.

In the meanwhile, we are here, doing our accustomed work; living our daily lives; the things we have to do, here and now, may be all of the service we shall be called upon to render. Our first duty is to do the things assigned to us as well as we can.

That's why we are trying to do our business of selling Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. It may seem a little prosaic, and lacking in heroic elements; but sometimes the finest thing a man can do, is to do the commonplace, prosaic thing with a high spirit.

The spirit of youth demands clothes that are different—not extreme nor conspicuous, but a mild suggestion of each, coupled with a degree of dignity.

Such an ideal is not to be found in ready-made clothes or in "ordinarily tailored garments."

My success in meeting the demands of young men—and older men, too—lies in my ability to blend skill and experience with their ideas and notions. The result is Spring and Summer Suits that are a source of satisfaction and comfort. Come in and "talk it over" with me.

IN war or peace, Memorial Day commemorates the heroic valor of the men of this nation. Whatever men may do hereafter in the cause of humanity and in the sacred name of patriotism, each recurrence of this day should be an occasion for a backward look at past heroisms and a forward look at future consecrations.

In the meanwhile, we are here, doing our accustomed work; living our daily lives; the things we have to do, here and now, may be all of the service we shall be called upon to render. Our first duty is to do the things assigned to us as well as we can.

That's why we are trying to do our business of selling Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. It may seem a little prosaic, and lacking in heroic elements; but sometimes the finest thing a man can do, is to do the commonplace, prosaic thing with a high spirit.

Tailoring for Young Men

The spirit of youth demands clothes that are different—not extreme nor conspicuous, but a mild suggestion of each, coupled with a degree of dignity.

Such an ideal is not to be found in ready-made clothes or in "ordinarily tailored garments."

My success in meeting the demands of young men—and older men, too—lies in my ability to blend skill and experience with their ideas and notions. The result is Spring and Summer Suits that are a source of satisfaction and comfort. Come in and "talk it over" with me.

SAUGERTIES WOMAN MEETS WILD MAN

In Newspaper Advertisement Mrs. Lydia C. French Warns Other Women—Advises Them to Shoot Straight if They Encounter Him.

The women of Tarrytown and adjoining villages are upset by a warning published Thursday in a newspaper of that town by direction of Mrs. Lydia C. French of Saugerties and a niece of Mrs. George F. Sharady, who she is visiting at Ardsley against an apparent wild man whom Mrs. French met in the woods back of Ardsley last Sunday. Here is her warning.

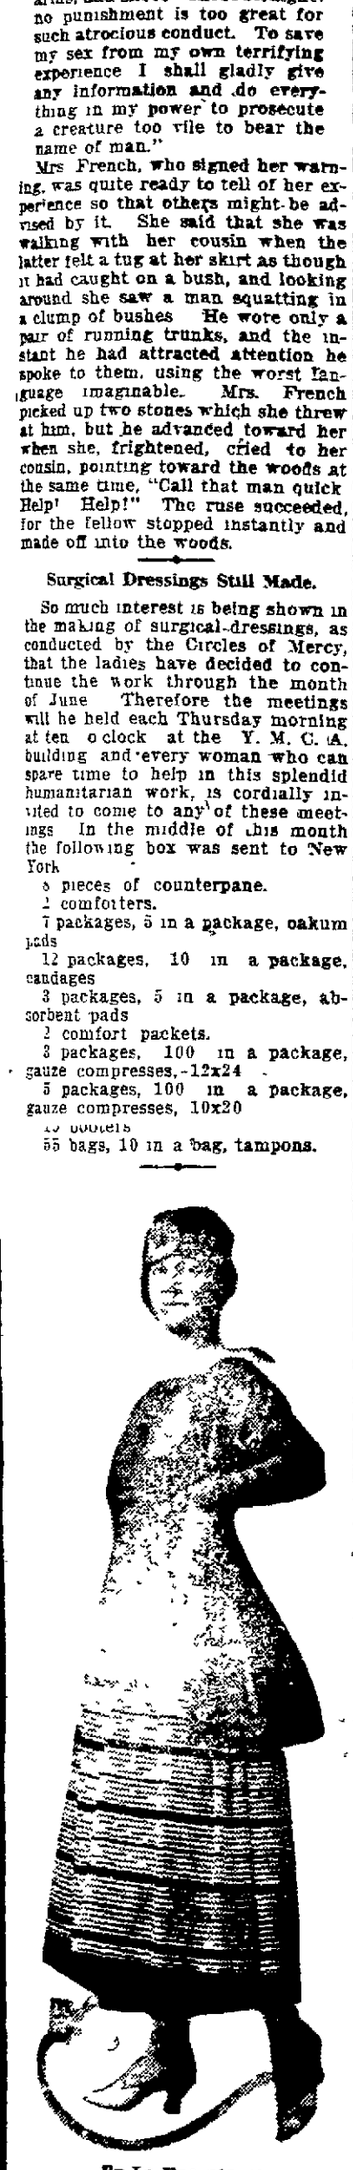

"A brute in human form is wandering in the woods back of Irvington and Ardsley-on-Hudson, also on the golf links This is to warn women and girls walking about without male protection. If necessary carry firearms, and shoot—shoot straight. no punishment is too great for such atrocious conduct. To save my sex from my own terrifying experience I shall gladly give any information and do everything in my power to prosecute a creature too vile to bear the name of man."

Mrs French, who signed her warning, was quite ready to tell of her experience so that others might be advised by it. She said that she was walking with her cousin when the latter felt a tug at her skirt as though it had caught on a bush, and looking around she saw a man squatting in a clump of bushes He wore only a pair of running trunks, and the instant he had attracted attention he spoke to them, using the worst language imaginable. Mrs. French picked up two stones which she threw at him, but he advanced toward her when she, frightened, cried to her cousin, pointing toward the woods at the same time, "Call that man quick Help! Help!" The ruse succeeded, for the fellow stopped instantly and made off into the woods.

Surgical Dressings Still Made.

So much interest is being shown in the making of surgical dressings, as conducted by the Circles of Mercy, that the ladies have decided to continue the work through the month of June Therefore the meetings will be held each Thursday morning at ten o clock at the Y. M. C. A. building and every woman who can spare time to help in this splendid humanitarian work, is cordially invited to come to any of these meetings In the middle of this month the following box was sent to New York

6 pieces of counterpane.
2 comforters.
7 packages, 5 in a package, oakum pads
12 packages, 10 in a package, candages
3 packages, 5 in a package, absorbent pads
2 comfort packets.
3 packages, 100 in a package, gauze compresses, 12x24
5 packages, 100 in a package, gauze compresses, 10x20
10 bootees
55 bags, 10 in a bag, tampons.

By La Racontouse.

The combination of black and white is quite as attractive this season than ever. Here black taffeta and black and white striped taffeta are cleverly treated. The striped material is arranged in a tunic effect, over which the black taffeta bouffant drape falls. The bodice is extremely simple, having long sleeves and low square neck, finished with touch of batiste embroidery.

WONDERFULLY GREAT CIGARETTES

EASIER FOR UMPIRES

Fans Do Not Ride Them as in Dark Ages of Baseball.

Attacking Arbiter Verbally and Sometimes Physically on Every Close Decision Was Deemed Prerogative of Players.

The senseless pastime of umpire baiting is becoming a relic of the dark ages of baseball.

In former years attacking the umpire verbally, and sometimes physically, on every close decision was considered the prerogative of managers and players, while many scribes alibied for their defeats by blaming the poor judge of play.

That time passed long ago and intelligent players today realize that nothing is gained and much may be lost by getting into rows with the umpire, who is in full charge of the game on the field and is as essential to the pastime as the players themselves. Any fair man who knows the big league umpires will have to acknowledge that they are a fair-minded and conscientious set of men, anxious to do their duty to the best of their ability, playing no favorites and giving each decision as it comes up exactly as they see it.

Umpires, as a rule, are much fairer than ball players. The latter will try to work every small advantage, will resent the slightest criticism of their work, no matter how well-founded it may be, and will alibi for themselves and one another in the boldest manner.

Umpires, on the other hand, are, as a rule, very fair and willing to admit making a mistake. Their position is a difficult one. The umpire behind the plate, calling balls and strikes, as well as making all decisions at the plate and sometimes at third base, is called upon to render as many as 150 decisions in the course of a single game. The big majority of these he gives accurately. In proportion to the number of chances he has, his mistakes are much fewer than those of the ball players, who miss 5 or 10 per cent of their chances in the field and make errors of judgment at the bat.

Charley Mullen Fails to Make Good at Second Base—Quite Handy Man to Have Around.

Manager Donovan of the Yankees is satisfied that Charley Mullen will not do as a major league second baseman, but considers him a handy man to have around, owing to ability as a first baseman, a hitter, and the creditable game which he can put up at second.

He can give a good account of himself at the keystone sack, but it takes a wizard to show major league form at a strange position after playing another place for several years.

Mike Mitchell in Again.

The horse-racing season having practically ended, Mike Mitchell concluded it time to get back into baseball and make a little money, so he signed with the Newark Internationals. Mike laid off last year to follow the ponies. He'll have a hard time coming back now. A year out of the game is a killer to a man of Mike's age.

TODAY, as never before, the great American People are looking to their traditions. They are reaching backward to the sources of true Americanism for that inspiration so vital to onward progress. They are measuring each other and themselves today by the old standards of honesty, integrity, grit and purpose.

PRINCE VON BUELOW
JOINT EXCHANGE SERVICE

VON BUELOW COMING TO U. S. ON SECRET MISSION; MAY BE AMBASSADOR.

London, May 26.—The Exchange Telegraph Agency says that Prince von Buelow, formerly chancellor of the German Empire, is on his way to the United States on a special mission and that he will probably succeed Count J. H. von Bernstorff as ambassador to the American government.

The German diplomatic corps is stated to be undergoing a general change.

Many reports have been received in this country that Count von Bernstorff was due to be given an important post at Berlin, where his following was reputed to be among the court officials who have recently triumphed over the extremists. Count von Buelow has been generally accredited since the opening of the war with holding the Kaiser's peace plan in his keeping. Much of his time has been passed in Switzerland with the peace atmosphere surrounding him. The news of his possible coming to Washington takes on special interest in view of the close relations which have existed between Prince von Buelow and the Papal court, which in conjunction with Spain and the United States, has been mentioned as active in new peace negotiations.

EASIER FOR UMPIRES

Attacking Arbiter Verbally and Sometimes Physically on Every Close Decision Was Deemed Prerogative of Players.

The senseless pastime of umpire baiting is becoming a relic of the dark ages of baseball.

In former years attacking the umpire verbally, and sometimes physically, on every close decision was considered the prerogative of managers and players, while many scribes alibied for their defeats by blaming the poor judge of play.

That time passed long ago and intelligent players today realize that nothing is gained and much may be lost by getting into rows with the umpire, who is in full charge of the game on the field and is as essential to the pastime as the players themselves. Any fair man who knows the big league umpires will have to acknowledge that they are a fair-minded and conscientious set of men, anxious to do their duty to the best of their ability, playing no favorites and giving each decision as it comes up exactly as they see it.

Umpires, as a rule, are much fairer than ball players. The latter will try to work every small advantage, will resent the slightest criticism of their work, no matter how well-founded it may be, and will alibi for themselves and one another in the boldest manner.

Umpires, on the other hand, are, as a rule, very fair and willing to admit making a mistake. Their position is a difficult one. The umpire behind the plate, calling balls and strikes, as well as making all decisions at the plate and sometimes at third base, is called upon to render as many as 150 decisions in the course of a single game. The big majority of these he gives accurately. In proportion to the number of chances he has, his mistakes are much fewer than those of the ball players, who miss 5 or 10 per cent of their chances in the field and make errors of judgment at the bat.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, May 26.—Mrs. Le Grand Doyle of Riverside avenue was the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Caniff, in Marlborough on hursday.

Mrs. Margaret Fox of Albany was summoned Thursday to the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Eigo, on Tilden street on account of the serious illness of her niece, Miss Katherine Eigo.

Next Tuesday Memorial Day will be observed in our village. Headed by the veterans of the civil war, the Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, Hope Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias, Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., and the school children of District No. 14 of Connelly and Districts No. 1 and 13 of Port Ewen, will form in procession in front of Port Ewen Public School No. 13 at 8.30 a. m., and proceed to the cemetery and decorate the graves of the soldiers. The procession will then reform and march to Pythian Hall, where a suitable program will be rendered, consisting of appropriate music, recitations by the school children and an address by the Rev. C. H. Polhemus. We believe it to be the privilege and the duty of each member of our community to march with the procession and be present at the exercises and thus show a glowing pride in our martyed heroes who pinned with their bayonets the stars of union in the azure of our dear old flag.

Mrs. M. G Steger and son of Union Hill, N. J are the guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs Simon Middah on Stout avenue.

LeGrand Doyle of Riverside avenue was in Poughkeepsie on business Thursday.

This evening Rabbi Emil Ellinger of California will have charge of the services in Temple Emanuel on Abeel street at 7.30 o'clock.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Style.

1627—Ladies' Dress, with Body Lining or Yoke Portions with Long or Short Sleeves, and with or without Ruffles.

Dimity, batiste, embroidered crepe and voile, wash silk, lawn and all lingerie materials are nice for this style. The waist is gathered at round yoke outline, which may be cut with a "V" neck opening, or finished with a standing collar The sleeve in wrist or elbow length is finished with a ruffle. The skirt is a 3-gore model, with ruffle trimming, that may be omitted.

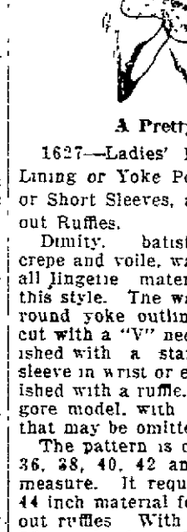

The pattern is cut in 6 sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6½ yards of 44 inch material for the dress, without ruffles With ruffles it requires 7¾ yards, for a 36 inch size The skirt measures about 3 2-3 yards at its lower edge

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department. The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, May 26.—Mrs. Le Grand Doyle of Riverside avenue was the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Caniff, in Marlborough on hursday.

Mrs. Margaret Fox of Albany was summoned Thursday to the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Eigo, on Tilden street on account of the serious illness of her niece, Miss Katherine Eigo.

Next Tuesday Memorial Day will be observed in our village. Headed by the veterans of the civil war, the Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, Hope Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias, Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., and the school children of District No. 14 of Connelly and Districts No. 1 and 13 of Port Ewen, will form in procession in front of Port Ewen Public School No. 13 at 8:30 a. m., and proceed to the cemetery and decorate the graves of the soldiers. The procession will then reform and march to Pythian Hall, where a suitable program will be rendered, consisting of appropriate music, recitations by the school children and an address by the Rev. C. H. Polhemus. We believe it to be the privilege and the duty of each member of our community to march with the procession and be present at the exercises and thus show a glowing pride in our martyed heroes who pinned with their bayonets the stars of union in the azure of our dear old flag.

Mrs. M. G. Steger and son of Union Hill, N. J., are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Middah on Stout avenue.

LeGrand Doyle of Riverside avenue was in Poughkeepsie on business Thursday.

Hope Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias, will meet in their castle hall this evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. W. J. Karnes of New York city is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Elsworth, on Broadway.

Arthur E. Fronefield, who was in San Francisco during July, 1915, attended the trans-continental telephone demonstration under the auspices of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce held at the Elks' Club last night.

At Temple Emanuel.

This evening Rabbi Emil Ellinger of California will have charge of the services in Temple Emanuel on Abeel street at 7:30 o'clock.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Style.

1627—Ladies' Dress, with Body Lining or Yoke Portions with Long or Short Sleeves, and with or without Ruffles.

Dimity, batiste, embroidered crepe and voile, wash silk, lawn and all lingerie materials are nice for this style. The waist is gathered at round yoke outline, which may be cut with a "V" neck opening, or finished with a standing collar. The sleeve in wrist or elbow length is finished with a ruffle. The skirt is a 3-gore model, with ruffle trimming, that may be omitted.

The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 6½ yards of 44 inch material for the dress, without ruffles. With ruffles it requires 7⅞ yards, for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 3 2-3 yards at its lower edge.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date 1916 large Spring and Summer Catalogue, containing over 400 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, as well as the latest Embroidery Designs, also a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, giving valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

A Complete Manual in Crochet and Tatting!

Just what you will say when you get our instruction book. Our Crochet and Tatting Book contains more than 50 profusely illustrated designs such as luncheon sets, doilies, tray cloths, towel ends, insertions, edgings, yokes for corset covers, night gowns, and a variety of Tatting designs for babywear, etc. Below each article illustrated in our instruction book will be found a complete list of materials required, together with a simplified course on all stitches used in making up the article. This complete manual will be sent upon receipt of 10 cents in stamps or silver.

WAITE CONFESSES TWO MURDERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York May 26.—Only one thing will save Dr. Arthur Warren Waite from death in the electric chair for the murder of John E. Peck. That one thing is that the jury which will decide his fate will accept the plea of the defense and find the slayer insane.

Having bared a record of crime that ranged from petty theft straight through the calendar of deceit to the murder of two persons for their money, Waite today will complete his sordid story. Then he will be turned over to the prosecution for cross-examination, and more light, if more be needed, will be cast on his schemes to kill. Already he has revealed one of the most startling murder plots in American criminal annals.

As coolly as if he were discussing the weather, Waite told how he had caused the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John E. Peck, by bacteria; how he had poisoned and then smothered John E. Peck, and then how he tried to kill Miss Catherine Peck, maiden sister of his father-in-law.

Waite gave his sordid tale at the night session of court. He was calm, indifferent and frivolous by turns. He grinned, drawled and smirked, and if he did not understand a question, would murmur "Pardon" in the polite manner that made him so popular.

At no time did Waite show a sign of remorse. He often left the impression that he thought his hearers were there to be amused. Then he changed from the calm narrator to the comedian. He loved Mrs. Margaret Horton, he said, and married his wife for the luck fortune.

Nothing counted with this cold blooded, calculating murderer when it stood in his way. "I wanted their money," he frankly explained in relating the attempts he made on the lives of his wife's wealthy relatives.

And the impression that the revelations seemingly left in the courtroom was:

"Could any sane, normal man have done these unspeakable things?"

At Funeral of Father Dempsey.

In addition to those whose names were given in The Freeman on Thursday the following clergymen were in attendance at the funeral of Father Dempsey in St. Joseph's Church: Monsignor Edwards of St. Joseph's Church, New York city; the Rev. Francis Fisher, C. S. S. R., and the Rev. Thomas P. Roach, both of Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus; the Rev. James Flanagan, C. S. S. R., New York city; the Rev. John A. Farrelly, St. Joseph's Church, Bronx; the Rev. Thomas Temple, St. Peter's Church, New York city; the Rev. Thomas F. Walsh, St. Gregory's Church, New York city; the Rev. John Holland, St. John's Church, Walden; the Rev. James F. Hanley, Marlborough; the Rev. John Hopkins, Gardiner; the Rev. Francis Cummings, East Kingston; the Rev. John Stanley, Protectory, Bronx; the Rev. Thomas Dunne and the Rev. Fabian, St. Frances's Church, Newburgh; the Rev. Andrew Dooley, St. Catherine's Church, New York city; the Rev. Joseph Geis, St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh; the Rev. George Vaeth, Sawkill; the Rev. George Wermuth, St. Peter's Church, Kingston; the Rev. Michael Larkin, St. Gabriel's Church, New York city; the Rev. Michael Shea, St. Joseph's Seminary; the Rev. Edward Mahoney, St. Rita's Church, Bronx; the Rev. John Kubafex, Holy Name Church, Yonkers; Father Edmund, Benedictine Sanitarium, city; the Rev. James Dougherty, Ellenville; the Rev. Joseph Scully, Phoenicia; the Rev. James Doyle and Father Donohue of Port Jervis; the Rev. Daniel Cronin of Liberty, to which charge Father Dempsey had been appointed. The services at the grave were in charge of Monsignor Edwards.

Get the Real Ru-ber-oid

No other roofing has been imitated as much as RU-BER-OID. You may be told that "all prepared roofings are alike" and that other roofings are "just the same as RU-BER-OID" or "just as good and much cheaper." Remember there is only one

Pronounced "RU" as in RUBY
RU-BER-OID ROOFING
COSTS MORE - WEARS LONGER

—and that RU-BER-OID is always the kind we sell—has the "Ru-ber-oid Man" (shown above) on every roll. If you don't see the Ru-ber-oid Man, the roofing is not RU-BER-OID.

The U. S. Court of Appeals has enjoined imitators from using the word "Rubberoid or any similar name as the trade name or brand" of their roofing.

RU-BER-OID is imitated because it lasts longer than cheaper roofings. RU-BER-OID roofs are still watertight and look well after more than 20 years of service without repairs. No imitation has this record.

RU-BER-OID is made on a base of the highest grade felt, waterproofed with a compound that cannot crack, run, or rot. It contains no coal tar, asphalt, wood fibre, paper or sand.

Already he has revealed one of the most startling murder plots in American criminal annals.

As coolly as if he were discussing the weather, Waite told how he had caused the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John E. Peck, by bacteria; how he had poisoned and then smothered John E. Peck, and then how he tried to kill Miss Catherine Peck, maiden sister of his father-in-law.

Waite gave his sordid tale at the night session of court. He was calm, indifferent and frivolous by turns. He grinned, drawled and smirked, and if he did not understand a question, would murmur "Pardon" in the polite manner that made him so popular.

At no time did Waite show a sign of remorse. He often left the impression that he thought his hearers were there to be amused. Then he changed from the calm narrator to the comedian. He loved Mrs. Margaret Horton, he said, and married his wife for the Peck fortune.

Nothing counted with this cold blooded, calculating murderer when it stood in his way. "I wanted their money," he frankly explained in relating the attempts he made on the lives of his wife's wealthy relatives.

And the impression that the revelations seemingly left in the courtroom was:

"Could any sane, normal man have done these unspeakable things?"

At Funeral of Father Dempsey.

In addition to those whose names were given in The Freeman on Thursday the following clergymen were in attendance at the funeral of Father Dempsey in St. Joseph's Church: Monsignor Edwards of St. Joseph's Church, New York city; the Rev. Get the Real Ru-ber-oid

No other roofing has been imitated as much as RU-BER-OID. You may be told that "all prepared roofings are alike" and that other roofings are "just the same as RU-BER-OID" or "just as good and much cheaper." Remember there is only one

RU-BER-OID ROOFING
COSTS MORE - WEARS LONGER.

—and that RU-BER-OID is always spelled with one "B." The genuine—the kind we sell—has the "Ru-ber-oid Man" (shown above) on every roll. If you don't see the Ru-ber-oid Man, the roofing is not RU-BER-OID.

The U. S. Court of Appeals has enjoined imitators from using the word "Rubberoid or any similar name as the trade name or brand" of their roofing.

RU-BER-OID is imitated because it lasts longer than cheaper roofings. RU-BER-OID roofs are still watertight and look well after more than 20 years of service without repairs. No imitation has this record.

RU-BER-OID is made on a base of the highest grade felt, waterproofed with a compound that cannot crack, run, or rot. It contains no coal tar, asphalt, wood fibre, paper or sand.

GUARANTEED Walls and Ceilings

It is sure as fate that when you put lath and plaster on the walls and ceilings of a frame building trouble will come when the frame work of your building shrinks and settles, the plaster will crack, chip and fall.

Cornell-Wood-Board

2½ Per Square Foot

Cornell-Wood-Board does not deteriorate, but hardens and toughens with age, and will last as long as your buildings. We do not merely promise it, but we give you the guarantee of the maker.

Cornell-Wood-Board is guaranteed not to warp, buckle, crack, chip or peel. Its first cost is the last cost. Its use means buildings better insulated against cold, heat, damp, dust and sound.

Before you build anything, come in for sample, booklets, and let us tell you more about this remarkable material.

Does It Run On Kerosene?

THE most important feature of a farm power engine today is the fuel it uses.

That, more than anything else, determines its usefulness and economy.

At present prices of gasoline and kerosene, you could not afford to accept a gasoline engine as a gift, if you had to use it.

You could better afford to pay a big premium for a Mogul kerosene engine.

See the Mogul work on kerosene. Ask your dealer to show you the difference in fuel cost between a Mogul in any size from 1 to 50-H. P., and a gasoline engine of the same size. The figures will surprise you.

Does It Run On Kerosene?

THE most important feature of a farm power engine today is the fuel it uses.

That, more than anything else, determines its usefulness and economy.

At present prices of gasoline and kerosene, you could not afford to accept a gasoline engine as a gift, if you had to use it.

You could better afford to pay a big premium for a Mogul kerosene engine.

See the Mogul work on kerosene. Ask your dealer to show you the difference in fuel cost between a Mogul in any size from 1 to 50-H. P., and a gasoline engine of the same size. The figures will surprise you.

NEEDLESS DESTRUCTION.

Correspondent Calls Attention to Senseless Cutting of a Tree.

Kingston, May 26, 1916.

Editor, The Freeman:

There is little use in making any protest against vandalism on the part of children and the irresponsible youth of the city when the count perpetrates such and act as it did this morning. Every person having any interest in the attractiveness of Kingston as an asset of the city, realizes that our fine trees, all too rapidly disappearing from great age, count as of great value. Our enterprising citizens are fast realizing that where old monarchs of the woods whose lives of countless years in the city are succumbing to age and having to be cut down, new trees should be planted and that at once. Yet this morning a magnificent elm tree, perfectly sound, and probably some fifty years of age in its stately prime, an ornament to the entire four corners of the oldest and most historic part of the city, at Crown and John streets, by the county building, was ruthlessly cut down, the only reason to be learned being that they "wanted to fix the sidewalk."

Think of it! Fix the sidewalk, a task even under the most elaborate conditions of protection for the life of the tree, not to cover more than a few days time, and to do this the easiest way, to cut down such a beautiful and valuable tree! In passing, Admiral Higginson voiced the sentiments of all bystanders and nearby property holders when he exclaimed, "What a crime!"

But no amount of talk can put the tree back, and it will take a lifetime to replace it. If the men of this county and city have no sense of making the city attractive and pleasing, then it is high time that the women of the community took up the much needed work. In the meantime the county has done the city an inestimable damage, and that before any adequate protest could be made.

CONSERVATION.

MILTON.

Milton, May 26.—William McManus, who is with H. Benner, Brooklyn fruit commissioner, spent last week end with his family here.

On Sunday evening the Rev. H. F. Wilke will preach in the Presbyterian Church on "Echoes of General Assembly." Next Sunday is National Presbyterian Day.

The Presbyterian Ladies' Needle Craft Society will hold a strawberry festival in the Sunday school rooms of the church on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, May 27.

Word has been received of the death of Walter Westervelt, a son of the Rev. and Mrs. William G. Westervelt, who was pastor of Milton Presbyterian Church about thirty years ago.

Mrs. William H. Donaldson, Mrs. Richard L. Woolsey and Mrs. C. S. Northrip were among shoppers in Poughkeepsie on Wednesday.

Mrs. Northrip spent last week end and Sunday in Newburgh with her son, Ludlow, and daughter, Mrs. A. E. Cosman. Ludlow was improving after his operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woolsey spent the past week end and Sunday in Newburgh visiting their brothers, Theodore and David Woolsey, and nephew, A. E. Cosman.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Fuller of Poughkeepsie visited his mother, Mrs. Benjamin Roe, who is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sinclair also visited relatives here over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Zach Brown entertained friends from out of town recently. Their youngest daughter was operated on for adenoids at St. Luke's Hospital on Wednesday week.

Edward Miller of Orangeburgh spent Sunday with his brother, Christian Miller.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will meet with Mrs. S. M. Rutter on Friday afternoon at 2:30.

Junior League meet on Saturday at 2 p. m. in the church.

Services in the M. E. Church on Sunday, May 28.—Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Memorial Day services. Ketcham Post, G. A. R., will be present. Pastor Lull will deliver an appropriate sermon. Epworth League devotional meeting at 7 p. m.; topic, "The Ministry of Good Cheer." Leader, Mrs. William Rhoades. Evening worship at 7:30.

Keep in mind the organ recital to be given in the M. E. Church on Saturday evening, June 3, by Robert S. Flagler, the well known organist of the Reformed Church in Poughkeepsie, assisted by Carl H. Rupprecht of New York city.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, D. D., LL. D., resident bishop of the M. E. Church in New York city, will visit Milton on Wednesday afternoon, June 7, and speak in the M. E. Church at 2:30 o'clock. This will give an opportunity to all to hear an interesting address by Bishop Wilson, who is an eloquent speaker and a man of deep spirituality.

The annual memorial service will be held in the M. E. Church on Sunday morning, May 28, at the usual hour for worship, 11 o'clock. The Rev. J. S. Lull will preach the sermon. The offering at this service will be used in caring for the cemetery.

Mrs. William Rhoades was in Poughkeepsie on Wednesday.

FULTON'S SUBMARINE.

The Nautilus and Its Then Daring Feats in French Waters.

That Robert Fulton set more store by his submarine plans than any of his other projects or achievements in ship designing is recalled by Farnham Bishop's "Story of the Submarine." It was in Paris, where Fulton had received from Napoleon an advance of 10,000 francs to build a submarine, that his Nautilus was brought to completion.

"On her first trial, on the Seine at Paris, in May, 1801," writes Mr. Bishop, "the Nautilus remained submerged for twenty minutes with Fulton and one other man on board and a lighted candle for them to navigate by. This consumed too much air, however, so a small glass window was placed in the conning tower and gave light enough instead. Four men were then able to remain under for an hour.

"After that Fulton made the first compressed air tank, a copper globe containing a cubic foot of compressed air, by drawing on which the submarine's crew could stay under for six hours. This was in the harbor of Brest, where the Nautilus had been taken overland.

"A trial attack was made on an old hulk, which was successfully blown up. The submarine also proved its ability either to foul its sails and dive quickly out of sight or to cruise for a considerable distance on the surface. Once it sailed for seventy miles down the English channel."

Fairness in Meat Prices at Lay's Saturday Sale

In glancing over the appended price list for Saturday, readers will note an increase of quotations for our week-end sale. Much as we regret to do so, we have been compelled to mark up prices in order to keep pace with the soaring wholesale figures. Meats of all kinds are now at record high prices. The excuse given is that there is a scarcity of beef, pork and in fact all kinds of meats in this country, but the packers find it convenient to ship millions of pounds to Europe. And the worst feature of the present deplorable condition is that meats will be boosted higher still, the increase likely to be enforced before this advertisement appears. All retail butchers are in the same "boat," and the consumer's pocketbook suffers in turn.

Ecarlate

A Man's Dream Materialized.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

When Dacre married his friends said of him that any woman who allied herself to him would not be able to hold him. He was a man about town, a clubman, a man who was always welcome behind the scenes at the theaters and was very often found there, especially when the chorus and ballet girls were pretty. Some declared that the girl he married was one of a thousand, just the woman, in fact, to hold such a man as Dacre. One who was familiar with his makeup replied that if she did hold him she would have to do it in gauze and tights.

Dacre before the wedding made all sorts of promises to his fiancee. He would eschew theaters—that is, he would never go behind the scenes. He would cut all his old friends who were "fast." In short, he would make a model husband, devoted to his wife alone. That he loved her she did not doubt. What she feared was that some one would steal him away from her through his senses.

To every one's surprise, Dacre kept his promises. For a year he never went to the theater except with his wife. Then when the baby came and she had a new being to look after he was left occasionally alone of an evening. One night to pass the time he sought amusement in what for him was a dangerous place. The queen of the ballet captured him, and from that time forward he was devoted to a succession of dancers. At last the predictions of those who knew him best had come true. His wife's life was changed from happiness to misery.

Then came the peerless Ecarlate. Shortly before her coming Mrs. Dacre had exacted a promise from her husband that he would abstain from an acquaintance with any more women of the stage. He kept his promise, but every night that Ecarlate danced he was in his accustomed seat in the theater. He had been captivated by the poetry of motion and could not look upon the dancer except with a mad temptation to break his word to the woman he really loved.

One night when Dacre was at the theater just before the dancer came on the stage the lights were lowered and the orchestra softly played a dream waltz. Then came a change.

The violins suddenly swept into a legato movement, and as if treading lightly on the delicate measure a small scarlet clad form swayed on to the darkened stage and fluttered there until the cold circle of the spot light searched and found her.

It held her there, a quivering creature of tantalizing mystery, a baffling airy thing of midnight hair, glorious eyes and unknown features, for Ecarlate was always masked.

Above the black velvet mask showed a white forehead, with the soft black hair banded with jewels. Below it there were rose red lips, curved in tender smiles, and a dimpled white chin. Through the slits in the mask her eyes worked disaster.

The mystery of her unknown features only added to her charm in the eyes of men, especially Jack Dacre.

Dacre leaned with his elbows on the railing of the box, and quite oblivious to significant glances he watched the dancer. He stared at her until his heart ached with longing that the mask might be lifted so that he could feast his eyes on the loveliness which he had never yet seen.

His eyes never left her while she danced. Occasionally she flashed a melting glance toward the box where he always sat when she danced, and then her head was turned aside so that he might see that she wore his nightly offering, a scarlet cactus flower tucked in the duskiness of her wonderful hair.

"My scarlet beauty!" he muttered restlessly as she swayed in the dizzy mazes of her famous butterfly dance.

Scarlet she was from the flower in her hair to the tips of her tiny satin slippers.

With snowy arms she lifted the scarlet chiffon wings of her filmy skirts, her head fell back, and she melted into the rhythm of one of her character dances.

When it was over she withdrew, her arms loaded with flowers, her eyes smiling at Dacre's frowning face.

With her departure Jack Dacre went away. For him the performance had ended with the vanishing of Ecarlate.

For an hour he sat on the lounge of his club, drinking a little, thinking all the time of the strange woman whom he madly loved, although her face was unknown to him. Even her home was an impenetrable mystery. She came and went like a bright meteor flashing across the midnight sky. Her managers were dumb on the subject. It was whispered that she was of royal birth.

It was nearly midnight when Dacre let himself into his own house and gave his hat and overcoat to a sleepy servant.

"Is Mrs. Dacre out this evening?" he asked, with a foot on the stair.

"Mrs. Dacre returned an hour ago. I believe she is in her boudoir, sir."

Dacre went on up the stairs and turned into his own room. For a moment he hesitated; then he crossed to the door of his wife's dressing room and laid his hand on the glass knob.

Would it respond to his pressure?

His hand gripped the knob. It turned, and he entered his wife's apartments.

Eve Dacre sat in her boudoir, under the glow of pink shaded lamps. She wore a negligee of rose colored silk, and her dark, piquant face seemed to reflect the tender glow.

She looked up as he entered, and a cold little smile curved her lips and drifted away.

"Ah, you are home!" she said. "Did you enjoy the play?"

"I went to the Venus," he said frigidly.

Now Mrs. Dacre laughed softly. "The Venus, of course! I, too, was there."

"You?" he stammered.

"Yes. It was all rather stupid, was it not? Always excepting Ecarlate!"

He was silent. His mouth was white, and his gray eyes looked cold and impenetrable.

Eve arose and crossed to the phonograph. She slipped in a record, set it in motion and returned to lean over the back of her chair, looking at her husband with grave, dark eyes, while the tender strains of Ecarlate's dance rose and fell.

"What are you doing that for?" he demanded fiercely.

"Jack," she said in a voice suddenly weary, "let us be frank with each other. You want your freedom. Am I right?"

"You are dead wrong!" he retorted doggedly.

"But Ecarlate?" Her voice dropped to a whisper.

"We will not talk of her."

"And those that came before Ecarlate," she went on, while the haunting music made a background for her passionate words. "I have overlooked, I have forgiven, and now it is Ecarlate. You love her. You dare not deny it!"

Again he was silent. He looked at her, noting, with a shock of surprise, that there were silver threads in Eve's dark hair and lines about her mouth and eyes—lines that he had graven there. Eve was only twenty-five, and he was killing her youth.

Suddenly she drew a long breath.

"What is it about these women that attracts you? What charm do they possess that is not mine?"

Still he did not answer.

She swayed a little and turned away.

"Ecarlate is here! I am sending her to you!"

"Ecarlate here? You are mad!" he exclaimed. But the gentle closing of the door sent him quivering to a chair.

The music played steadily on—that eternal butterfly dance. He began to hate it. What was Ecarlate doing here—in his house? It was like a jealous woman to take revenge, but he had believed Eve above such trickery.

Ecarlate!

The repetition of her name, the familiar music, and again the old enchantment fell upon him. He watched the door for her appearance. What would she look like? Beautiful, of course! He forgot that Eve would accompany the dancer.

He jumped up when the door slowly opened to admit Ecarlate's scarlet clad form. She was alone.

The door closed and left her leaning against the white paneled surface, panting a little, as if afraid.

Dacre laughed triumphantly. Ecarlate afraid of him, her adorer!

He made one step toward her, but in that instant she left the door and swayed like a butterfly in the mazes of her dance. Delicately she poised before him, and then, before his outstretched hand could touch her, she had melted away beyond his reach.

Her gay scarlet shoes seemed to barely touch the floor, she floated; her chiffon wings beat the air; the jeweled band above her forehead blazed with myriad lights, the cactus flower flamed like a burning heart.

Suddenly the music ceased, and the dancer was once more leaning against the white door of Eve's dressing room. Through her black mask her eyes gleamed strangely.

Dacre clinched his hands. Ecarlate, standing there with outstretched scarlet winged arms, appeared like a scarlet angel barring him from his wife's room.

He stared at her smiling lips, at the alluring sparkle of her eyes peering oddly at him through the mask, at her black hair with its dazzling band of brilliants.

Suddenly he remembered that his wife's hair was black, but it was threaded with silver. He had placed the silver threads there.

He laid his hand on Ecarlate's arm. His voice was hoarse with resolve.

"Allow me to pass," he said.

She laughed, a merry, trickling, mocking laugh that ended suddenly in a sob of pain.

His hand had closed on her tender flesh.

"Will you let me pass?" he asked through clinched teeth.

"You love me!" she whispered tensely.

He was silent.

"Say you love me!" she repeated.

He lifted his hand and deliberately tore aside the mask.

For several minutes he stared at Ecarlate's face. How many times had he yearned to tear away the mask and feast his eyes on her unknown loveliness!

It was a face such as he had never imagined in his wildest dreams of her.

Suddenly she covered it with little jeweled hands.

Then he spoke.

"I love you!" he cried vehemently. "I have always loved you! It was because you were behind the mask that I loved you, and you alone!"

She melted into his arms, and he held her there.

Ecarlate no longer barred the door to his wife's room. She was in his arms. His wife was in his arms.

His wife was Ecarlate. Ecarlate was his wife.

Colored Hailstones.

Red hail is not unknown, even in Great Britain, for in May of 1885 there was quite a heavy fall of it at Castlewellan, in County Down. Red and white fell together, and the red hue was not merely on the surface of the pellets, but went through and through. When one was squeezed between the fingers it stained them.

At Minsk, in Russia, an even stranger hail shower had fallen five years before. Some of the pellets were ring shaped, and, while some were distinctly reddish, others were a bright blue. Some scientists declare that the coloring is due to various mineral salts.—London Standard.

Satiety.

"There is no such word," said the philosopher, "as 'don't' in the logic of things. For to say 'Don't do this' means that we must do something else. 'Don't' cannot evade doing—it merely diverts it to another form of deed. 'Don't' shapes human action, day after day, just as surely as"—

"Oh, don't talk so much!" cried the philosopher's wife despairingly.—Life.

Fairness in Meat Prices at Lay's Saturday Sale

In glancing over the appended price list for Saturday, readers will note an increase of quotations for our week-end sale. Much as we regret to do so, we have been compelled to mark up prices in order to keep pace with the soaring wholesale figures. Meats of all kinds are now at record high prices. The excuse given is that there is a scarcity of beef, pork and in fact all kinds of meats in this country, but the packers find it convenient to ship millions of pounds to Europe. And the worst feature of the present deplorable condition is that meats will be boosted higher still, the increase likely to be enforced before this advertisement appears. All retail butchers are in the same "boat," and the consumer's pocketbook suffers in turn.

Colored Hailstones.

Red hail is not unknown, even in Great Britain, for in May of 1885 there was quite a heavy fall of it at Castlewellan, in County Down. Red and white fell together, and the red hue was not merely on the surface of the pellets, but went through and through. When one was squeezed between the fingers it stained them.

At Miask, in Russia, an even stranger hail shower had fallen five years before. Some of the pellets were ring shaped, and, while some were distinctly reddish, others were a bright blue. Some scientists declare that the coloring is due to various mineral salts.—London Standard.

Satiety.

"There is no such word," said the philosopher, "as 'don't,' in the logic of things. For to say 'Don't do this!' means that we must do something else. 'Don't' cannot evade doing—it merely diverts it to another form of deed. 'Don't' shapes human action, day after day, just as surely as"—

"Oh, don't talk so much!" cried the philosopher's wife despairingly.—Life.

Proof.

"Mr. Spark is awfully gone on me, I am certain," announced Mary, the handmaid of No. 4, to Jane of No. 6.

"How do you know?"

"Well, last night me and him was at the pictures, and to tease him I knocked his cap over his eyes about ten times and he never said a word."—London Mail.

He Started One.

A college professor and his wife were entertained at dinner a few weeks ago. In the midst of the gayety at the table a child's voice was heard coming from the floor above.

"Mother!" he cried.

"What is it, Archie?" she asked.

"There's only clean towels in the bathroom. Shall I start one?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, May 26.—Horse races will be held at the Ellenville Driving Park on Tuesday, May 30. This will be the first meeting of the Driving Park Association. FANTASTIC GOLDFISH.

Some Curious Shapes Produced by the Experts of Japan.

Japanese fish breeders took advantage of one of nature's pranks to obtain this much decorated goldfish. Years ago a Jap found in his aquarium a fish with two tails. He was so well pleased with the novelty that he undertook to make it the basis of a new type. Thus the one accident by nature became the grandfather of a race of two tailed fish. We call them Japanese fantails.

Not satisfied with the double tail, the breeders next set about molding the bodies of their fish into round balls. Breeders first picked out the fish with the shortest bodies and bred them every year by painstaking selection. Fish with shorter and shorter bodies were produced until today the accepted type of Japanese fantail has a body as round as a ball.

Not all fantails are alike. One with the ends of the tail cut off flat is called the square tail. Another with a slight inward curve to the edges of the tail is called veil tail. A third, with a deep cut out tail, is named the ribbon tail.

All these varieties have long tails and fins. You will recognize them instantly when you see them in an aquarium floating about like bits of lace in the water.—Philadelphia North American.

No Precaution Neglected.

The little son of a clergyman recently appeared at breakfast with distinct evidences of a hastily made toilet.

"Why, Edmund," his mother remonstrated, "I believe you forgot to brush your hair!"

"I was in such a hurry to get to school," he explained.

"I hope you didn't forget to say your prayers!" she asked anxiously.

"No, ahem!" was the emphatic assurance. "That's one thing I never forget. Sunday, then!"—Harper's Magazine.

Site of the White House.

The site for the president's palace, as the first maps name it, was selected by President Washington and Major L'Enfant when they laid out the federal city in 1792. They purposed to have the president's house and the capitol reciprocally close to the long vista formed by Pennsylvania avenue, and they also laid out a parklike connection between the two great buildings. The plans for the house, selected by Washington and Jefferson as the result of a competition in which L'Enfant took part, were drawn by James Hoban, a native of Dublin and a medal man of the Society of Arts of that city.

Disraeli as a Dandy.

At the age of nineteen Benjamin Disraeli is described as wearing a black velvet suit with ruffles and black stockings with red clocks. A later portrait, in 1830, comes from a friend's diary, which has the following entry:

"March 29.—B. D. to dine with me. He came up Regent street when it was crowded in his blue surtout, a pair of military light blue trousers, black stockings with red stripes and shoes. The people," he said, 'quite made way for me as I passed. It was like the opening of the Red sea, which I now perfectly believe from experience. Even well dressed people stopped to look at me.'"

FATHER SEEKS TO GATHER CHILDREN

An interesting Greene county fight for the custody, care and control of three children will be taken up before Judge Hasbrouck at the next regular special term of the supreme court in this city on Saturday, June 3, an order having been granted by Judge Hasbrouck today to show cause why the custody of the three children involved should not be awarded to their father, Irving W. Persons, a farmer of the town of Jewett, who has instituted the proceedings for their recovery.

Anderson Persons, one of the children, is now in the custody of Eugene Ballou of Hunter; Florence, another child, is living with George Harrington at Hunter, and Leonard, the third child, is being cared for by Charles Peats of Hensonville. The three custodians mentioned are made defendants in the proceedings, as well as Melvin Stewart, who is a representative of the Greene County Humane Society.

According to Persons's affidavit, he and his wife were married on April 18, 1911, and lived together until January of this year. Last November, he says, he was residing in the town of Windham, on a farm purchased under contract, he and his family occupying part of the farm house and his father and his family occupying the other part of the house. In November, he says, his mother-in-law, Rachel Brandow, came to visit him, and when he undertook to correct his little boy, Leonard, his wife and mother-in-law interfered, their interference resulting in a quarrel as a result of which his wife left him and the children without just cause or provocation. Immediately afterwards, he says, there were rumors that he had ill-treated his wife and the children, one of the rumors being to the effect that he had compelled one of the children to keep soap in her mouth until the mouth became inflamed and sore. He denies all these rumors, and asserts that he is kind and gentle and an entirely proper person to care for the children.

The rumors were brought to the attention of the Humane Society at its office in Albany and also in New York, according to the statement made to him by Melvin Stewart, who represents the Greene County Humane Society, who offered to place the children in homes nearby. Persons says he gave up the custody of the three children who were placed in the homes of the three men mentioned, but his subsequent demands that they be restored to him have been refused and therefore he has brought the present proceeding.

Accompanying the Persons affidavit are affidavits of his brother, Dr. Alfred O Persons, who resides at Nineveh, Chenango county; Dr. Sidney L Ford of Hensonville, Rev. P. A. Perkins of Big Hollow; Clarence E., Helen, Thomas and Virgne Brochett; Irving Mallory; Shirley A. and Anna Conine; Frank D. and Elizabeth Waterman; Earl W Fisher; Neilie, Florence, Luella, Mildred and George Persons and Alice Rohrs, all of whom state that he is a proper person to have the care, custody and control of the children. O'Connor & O'Connor of Hobart are attorneys for Persons.

M. W. SAVAGE.

SAVAGE A BIG FIGURE IN HARNESS HORSE GAME.

M. W. Savage, owner of Dan Patch, the world's champion pacer, whose record a mile in 1:55 still stands, is one of the largest figures in the harness game (harness racing game) and has done much to keep the trotting and pacing sport up to the mark.

Mr. Savage maintains a large stock farm at Minneapolis, Miss., where at present he has 250 standard and registered trotters and pacers of all ages. These include stallions, mares, colts and fillies. Mr. Savage estimates that he has $300,000 invested in horse flesh on his farm, which itself, with the building, is valued at $200,000.

Outside of Dan Patch, Minor Heir and George Gano, the last two being the champion pacing team of the world, Mr. Savage has never paid a high price for his horses. He did pay $22,000 for Creceus 2:02¾ and afterwards sold him to the Russians for something over this amount. He also owns the famous trotting stallion Arion 2:07¾, which once sold for $125,000, the largest price ever paid for a harness horse, but Mr. Savage did not pay anything near that amount for him. Arion was the world's champion two year old trotter twenty-five years ago, trotting a mile in 2:10¾ as a two year old to a high sulky. He is still alive, in pretty fair condition and can do a mile in fair time although he is 27 years old.

Stamp Collecting.

In 1847 the island of Mauritius issued two varieties of stamps—one in red at a penny, the other blue at twopence. Of these only some twenty or so are known to be in existence, and within recent years two pairs of red and blue sold respectively for £680 and £1,921. Stamp collecting is necessarily a modern hobby, and it would be difficult now to trace it to its source. Some say that the hobby was of English origin and spread to the continent; others declare that it came to us from Belgium. The first note on the subject in Notes and Queries appeared in June, 1860, when Mr. Cresswell, a Tunbridge schoolmaster, communicating—as something new—the fact that a boy in his form had collected between 300 and 400 different specimens. In 1864 a provincial paper referred laughingly to a collector who advertised his collection for sale at £200, adding, "We only wish he may get it."—London Standard.

BRITISH RECORD OFFICE.

It Has Twenty-five Miles of Shelves Packed With Documents.

Unknown to the millions who pass through the city of London every week, a work of unparalleled magnitude at what is known as the public record office in Chancery lane has been going on for a number of years. In this office there are twenty-five miles of shelves, all full of historical material, going back through the centuries as far as "Domesday Book."

It costs over £26,000 ($130,000) a year to keep up the record office, the keeper of the records being the master of the rolls. The office was established by the public records act in 1838, and the records were taken there from the Tower, the Chapter House, Westminster, the Rolls chapel and elsewhere. Ever since that time the office has been constantly receiving accretions from the law courts, the government departments and various other quarters.

All sorts of records are kept, legal, historical, genealogical, statistical, and so varied are the contents of the office that antiquarian research of almost every kind can be made. There you will find the records of the star chamber and the old wards and liveries. State papers, domestic, colonial and foreign, formerly preserved in the state paper office in Whitehall, are also to be seen there. Usually fifty or sixty students are seen working in the record office every day, and at any time there is the fascinating thought that one of them may make some interesting discovery.—London Tit-Bits.

At the age of nineteen Benjamin Disraeli is described as wearing a black velvet suit with ruffles and black stockings with red clocks. A later portrait, in 1830, comes from a friend's diary, which has the following entry:

"March 29.—B. D. to dine with me. He came up Regent street when it was crowded in his blue surtout, a pair of military light blue trousers, black stockings with red stripes and shoes. 'The people,' he said, 'quite made way for me as I passed. It was like the opening of the Red sea, which I now perfectly believe from experience. Even well dressed people stopped to look at me.'"

FATHER SEEKS TO GATHER CHILDREN

An interesting Greene county fight for the custody, care and control of three children will be taken up before Judge Hasbrouck at the next regular special term of the supreme court in this city on Saturday, June 3, an order having been granted by Judge Hasbrouck today to show cause why the custody of the three children involved should not be awarded to their father, Irving W. Persons, a farmer of the town of Jewett, who has instituted the proceedings for their recovery.

Anderson Persons, one of the children, is now in the custody of Eugene Ballou of Hunter; Florence, another child, is living with George Harrington at Hunter, and Leonard, the third child, is being cared for by Charles Peats of Hensonville. The three custodians mentioned are made defendants in the proceedings, as well as Melvin Stewart, who is a representative of the Greene County Humane Society.

According to Persons's affidavit, he and his wife were married on April 18, 1911, and lived together until January of this year. Last November, he says, he was residing in the town of Windham, on a farm purchased under contract, he and his family occupying part of the farm house and his father and his family occupying the other part of the house. In November, he says, his mother-in-law, Rachel Brandow, came to visit him, and when he undertook to correct his little boy, Leonard, his wife and mother-in-law interfered, their interference resulting in a quarrel as a result of which his wife left him and the children without just cause or provocation. Immediately afterwards, he says, there were rumors that he had illtreated his wife and the children, one of the rumors being to the effect that he had compelled one of the children to keep soap in her mouth until the mouth became inflamed and sore. He denies all these rumors, and asserts that he is kind and gentle and an entirely proper person to care for the children.

The rumors were brought to the attention of the Humane Society at its office in Albany and also in New York, according to the statement made to him by Melvin Stewart, who represents the Greene County Humane Society, who offered to place the children in homes nearby. Persons says he gave up the custody of the three children who were placed in the homes of the three men mentioned, but his subsequent demands that they be restored to him have been refused and therefore he has brought the present proceeding.

Accompanying the Persons affidavit are affidavits of his brother, Dr. Alfred O. Persons, who resides at Nineveh, Chenango county; Dr. Sidney L. Ford of Hensonville, Rev. P. A. Perkins of Big Hollow; Clarence E., Helen, Thomas and Virgne Brochett; Irving Mallory; Shirley A. and Anna Conine; Frank D. and Elizabeth Waterman; Earl W. Fisher; Nellie, Florence, Luella, Mildred and George Persons and Alice Rohrs, all of whom state that he is a proper person to have the care, custody and control of the children. O'Connor & O'Connor of Hobart are attorneys for Persons.

M. W. SAVAGE.

SAVAGE A BIG FIGURE IN HARNESS HORSE GAME.

M. W. Savage, owner of Dan Patch, the world's champion pacer, whose record a mile in 1:55 still stands, is one of the largest figures in the harness game (harness racing game) and has done much to keep the trotting and pacing sport up to the mark.

Mr. Savage maintains a large stock farm at Minneapolis, Miss., where at present he has 250 standard and registered trotters and pacers of all ages. These include stallions, mares, colts and fillies. Mr. Savage estimates that he has $300,000 invested in horse flesh on his farm, which itself, with the building, is valued at $200,000.

Outside of Dan Patch, Minor Heir and George Gano, the last two being the champion pacing team of the world, Mr. Savage has never paid a high price for his horses. He did pay $22,000 for Creceus 2:02¼ and afterwards sold him to the Russians for something over this amount. He also owns the famous trotting stallion Arion 2:07¾, which once sold for $125,000, the largest price ever paid for a harness horse, but Mr. Savage did not pay anything near that amount for him. Arion was the world's champion two year old trotter twenty-five years ago, trotting a mile in 2:10¾ as a two year old to a high sulky. He is still alive, in pretty fair condition and can do a mile in fair time although he is 27 years old.

During the absence of Organist S. D. Scudder, Jr., Harold Elmendorf of Kingston will play the organ at Trinity Episcopal Church on Sunday.

The steamer Ursula will have an excursion to Kingston Point on Tuesday evening, May 30, leaving Saugerties creek at 7:30 o'clock.

The senior class play entitled "An American Bride" will be given in Assembly Hall this evening.

D. N. Finger, Morris Schoenfeld, E. C. Reed, C. F. Suderly, Benjamin Rowe and John A. Snyder of this vilage were Kingston visitors on Thursday.

Stamp Collecting.

In 1847 the island of Mauritius issued two varieties of stamps—one in red at a penny, the other blue at twopence. Of these only some twenty or so are known to be in existence, and within recent years two pairs of red and blue sold respectively for £680 and £1,921. Stamp collecting is necessarily a modern hobby, and it would be difficult now to trace it to its source. Some say that the hobby was of English origin and spread to the continent; others declare that it came to us from Belgium. The first note on the subject in Notes and Queries appeared in June, 1860, when Mr. Cresswell, a Tunbridge schoolmaster, communicating—as something new—the fact that a boy in his form had collected between 300 and 400 different specimens. In 1864 a provincial paper referred laughingly to a collector who advertised his collection for sale at £200, adding, "We only wish he may get it."—London Standard.

It Has Twenty-five Miles of Shelves Packed With Documents.

Unknown to the millions who pass through the city of London every week, a work of unparalleled magnitude at what is known as the public record office in Chancery lane has been going on for a number of years. In this office there are twenty-five miles of shelves, all full of historical material, going back through the centuries as far as "Domesday Book."

It costs over £26,000 ($130,000) a year to keep up the record office, the keeper of the records being the master of the rolls. The office was established by the public records act in 1838, and the records were taken there from the Tower, the Chapter House, Westminster, the Rolls chapel and elsewhere. Ever since that time the office has been constantly receiving accretions from the law courts, the government departments and various other quarters.

All sorts of records are kept, legal, historical, genealogical, statistical, and so varied are the contents of the office that antiquarian research of almost every kind can be made. There you will find the records of the star chamber and the old wards and liveries. State papers, domestic, colonial and foreign, formerly preserved in the state paper office in Whitehall, are also to be seen there. Usually fifty or sixty students are seen working in the record office every day, and at any time there is the fascinating thought that one of them may make some interesting discovery.—London Tit-Bits.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

Friday morning's assembly was greatly enlivened by a very interesting address from the Rev. Mr. Haynes, whom the students are well acquainted with as a veteran of the Civil war. Mr. Haynes after impressing the students with his words about the excellent good feeling that exists between the soldiers of the north and those of the south, went on to narrate a very interesting and humorous war story.

Moonlight Sail.

The junior's moonlight sail is now practically a certainty. The committee in charge has made all necessary preparations, and the tickets are now being distributed among the members of the Junior class and the Senior class in whose honor the sail is being given. Several members of the faculty will be asked as guests and chaperones and all that is needed to make this event of the ninth of June a huge success is clear weather and a mellow moon. The two upper classes of the high school are this year much larger than any previous classes in Kingston's schools, and for this reason the juniors have taken extra precaution against a crowded boat. Although every one in the two upper classes is entitled to take a friend, the tickets that are being given out are absolutely not transferable.

Senior Minstrels.

The senior class of '16 have not made as glowing a record in regard to finances as the class of '17. So the rule of no entertainments after May 1st is to be set aside, to give them an opportunity to make money by presenting a minstrel show on the 16th of June. Its management will be in charge of Sherman Hasbrouck, who will also act as interlocutor, and there will be a novel feature in that the end men will consist of two boys and two girls, who are Raymond Terwilliger, John Church, Ruth Humphrey, and Helen Wood. The seniors plan to charge an admission of 15 cents.

Parade Plans.

The students of the high school seem greatly enthused over the coming Memorial Day parade, and are sparing no pains to be sure that they do their part. All the fellows have twice been gathered together at the armory to receive useful helps on their marching order from Captain Meagher, and the sergeants. Also the juniors have gone farther, and have twice drilled themselves in the school gymnasium. All the fellows will meet and line up at the high school at nine o'clock on Memorial Day.

Midgets to Play Saugerties.

Saturday afternoon the Midget baseball team will play the Saugerties high school Midgets. A fast game is expected, and it will be played on the athletic field at 2:30, unless the Varsity succeeds in scheduling a game for this date between now and Saturday. If the Varsity have the field the Midgets will play on the Andrew street grounds.

HOME TRAINING NEEDED.

Unjust to Expect the Schools to Do Everything.

The destruction of shrubbery by children last week in the upper part of the city is only a repetition of lawlessness that daily occurs to which the citizens of Kingston have long and too quietly submitted. To quote from the article on "Young Vandals" in The Freeman of Thursday last, it is certainly time there should be some protection from such acts as despoil private and public property. The writer of the article herein quoted further says: "The trouble seems to be an absolute disregard on the part of children for the rights of others" and suggests that because they are not taught by their parents to know the "important difference between mine and thine" it be made an educational work and taken up by the schools in the city. The question now arises on whom rests the responsibility of training children for good citizenship—on the parents or teacher? The aim of the public school has always been to inculcate in the child the first principles of good citizenship but without the co-operation of the parents the teacher is powerless to achieve results that are satisfactory.

It is the right of every child to demand a good home training where it shall be taught its first lessons in obedience and how to respect the rights of others. When parents shift this responsibility and leave it solely to the public school they are depriving the child of one of its most sacred rights and at the same time imposing on the teacher a demand which is unjust and absolutely impossible to accomplish.

Unique Recital to be Given.

The ladies of the Circles of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rondout Presbyterian Church are planning to give in the chapel of the church on Friday evening, June 23, a most delightful and unique piano recital. Those giving the recital will be Miss Ida Marie Bunting, who will in June graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music, and her classmate, Miss Mary Katherine Glenn of Spokane, Washington. Already the music loving public of Kingston realize that Miss Bunting is an artist of exceptional ability and Miss Glenn is said to be remarkably artistic as a piano soloist. There will be a group of two piano numbers, a form of music all too seldom heard in this city, and a group of solos by each artist, making a particularly fine program. A small admission will be charged.

Motions Denied.

Judge Hasbrouck has decided the motions recently made before him in the Sullivan county actions brought by the Hagedorn Merz Company against John J. Burns and the Katz Underwear Company against John J. Burns, to strike out parts of the defendant's answers and for judgment on the pleadings, the motions in each instance being denied. John D. Lyons appeared for the plaintiffs and the motion; Arthur C. Kyle appeared for the defendant and opposed.

Bridgeport a Lodestone.

According to a Poughkeepsie newspaper, forty Rhinebeck men have gone to work in the Bridgeport munition plants. It is claimed they earn $7 but are oblized to sleep in tents, cooking their own meals.

Circular Boats.

Still used to a considerable extent, circular boats in the Tigris may be seen at Bagdad, just as they appeared 2,000 years ago, when Herodotus wrote: "The boats which come down the river to Babylon are circular and made of skins. The frames, which are of willow, are cut in the country of the Armenians above Assyria, and on these, which serve for hulls, a covering of skins is stretched outside, and thus the boats are made, without either stem or stern, quite round, like a shield. They are then entirely filled with straw, and their cargo is put on board, after which they are suffered to float down the stream. Their chief freight is wine, stored in casks made of the wood of the palm tree. They are managed by two men, who stand upright in them, each plying an oar, one pulling and the other pushing. The boats are of various sizes, some larger, some smaller. The biggest reach as high as 5,000 talents' burthen. Each vessel has a live ass on board. Those of larger size have more than one."

Apple Peddlers of New York City.

On the east side of New York city, on Ludlow street, south of Grand, is the wholesale market of the apple peddlers. Here there is an animated scene—men wildly shouting and gesticulating, sidewalks crowded with forests of apple barrels. It is almost impossible to pass along even in the street for the dozens of peddlers' carts lined up there. Suddenly there is a commotion, and a crowd gathers at the curb. A barrel of apples is on sale, bids rise at a penny a bid, and finally the highest bidder carries off his prize. Everywhere are barrels overflowing with cheerful red and yellow apples which the peddlers will carry off to peddle in other parts of the city. The wholesale apple dealers rent basements along this street in which to store their wares. In the morning they bring out and strew the barrels all over the narrow, dingy stretch of Ludlow street.

Divorces Are Costly In Canada.

Canada's divorce court is never entered except by members of the wealthy class and not frequently by them. Only four to six divorces are granted in Canada annually.

There is no record of a poor man ever getting a divorce in the Dominion, it is said. The average cost of a divorce in Canada is $2,000, and the decree is granted for only one offense—marital infidelity.

The legislature at Ottawa appoints a divorce committee each session, and all cases are settled by this committee. There is no appeal in a divorce action. Those living in the western part of the Dominion have to pay much more for a decree than those living in the east because of the heavier traveling expenses.—Detroit Tribune.

Dropped In on the Bears.

Some years back a visitor dropped in on the bears at the zoological gardens. A hat fell into the pit, and its owner at once jumped in after it. He alighted on a bear who was enjoying a doze in the sun. The bear made him welcome. It seized him by the shoulder and waltzed him round and round. Luckily the visitor kept his feet until a keeper opened a side door and pulled him into safety. But the hat was left behind. On the following day the man sent to the society a letter in which he claimed the cost of a new hat.—London Tatler.

He Had Some Conceit.

"How did you come out?" asked his friend. "Will she have you?"

"Her answer," replied the diplomatic attache, "is partially satisfactory; enough so to continue negotiations. She says if she ever does marry it will be a man of good looks, courage and ability."—Judge.

Some Decline.

Optimist—Greece? Why, Greece produced a Homer! Pessimist—And today couldn't produce a base on balls.—Albany Argus.

Matchmaking In Roumania.

In Roumania once every year is a fair of marriageable girls. The girl, with her relations, gets into a wagon, which also contains her dowry—linen, furniture and household matters—and all set off for the fair. When they arrive the girls are drawn up in one line and the men in another, with their parents behind them. Then if a young man likes the look of any particular girl he talks to her while the parents compare notes as to their possessions and their circumstances in life. If all is found satisfactory there's a marriage at once, and the bride is driven away by her husband to her new home.—Exchange.

Beauty and the Beast.

A well known churchman was visiting New York, accompanied by his wife, who is as beautiful as her life mate is homely. They were walking down Broadway one afternoon, and the pair attracted much attention. One of two young "sports," evidently thinking to attract the favorable attention of the churchman's wife, in an audible aside remarked that it was another case of "the beauty and the beast." Quick as a wink the husband turned and, as he swung his right to the speaker's jaw, scoring a knockout, said, "I am a man of peace, but I never allow any one to call my wife a beast."

Help the Children.

There is nothing in all the world so important as children, nothing so interesting. If you ever wish to go in for some philanthropy, if you ever wish to be of any real use in the world, do something for children. If you ever yearn to be truly wise, study children. We can dress the sore, bandage the wounded, imprison the criminal, heal the sick and bury the dead, but there is always a chance that we can save a child. If the great army of philanthropists ever exterminate sin and pestilence, ever work out our race's salvation, it will certainly be because a little child has led them.—David Starr Jordan.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

Friday morning's assembly was greatly enlivened by a very interesting address from the Rev. Mr. Haynes, whom the students are well acquainted with as a veteran of the Civil war. Mr. Haynes after impressing the students with his words about the excellent good feeling that exists between the soldiers of the north and those of the south, went on to narrate a very interesting and humorous war story.

Moonlight Sail.

The junior's moonlight sail is now practically a certainty. The committee in charge has made all necessary preparations, and the tickets are now being distributed among the members of the Junior class and the Senior class in whose honor the sail is being given. Several members of the faculty will be asked as guests and chaperones and all that is needed to make this event of the ninth of June a huge success is clear weather and a mellow moon. The two upper classes of the high school are this year much larger than any previous classes in Kingston's schools, and for this reason the juniors have taken extra precaution against a crowded boat. Although every one in the two upper classes is entitled to take a friend, the tickets that are being given out are absolutely not transferable.

Senior Minstrels.

The senior class of '16 have not made as glowing a record in regard to finances as the class of '17. So the rule of no entertainments after May 1st is to be set aside, to give them an opportunity to make money by presenting a minstrel show on the 16th of June. Its management will be in charge of Sherman Hasbrouck, who will also act as interlocutor, and there will be a novel feature in that the end men will consist of two boys and two girls, who are Raymond Terwilliger, John Church, Ruth Humphrey, and Helen Wood. The seniors plan to charge an admission of 15 cents.

Parade Plans.

The students of the high school seem greatly enthused over the coming Memorial Day parade, and are sparing no pains to be sure that they do their part. All the fellows have twice been gathered together at the armory to receive useful helps on their marching order from Captain Meagher, and the sergeants. Also the juniors have gone farther, and have twice drilled themselves in the school gymnasium. All the fellows will meet and line up at the high school at nine o'clock on Memorial Day.

Midgets to Play Saugerties.

Saturday afternoon the Midget baseball team will play the Saugerties high school Midgets. A fast game is expected, and it will be played on the athletic field at 2:30, unless the Varsity succeeds in scheduling a game for this date between now and Saturday. If the Varsity have the field the Midgets will play on the Andrew street grounds.

HOME TRAINING NEEDED.

Unjust to Expect the Schools to Do Everything.

The destruction of shrubbery by children last week in the upper part of the city is only a repetition of lawlessness that daily occurs to which the citizens of Kingston have long and too quietly submitted. To quote from the article on "Young Vandals" in The Freeman of Thursday last, it is certainly time there should be some protection from such acts as despoil private and public property. The writer of the article herein quoted further says: "The trouble seems to be an absolute disregard on the part of children for the rights of others" and suggests that because they are not taught by their parents to know the "important difference between mine and thine" it be made an educational work and taken up by the schools in the city. The question now arises on whom rests the responsibility of training children for good citizenship—on the parents or teacher? The aim of the public school has always been to inculcate in the child the first principles of good citizenship but without the co-operation of the parents the teacher is powerless to achieve results that are satisiactory.

It is the right of every child to demand a good home training where it shall be taught its first lessons in obedience and how to respect the rights of others. When parents shift this responsibility and leave it solely to the public school they are depriving the child of one of its most sacred rights and at the same time imposing on the teacher a demand which is unjust and absolutely impossible to accomplish.

Unique Recital to be Given.

The ladies of the Circles of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rondout Presbyterian Church are planning to give in the chapel of the church on Friday evening, June 23, a most delightful and unique piano recital. Those giving the recital will be Miss Ida Marie Bunting, who will in June graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music, and her classmate, Miss Mary Katherine Glenn of Spokane, Washington. Already the music loving public of Kingston realize that Miss Bunting is an artist of exceptional ability and Miss Glenn is said to be remarkably artistic as a piano soloist. There will be a group of two piano numbers, a form of music all too seldom heard in this city, and a group of solos by each artist, making a particularly fine program. A small admission will be charged.

Motions Denied.

Judge Hasbrouck has decided the motions recently made before him in the Sullivan county actions brought by the Hagedorn Merz Company against John J. Burns and the Katz Underwear Company against John J. Burns, to strike out parts of the defendant's answers and for judgment on the pleadings, the motions in each instance being denied. John D. Lyons appeared for the plaintiffs and the motion; Arthur C. Kyle appeared for the defendant and opposed.

Bridgeport a Lodestone.

According to a Poughkeepsie newspaper, forty Rhinebeck men have gone to work in the Bridgeport munition plants. It is claimed they earn $7 but are obliged to sleep in tents, cooking their own meals.

Circular Boats.

Still used to a considerable extent, circular boats in the Tigris may be seen at Bagdad, just as they appeared 2,000 years ago, when Herodotus wrote: "The boats which come down the river to Babylon are circular and made of skins. The frames, which are of willow, are cut in the country of the Armenians above Assyria, and on these, which serve for hulls, a covering of skins is stretched outside, and thus the boats are made, without either stem or stern, quite round, like a shield. They are then entirely filled with straw, and their cargo is put on board, after which they are suffered to float down the stream. Their chief freight is wine, stored in casks made of the wood of the palm tree. They are managed by two men, who stand upright in them, each plying an oar, one pulling and the other pushing. The boats are of various sizes, some larger, some smaller. The biggest reach as high as 5,000 talents' burthen. Each vessel has a live ass on board. Those of larger size have more than one."

Apple Peddlers of New York City.

On the east side af New York city, on Ludlow street, south of Grand, is the wholesale market of the apple peddlers. Here there is an animated scene—men wildly shouting and gesticulating, sidewalks crowded with forests of apple barrels. It is almost impossible to pass along even in the street for the dozens of peddlers' carts lined up there. Suddenly there is a commotion, and a crowd gathers at the curb. A barrel of apples is on sale, bids rise at a penny a bid, and finally the highest bidder carries off his prize. Everywhere are barrels overflowing with cheerful red and yellow apples which the peddlers will carry off to peddle in other parts of the city. The wholesale apple dealers rent basements along this street in which to store their wares. In the morning they bring out and strew the barrels all over the narrow, dingy stretch of Ludlow street.

Divorces Are Costly In Canada.

Canada's divorce court is never entered except by members of the wealthy class and not frequently by them. Only four to six divorces are granted in Canada annually.

There is no record of a poor man ever getting a divorce in the Dominion, it is said. The average cost of a divorce in Canada is $2,000, and the decree is granted for only one offense—marital infidelity.

The legislature at Ottawa appoints a divorce committee each session, and all cases are settled by this committee. There is no appeal in a divorce action. Those living in the western part of the Dominion have to pay much more for a decree than those living in the east because of the heavier traveling expenses.—Detroit Tribune.

Dropped In on the Bears.

Some years back a visitor dropped in on the bears at the zoological gardens. A hat fell into the pit, and its owner at once jumped in after it. He alighted on a bear who was enjoying a doze in the sun. The bear made him welcome. It seized him by the shoulder and waltzed him round and round. Luckily the visitor kept his feet until a keeper opened a side door and pulled him into safety. But the hat was left behind. On the following day the man sent to the society a letter in which he claimed the cost of a new hat.—London Tatler.

He Had Some Conceit.

"How did you come out?" asked his friend. "Will she have you?"

"Her answer," replied the diplomatic attache, "is partially satisfactory; enough so to continue negotiations. She says if she ever does marry it will be a man of good looks, courage and ability."—Judge.

Matchmaking In Roumania.

In Roumania once every year is a fair of marriageable girls. The girl, with her relations, gets into a wagon, which also contains her dowry—linen, furniture and household matters—and all set off for the fair. When they arrive the girls are drawn up in one line and the men in another, with their parents behind them. Then if a young man likes the look of any particular girl he talks to her while the parents compare notes as to their possessions and their circumstances in life. If all is found satisfactory there's a marriage at once, and the bride is driven away by her husband to her new home.—Exchange.

Beauty and the Beast.

A well known churchman was visiting New York, accompanied by his wife, who is as beautiful as her life mate is homely. They were walking down Broadway one afternoon, and the pair attracted much attention. One of two young "sports," evidently thinking to attract the favorable attention of the churchman's wife, in an audible aside remarked that it was another case of "the beauty and the beast." Quick as a wink the husband turned and, as he swung his right to the speaker's jaw, scoring a knockout, said, "I am a man of peace, but I never allow any one to call my wife a beast."

Help the Children.

There is nothing in all the world so important as children, nothing so interesting. If you ever wish to go in for some philanthropy, if you ever wish to be of any real use in the world, do something for children. If you ever yearn to be truly wise, study children. We can dress the sore, bandage the wounded, imprison the criminal, heal the sick and bury the dead, but there is always a chance that we can save a child. If the great army of philanthropists ever exterminate sin and pestilence, ever work out our race's salvation, it will certainly be because a little child has led them.—David Starr Jordan.

AN ASHOKAN APPLE TREE.

Its Loss Causes Owner to Sue Telephone Company.

When court convened this morning the case of Henry C. Elmendorf of Ashokan against the New York Telephone Company was taken up. The action is brought to recover damage to his property from the construction of a telephone line and the destruction of an apple tree upon the premises.

Mr. Elmendorf owns property at Ashokan which he has laid out into building lots and he claims that the value of his property was lessened by the construction of the line. Mr. Elmendorf and several telephone employes testified during the morning. F. W. Brooks appeared for Mr. Elmendorf while the telephone company was represented by Attorney D. G. Atkins.

Roxmor Inn Is Open.

Roxmor Inn in the Woodland Valley opened for its eighteenth season today, prepared to accommodate automobile parties, especially those driving around the Ashokan reservoir, inasmuch as this resort is but nine miles from the boulevard. Kingston business men who read this announcement will remember the delicious beefsteak prepared and served at Roxmor. Athough the weather has been anything but encouraging it is expected that this year will be one of the most successful which the hostelry has enjoyed. Kingston folks may reach this delightful spot by motoring a mile above Phoenicia on the state road, then diverging south on the Woodland road.

Miss Herbert, of the Kingston City Library, and Miss Noone, of the Kingston high school, are in New York today to attend the Shakespearean performance tonight. They will remain over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and cousin, Miss Lillian Patterson, of 154 Henry street have returned from New York where they were attending the graduating exercises of the training school for nurses at St. Vincent's Hospital, West New Brighton, their daughter, Miss Georgia Smith, being agraduate. Her many friends in Kingston will be pleased to learn of her grand success as she graduated with high honors, being valedictorian.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Captain William H. Morgan of Glasco died in the Kingston City Hospital on Thursday morning. Heart trouble caused his death.

Mrs. Sadie Mead Sears, wife of Roger W. Sears, treasurer of Sullivan county, died Wednesday night at her home in Liberty, aged 59 years. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home in Liberty.

Frank Johnson, aged 75 years, died in this city on Thursday, May 24 Mr. Johnson had been in the west for some time and came to this city a short time ago. Mr. Johnson is survived my two sons, Jacob J., and Arthur, both of this city. Funeral will be held from the undertaking parlors of W. N. Conner on Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock with interment at Pine Hill.

The Rev. Father John J. Boyle of 623 East 138th street, rector of St. Luke's Church, New York city, died suddenly Thursday from heart disease, with which he was stricken while lunching with Father Michael J. Daily. He was born in Rondout, N. Y., and after receiving his training at St. Joseph's Seminary in Troy, N. Y., was ordained a priest thirty-one years ago. Father Boyle had been attached to St. Luke's as rector for the last nineteen years. One brother survives him.

Mrs. Theodore Westlake died on Thursday at the home of her son, Justice of the Peace Walton P. Westlake, in Middle Hope, following a long illness. Mrs. Westlake lacked one month of reaching her eighty-first birthday. She was a native of Lattingtown, Ulster county, but has lived in Middle Hope since her marriage in 1860. Besides Mr. Westlake she is survived by another son, Alfred T. Westlake, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith A. Cromwell, wife of D. B. Cromwell, formerly of Newburgh, but now of Middle Hope. In addition to her children, a brother, the Rev. W. H. Barnhart, of Buffalo, and two sisters, Mrs. Louise B. Geroe and Mrs. W. M. Fancher of Ossining survive her, these two being the remaining members of a family of 15. Funeral services will be held in Justice Westlake's home on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A regular monthly meeting of Immanuel Young Men's Society of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the school hall conected with the church. Members are urged to bring their money barrels for the jubilee fund.

THEY SAY.

As a man who had been up late last night came down Wall street this morning he stopped near the corner of John street, rubbed his eyes and then fled up the street to seek consolation, or advice from the family physician, for directly in his path on the sidewalk lay a gigantic turtle. However the individual's eyesight is not affected or was he "seeing things," it was simply the big turtle from the Mohican Store out taking its daily walk after having received a bath from several pails of water. A strange thing is that whenever the turtle is allowed its freedom it turns its head toward Rondout and one person who has had experience in the turtle line stated that a turtle always, when allowed its freedom, heads for the largest body of water in the vicinity, however it might in this case have been headed towards its former home in the Atlantic ocean at Baltimore by way of the Port Ewen bridge. At the time this advice was given the man was also facing Rondout and it may that individuals also have some of the traits of a turtle and when allowed their freedom, also face about to the wettest spot in the neighborhood.

A "hoss" deal has just been consummated between a well known local politician and a friend, whereby a horse for which the politician had been "dickering" for a long time finally passed into his possession, and thereby hangs a tale. It seems that for several months the politician has been endeavoring to purchase the horse at what he considered a "right price" and he made several offers for the animal. Since then much time has been spent in "dickering" until the other day the owner of the horse called up the politician and told him the horse was his at the last figure made. The politician immediately accepted the offer and sent the owner his check. Time passed and the politician after waiting patiently for the arrival of the horse, called up the former owner and asked him why he had not received the animal yet. He was advised to get in touch with the young man who had charge of the horse, and did so. The politician after much telephoning got the young man "on the 'phone" and asked him when he expected to deliver the horse, and received the startling reply "Well boss I has been waiting for you to send a wagon here after him." It is hardly necessary to add that during the time consumed in "dickering" for the purchase of the animal the horse had died, and when the deal was closed, the horse had been dead for several hours. It is understood that the joke on the politician in making the "hoss" deal is just reaching the ears of his friends.

AEROPLANE PROGRESS.

Boat Body Machines Do Not Rake the Air Like Harrows.

The one unmistakable improvement which has been adopted for aeroplanes is a boatlike body in which the aviator sits. No longer does he perch on the lower wing of a biplane and watch the earth drift back between his legs. The boat body was adopted not to spare his emotions or shield his body from the wind, but to enable the machine to plow on with the least possible disturbance of the air. Each plane, each strut, each projection, leaves a wake of its own. A single wake, which marks the easy flowing together of air behind a single body, is better. The modern aeroplane approaches this ideal; the old machine raked the air like a harrow.

That change in form we owe to the scientist and his laboratory. He measured the resisting effect of wires vibrating in the wind, of braces, of fuel tanks, of radiators and of human legs and arms. He found that the sum total was enormous. The aeroplane builder was compelled to abandon his cherished idea that to obtain speed as little surface and bulk as possible should be exposed. He has learned from the scientist that a large correctly designed bulk inclosing passengers, engines, steering wheels and tanks slips through the air more easily than an aggregation of small irregular shapes widely scattered. —Waldemar Kaempffert in American Review of Reviews.

Friendship.

In the hour of distress and misery the eye of every mortal turns to friendship. In the hour of gladness and conviviality, what is our want? It is friendship.—W. S. Landor.

Courage.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 26.—Although some gains were made at the opening when the market showed a flash of strength, stocks were supplied at concessions after the first transactions and during the first fifteen minutes a sagging tendency prevailed. Reading, which was regarded as the market leader, advanced a point to 103⅛ and then dropped to 102⅝. Northern Pacific gained ⅛ to 114, while Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific, Erie and and Chesapeake and Ohio sustained fractional losses. Similar recessions after initial upturns were noted in all the other active issues, but a few stocks failed to show any improvement at the start. Marine common advanced ⅛ to 25⅛, while the preferred, after opening ¼ higher at 93½, dropped to 92½. Studebaker was the weakest feature and after opening ½ higher at 141¼ dropped to 139½. American Smelting receded a point to 100 and fractional declines were noted in many of the other copper stocks. Steel Common opened ½ higher at 86 and then declined to 85⅝. As the first half hour ended, a better tone developed and a good demand forced prices of many issues up substantially. Reading rallied to 103, a net gain of ⅞ over yesterday's close.

Stocks were offered in large blocks in the late forenoon and as a result sharp declines were noted in many issues. The heaviest selling of this character was in Marine preferred, which dropped to 92¾, and Industrial Alcohol which declined 159½. Reading fluctuated over a wide range selling as high as 104⅛, then declining to 103¼, and then rallying to 103⅝. Studebaker dropped to 138¼, and Baldwin to 88⅝. Tennessee Copper was weak and declined 1⅝ to 43⅛. American Coal Products, however, rose to 159⅞ against 158½ at the close yesterday and American Beet Sugar showed a net gain of ⅝, selling at 74¼. Money loaning at 2¼ per cent.

Business in the late afternoon was comparatively quiet with a few issues showing spurts of strength at times. Willys-Overland rose to 274½, against 270 at the close yesterday. Western Union sold at a net gain of ¾ at 96½, and American Beet Sugar scored a further fractional gain, selling at 74⅝. American Zinc, which sold at 87¼ at the end yesterday, receded to 85½. Studebaker sold at 139. Industrial Alcohol at 160 and Reading at 103.

The tone at the close was firm. Fluctuations were narrow in the last hour and generally reflected covering by room traders. Reading rose over a point and a fractional gain was made in Western Union. Other gains were small and unimportant. Railway and other bonds firm.

The Arts of Asia.

It was Asia, through Arabia, which gave Europe the literature, the arts and the sciences which we have developed and of which we now boast. Gunpowder was probably invented in China. It was certainly introduced into Europe from Arabia. The finely tempered steel of Damascus went over from Arabia at the time of the Moorish invasion of Spain, and its manufacture was continued at Toledo. The coppersmiths of Bagdad supplied the world's market with their wonderful productions centuries before there were any industries in Europe. Weaving of silk and cotton had its birth as an industry in Arabia, and the weaving of wool was learned by the crusaders in the same wonderful country. Astronomy, mathematics, the mariner's compass—all came to us from the Arabs.

Bacon and Eggs.

Margaret is a three-year-old whose parents are fond of bacon and eggs, and Margaret has her share. One day in the country she heard for the first time a hen cackle.

"Oh, mother," she exclaimed, "what does the hen say?"

"Well," her mother smiled, "I suppose she says she has laid an egg."

Margaret did not understand the simile, and after a moment's profound thought she came back again.

"And when does she say, mother," she inquired more seriously than before—"what does she say when she lays bacon?"—W. J. Lampton in Judge.

Circular.

"I see there is great activity in shipping circles of late."

"Shipping circles? What do they do that for?"

"What do they do what for?"

"Ship circles. Where do they ship them to?"

"Don't get funny. You know what I mean as well as I do."

"Oh, I get you now. You mean automobile tires."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Narrow Escape.

"Did you see my sunburst last night?" inquired the pompous Mrs. Newrich of her poorer neighbor.

"No, I didn't," said the poor neighbor caustically, "but I certainly thought he would if he ate another bite."—Ladies' Home Journal.

AN ASHOKAN APPLE TREE.

Its Loss Causes Owner to Sue Telephone Company.

When court convened this morning the case of Henry C. Elmendorf of Ashokan against the New York Telephone Company was taken up. The action is brought to recover damage to his property from the construction of a telephone line and the destruction of an apple tree upon the premises.

Mr. Elmendorf owns property at Ashokan which he has laid out into building lots and he claims that the value of his property was lessened by the construction of the line. Mr. Elmendorf and several telephone employes testified during the morning. F. W. Brooks appeared for Mr. Elmendorf while the telephone company was represented by Attorney D. G. Atkins.

Roxmor Inn Is Open.

Roxmor Inn in the Woodland Valley opened for its eighteenth season today, prepared to accommodate automobile parties, especially those driving around the Ashokan reservoir, inasmuch as this resort is but nine miles from the boulevard. Kingston business men who read this announcement will remember the delicious beefsteak prepared and served at Roxmor. Athough the weather has been anything but encouraging it is expected that this year will be one of the most successful which the hostelry has enjoyed. Kingston folks may reach this delightful spot by motoring a mile above Phoenicia on the state road, then diverging south on the Woodland road.

Sentence Suspended.

Jacob Warheftig, indicted for violation of the excise law in selling three bottles of beer at Accord last October, pleaded guilty in county court this afternoon and sentence was suspended. Warheftig found the beer in the cellar when he took possession of the hotel.

THEY SAY.

As a man who had been up late last night came down Wall street this morning he stopped near the corner of John street, rubbed his eyes and then fled up the street to seek consolation, or advice from the family physician, for directly in his path on the sidewalk lay a gigantic turtle. However the individual's eyesight is not affected or was he "seeing things," it was simply the big turtle from the Mohican Store out taking its daily walk after having received a bath from several pails of water. A strange thing is that whenever the turtle is allowed its freedom it turns its head toward Rondout and one person who has had experience in the turtle line stated that a turtle always, when allowed its freedom, heads for the largest body of water in the vicinity, however it might in this case have been headed towards its former home in the Atlantic ocean at Baltimore by way of the Port Ewen bridge. At the time this advice was given the man was also facing Rondout and it may that individuals also have some of the traits of a turtle and when allowed their freedom, also face about to the wettest spot in the neighborhood.

A "hoss" deal has just been consummated between a well known local politician and a friend, whereby a horse for which the politician had been "dickering" for a long time finally passed into his possession, and thereby hangs a tale. It seems that for several months the politician has been endeavoring to purchase the horse at what he considered a "right price" and he made several offers for the animal. Since then much time has been spent in "dickering" until the other day the owner of the horse called up the politician and told him the horse was his at the last figure made. The politician immediately accepted the offer and sent the owner his check. Time passed and the politician after waiting patiently for the arrival of the horse, called up the former owner and asked him why he had not received the animal yet. He was advised to get in touch with the young man who had charge of the horse, and did so. The politician after much telephoning got the young man "on the 'phone" and asked him when he expected to deliver the horse, and received the startling reply "Well boss I has been waiting for you to send a wagon here after him." It is hardly necessary to add that during the time consumed in "dickering" for the purchase of the animal the horse had died, and when the deal was closed, the horse had been dead for several hours. It is understood that the joke on the politician in making the "hoss" deal is just reaching the ears of his friends.

AEROPLANE PROGRESS.

The one unmistakable improvement which has been adopted for aeroplanes is a boatlike body in which the aviator sits. No longer does he perch on the lower wing of a biplane and watch the earth drift back between his legs. The boat body was adopted not to spare his emotions or shield his body from the wind, but to enable the machine to plow on with the least possible disturbance of the air. Each plane, each strut, each projection, leaves a wake of its own. A single wake, which marks the easy flowing together of air behind a single body, is better. The modern aeroplane approaches this ideal; the old machine raked the air like a harrow.

That change in form we owe to the scientist and his laboratory. He measured the resisting effect of wires vibrating in the wind, of braces, of fuel tanks, of radiators and of human legs and arms. He found that the sum total was enormous. The aeroplane builder was compelled to abandon his cherished idea that to obtain speed as little surface and bulk as possible should be exposed. He has learned from the scientist that a large correctly designed bulk inclosing passengers, engines, steering wheels and tanks slips through the air more easily than an aggregation of small irregular shapes widely scattered. —Waldemar Kaempffert in American Review of Reviews.

Friendship.

In the hour of distress and misery the eye of every mortal turns to friendship. In the hour of gladness and conviviality, what is our want? It is friendship.—W. S. Landor.

Courage.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 26.—Although some gains were made at the opening when the market showed a flash of strength, stocks were supplied at concessions after the first transactions and during the first fifteen minutes a sagging tendency prevailed. Reading, which was regarded as the market leader, advanced a point to 103⅛ and then dropped to 102⅝. Northern Pacific gained ⅛ to 114, while Baltimore and Ohio, Union Pacific, Erie and and Chesapeake and Ohio sustained fractional losses. Similar recessions after initial upturns were noted in all the other active issues, but a few stocks failed to show any improvement at the start. Marine common advanced ⅛ to 25⅛, while the preferred, after opening ¼ higher at 93½, dropped to 92½. Studebaker was the weakest feature and after opening ½ higher at 141¼ dropped to 139½. American Smelting receded a point to 100 and fractional declines were noted in many of the other copper stocks. Steel Common opened ⅛ higher at 86 and then declined to 85⅝. As the first half hour ended, a better tone developed and a good demand forced prices of many issues up substantially. Reading rallied to 103, a net gain of ⅞ over yesterday's close.

Stocks were offered in large blocks in the late forenoon and as a result sharp declines were noted in many issues. The heaviest selling of this character was in Marine preferred, which dropped to 92¾, and Industrial Alcohol which declined 159½. Reading fluctuated over a wide range selling as high as 104⅛, then declining to 103¼, and then rallying to 103⅝. Studebaker dropped to 138¼, and Baldwin to 88⅝. Tennessee Copper was weak and declined 1⅝ to 43½. American Coal Products, however, rose to 159⅞, against 158½ at the close yesterday and American Beet Sugar showed a net gain of ⅝, selling at 74¼. Money loaning at 2¼ per cent.

Business in the late afternoon was comparatively quiet with a few issues showing spurts of strength at times. Willys-Overland rose to 274½, against 270 at the close yesterday. Western Union sold at a net gain of ¾ at 96½, and American Beet Sugar scored a further fractional gain, selling at 74⅜. American Zinc, which sold at 87¼ at the end yesterday, receded to 85½. Studebaker sold at 139. Industrial Alcohol at 160 and Reading at 103.

The tone at the close was firm. Fluctuations were narrow in the last hour and generally reflected covering by room traders. Reading rose over a point and a fractional gain was made in Western Union. Other gains were small and unimportant. Government bonds unchanged. Railway and other bonds firm.

The Arts of Asia.

It was Asia, through Arabia, which gave Europe the literature, the arts and the sciences which we have developed and of which we now boast. Gunpowder was probably invented in China. It was certainly introduced into Europe from Arabia. The finely tempered steel of Damascus went over from Arabia at the time of the Moorish invasion of Spain, and its manufacture was continued at Toledo. The coppersmiths of Bagdad supplied the world's market with their wonderful productions centuries before there were any industries in Europe. Weaving of silk and cotton had its birth as an industry in Arabia, and the weaving of wool was learned by the crusaders in the same wonderful country. Astronomy, mathematics, the mariner's compass—all came to us from the Arabs.

Bacon and Eggs.

Margaret is a three-year-old whose parents are fond of bacon and eggs, and Margaret has her share. One day in the country she heard for the first time a hen cackle.

"Oh, mother," she exclaimed, "what does the hen say?"

"Well," her mother smiled, "I suppose she says she has laid an egg."

Margaret did not understand the simile, and after a moment's profound thought she came back again.

"And when does she say, mother," she inquired more seriously than before—"what does she say when she lays bacon?"—W. J. Lampton in Judge.

"Oh, I get you now. You mean automobile tires."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Narrow Escape.

"Did you see my sunburst last night?" inquired the pompous Mrs. Newrich of her poorer neighbor.

"No, I didn't," said the poor neighbor caustically, "but I certainly thought he would if he ate another bite."—Ladies' Home Journal.

EACH ASKED TO DO HIS BIT.

Boy Scouts' Needs Pointed Out to Business Men.

It was no long distance plea made Thursday night at the telephone demonstration at the Elks' Club when Major George Chandler asked each man present to do his bit toward helping along the Boy Scouts' dance to raise funds for Camp Walton. The objects of the order and the manliness and self-reliance thus taught to boys was forcefully pointed out and it is expected that "scouting" for the ticket skirmishers will be helped materially.

SUNDAY GAME CALLED OFF

Owing to Illness of Resident Near Ball Grounds Kingston Cancels Game With Garnets—Two Games Decoration Day.

Owing to the serious illness of a resident near McVey's field on Delaware avenue, the management of the Kingston Baseball Club today cancelled the baseball game with the Garnet Club of Albany, which was scheduled for Sunday afternoon. An effort is now being made to try and play the cancelled game in Albany on Sunday instead of here.

The Kingstons are trying to arrange for a double header here on Decoration Day to be played on athletic field, and the management is in communication with some fast teams out of town to play here that day.

FIELD OF SPORTS.

Notes of Baseball, Pugilism and Other Lines of Athletics.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, May 26.—The greatest gathering of college athletes ever assembled for a track and field meeting will compete today and tomorrow in the forty-first annual tournament of the Inter-collegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America. Cornell has been made a top heavy favorite to win the meet. Leland, Stanford and Yale are expected to force the Cornellians to their utmost limit to win. Weather conditions are ideal for the meet. Preliminary heats make up the most of today's program.

Cincinnati, May 26.—For the second time within six months, Charley White has hung a knock out on Milburn Saylor, the Indianapolis lightweight, in less than two minutes of fighting. Charley turned the trick last night before a crowd of 5,000 fans in the ball park here. He did it last winter in Boston.

NUGGETS OF NEWS.

Unusual Events Briefly Told in Telegraph Despatches.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 26.—Germany has appointed a "Phonograph censor." Every record to be sent outside Germany must be "run off" at the censor's headquarters before it will be permitted to pass the border.

Philadelphia.—The increasing height of ladies shoes to meet the decreasing length of ladies skirts has increased the price of footgear, say the shoe dealers in conference here.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Kindness to win strike is the plan the Western Gas Construction which is providing chairs for its striking machinists who are picketing the plant, and invites them inside when it rains.

Yonkers.—Justice Tompkins advocated life imprisonment for those who insult the flag or threaten the government, in an address to forty-four [illegible].

Church of the Comforter.

Sunday there will be special services at the Church of the Comforter. At the morning service the pastor will preach a sermon appropriate to Memorial Sunday. Immediately after the morning service the Sunday school and church people will march to the cemetery where there will be brief exercises, followed by decorating the graves of the dead soldiers with flowers. It is hoped that those who own lots will attend to the matter of cleaning them up so that the cemetery may look as beautiful as possible for Sunday. In the evening there will be held the monthly musical service. Eugene Freer will sing a baritone solo, "Face to Face," by Johnson. Let all plan to attend next Sunday, and thus honor the brave men who made such great sacrifices to preserve our nation.

sion when Major George Chandler, Third Battalion, Tenth Infantry, N. G. N. Y., took up the transmitter and was connected up with Colonel Hunter at the Presidio. Asked what his ideas were on universal conscription, Colonel Hunter answered emphatically:

"My idea of universal conscription in this country is that I do not think it possible to raise an army of 200,000 men by voluntary enlistment such as we now have."

Preparedness Over Phone.

Continuing at length, the Colonel explained his idea that every able-bodied citizen should be equipped to meet any emergency and that some form of conscription might be necessary in the event of war being a probability. Major Chandler chatted (that's a fine word for a 3,400 exchange of views) with the Colonel over the federalization of the National Guard and both men agreed on the usefulness of military training of school students. Twice a week, the Colonel said, the school boys of San Francisco are given exercises with regular army officers taking an active interest. The Major informed him of the new law in this state providing for such training in the schools and the Colonel said he was glad to hear it. A comparison of militia figures between New York and California was most favorable to the Empire State but, as the Colonel said:

"You've got more people to grow on."

Colonel Hunter closed with a prescription to business men to get into training camps for the sake of their physical condition if not in obedience to patriotic impulse.

The Navy and the Schools.

Captain George W. Brower commandant of the naval forces of the state of California, was then switched on to Major Chandler but the latter confessed himself in deep water and passed the instrument on to Admiral Higginson. The admiral inquired about friends in the navy, including Admiral Winslow and received assurances of their good health and efficient state of preparedness. There was a distinctly salty flavor about this conversation which sounded like a social greeting on the quarter deck of a battleship.

Superintendent of Schools M. J. Michael then talked with A. J. Clark of the education department, San Francisco, who spoke in place of Superintendent of Schools Alfred Roncovievi. At Mr. Michael's request Mr. Clark pronounced the name, "Ronco-vi-very," but thereafter Mr. R. was referred to as "the superintendent." Mr. Michael told Mr. Clark about what this state is doing for the training of school children and the latter expressed interest, the latter getting across some facts about their own voluntary drill system in 'Frisco.

"We are going to have a battalion of boys in a few years," said Mr. Michael, "who will come over and help you in the case of an invasion from Asia or anywhere else. Do you hear?"

"I got it," came back Mr. Clark, with tones like an ordinary conversation.

The Mayor and Mr. Rainey.

Then his honor, Mayor Canfield, came to bat with the elusive Mr. Rainey cornered in his home in far-off 'Frisco after a pursuit of messenger boys and the mobilization of half the city hall staff at the Golden Gate.

"I wish I were there," was Mr. Rainey's reply, when the mayor expressed greetings of the city and the smoker. Then followed figures from the rival boosters, Mr. Rainey saying that 'Frisco was the 11th city in the union.

"Well, we're 200 ahead—Kingston is the 211th," rejoined the mayor.

Then the mayor inquired about woman suffrage.

"Do they vote" he asked.

"You bet they do," responded Mr. Rainey, who in spite of his name evidently has a sunny disposition.

Then a couple of stories were told, one of how Mayor Rolfe lost a vote when at registry time a colored lady refused to tell the inspectors "who she affiliated with" as she hadn't got her divorce yet. Then Mr. Rainey explained that the mayor was wrestling with his aldermen over the tax budget and the mayor asked if he should send flowers as well as sympathy. Then each asked the other what the tax rates were in their respective cities and both modestly waited. Finally 'Frisco owned to $3.26 on a valuation of 50 per cent and the mayor said Kingston's was about the same except in the matter of valuation.

Tax Rate to be Lower.

"At least it was about the same last year but it won't be next," said Mayor Canfield, and the pleased sigh of his hearers in the room was heard in 'Frisco, Mr. Rainey said. Finally the central gave "the gate" to the Golden Gate and Keep the Gate and the transmitter went over to L. F. Bannon, chairman of the social committee, who soldered a greeting across the continent to Thomas J. Ford, past president of the State Association of Master Plumbers of San Francisco.

Mr. Bannon made inquiries for a number of personal friends and was glad to learn that "Jimmy" Britt was well together with other friends on the coast. Mr. Ford, who could be heard most clearly, is no connection of Henry the Eight of Detroit, it was said, and he told Mr. Bannon of plans for the coming convention at Atlantic City on June 23d.

The hit of the evening which was not on the bills came next in the conversation of Attorney Henry Klein with M. Dinkelspiel of San Francisco, a representative of the King of Siam on the Pacific coast. Mr. Klein was called for and came to the front. His conversation ran true to best Leap Year form. After stating that the weather in Kingston, except when it rains, was far superior to anything the west offered, Mr. Klein heard Mr. Dinkelspiel's boosts for California and the latter's inquiry as to whether he would bring his wife to an Atlantic City convention next month.

Then the Kingston man attacked coast trade methods saying that in selling Sunkist oranges California gave spoons in exchange for wrappers. Such "kissing and spooning methods"— in business—were disapproved of by Mr. Klein but he cheered up when 'Frisco informed him that the Sunkissed girls of California were superior to the fruit and that he could come and judge for himself. At this point the conversation terminated and Mr. Klein's intentions as to the western crops remained a mystery.

Roar and Roll Call Close Card.

Next the roar of the Pacific surf convinced the audience of the superior attractions that "the voice of nature holds" over human efforts as a matter of ear drum tension. Then followed a musical selection "The Star Spangled Banner" to which the audience listened standing and the "Good Night Roll Call" of the wire chiefs, starting away across the divide, terminated a most entertaining evening.

Bell telephone enterprise and the work of the Chamber of Commerce, decorations, refreshments and the Charley Chaplin pictures which followed all came in for their share of the praise and it was all deserved. The importance of the telephone and the statistics of its growth were among the remarkable exhibits of the evening and were staggering in themselves. Space forbids their mention here but as a first class demonstration of up-to-dateness in putting Kingston on the transcontinental map, the telephone officials did their part for which they were warmly congratulated by all present. Besides Messrs. Bannon and Clearwater, Aaron Cohen, Charles A. Warren and Ward B. Everet were members of the Chamber committee in charge.

SUNDAY GAME CALLED OFF

Owing to Illness of Resident Near Ball Grounds Kingston Cancels Game With Garnets—Two Games Decoration Day.

Owing to the serious illness of a resident near McVey's field on Delaware avenue, the management of the Kingston Basball Club today cancelled the baseball game with the Garnet Club of Albany, which was scheduled for Sunday afternoon. An effort is now being made to try and play the cancelled game in Albany on Sunday instead of here.

The Kingstons are trying to arrange for a double header here on Decoration Day to be played on athletic field, and the management is in communication with some fast teams out of town to play here that day.

FIELD OF SPORTS.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, May 26.—The greatest gathering of college athletes ever assembled for a track and field meeting will compete today and tomorrow in the forty-first annual tournament of the Inter-collegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America. Cornell has been made a top heavy favorite to win the meet. Leland, Stanford and Yale are expected to force the Cornellians to their utmost limit to win. Weather conditions are ideal for the meet. Preliminary heats make up the most of today's program.

Cincinnati, May 26.—For the second time within six months, Charley White has hung a knock out on Milburn Saylor, the Indianapolis lightweight, in less than two minutes of fighting. Charley turned the trick last night before a crowd of 5,000 fans in the ball park here. He did it last winter in Boston.

NUGGETS OF NEWS.

Unusual Events Briefly Told in Telegraph Despatches.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 26.—Germany has appointed a "Phonograph censor." Every record to be sent outside Germany must be "run off" at the censor's headquarters before it will be permitted to pass the border.

Philadelphia.—The increasing height of ladies shoes to meet the decreasing length of ladies skirts has increased the price of footgear, say the shoe dealers in conference here.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Kindness to win strike is the plan the Western Gas Construction which is providing chairs for its striking machinists who are picketing the plant, and invites them inside when it rains.

Yonkers.—Justice Tompkins advocated life imprisonment for those who insult the flag or threaten the government, in an address to forty-four new citizens.

Church of the Comforter.

Sunday there will be special services at the Church of the Comforter. At the morning service the pastor will preach a sermon appropriate to Memorial Sunday. Immediately after the morning service the Sunday school and church people will march to the cemetery where there will be brief exercises, followed by decorating the graves of the dead soldiers with flowers. It is hoped that those who own lots will attend to the matter of cleaning them up so that the cemetery may look as beautiful as possible for Sunday. In the evening there will be held the monthly musical service. Eugene Freer will sing a baritone solo, 'Face to Face," by Johnson. Let all plan to attend next Sunday, and thus honor the brave men who made such great sacrifices to preserve our nation.

Finally 'Frisco owned to $3.26 on a valuation of 50 per cent and the mayor said Kingston's was about the same except in the matter of valuation.

Tax Rate to be Lower.

"At least it was about the same last year but it won't be next," said Mayor Canfield, and the pleased sigh of his hearers in the room was heard in 'Frisco, Mr. Rainey said. Finally the central gave "the gate" to the Golden Gate and Keep the Gate and the transmitter went over to L. F. Bannon, chairman of the social committee, who soldered a greeting across the continent to Thomas J. Ford, past president of the State Association of Master Plumbers of San Francisco.

Mr. Bannon made inquiries for a number of personal friends and was glad to learn that "Jimmy" Britt was well together with other friends on the coast. Mr. Ford, who could be heard most clearly, is no connection of Henry the Eight of Detroit, it was said, and he told Mr. Bannon of plans for the coming convention at Atlantic City on June 23d.

The hit of the evening which was not on the bills came next in the conversation of Attorney Henry Klein with M. Dinkelspiel of San Francisco, a representative of the King of Siam on the Pacific coast. Mr. Klein was called for and came to the front. His conversation ran true to best Leap Year form. After stating that the weather in Kingston, except when it rains, was far superior to anything the west offered, Mr. Klein heard Mr. Dinkelspiel,'s boosts for California and the latter's inquiry as to whether he would bring his wife to an Atlantic City convention next month.

Then the Kingston man attacked coast trade methods saying that in selling Sunkist oranges California gave spoons in exchange for wrappers. Such "kissing and spooning methods"— in business—were disapproved of by Mr. Klein but he cheered up when 'Frisco informed him that the Sunkissed girls of California were superior to the fruit and that he could come and judge for himself. At this point the conversation terminated and Mr. Klein's intentions as to the western crops remained a mystery.

Roar and Roll Call Close Card.

Next the roar of the Pacific surf convinced the audience of the superior attractions that "the voice of nature holds" over human efforts as a matter of ear drum tension. Then followed a musical selection "The Star Spangled Banner" to which the audience listened standing and the "Good Night Roll Call" of the wire chiefs, starting away across the divide, terminated a most entertaining evening.

Bell telephone enterprise and the work of the Chamber of Commerce, decorations, refreshments and the Charley Chaplin pictures which followed all came in for their share of the praise and it was all deserved. The importance of the telephone and the statistics of its growth were among the remarkable exhibits of the evening and were staggering in themselves. Space forbids their mention here but as a first class demonstration of up-to-dateness in putting Kingston on the trans-continental map, the telephone officials did their part for which they were warmly congratulated by all present. Besides Messrs. Bannon and Clearwater, Aaron Cohen, Charles A. Warren and Ward B. Everet were members of the Chamber committee in charge.

Friendly Four Dance.

The second annual dance of the Friendly Four will be given at the Holy Cross parish house on Pine Grove avenue this evening. Music will be furnished by Steve Miller's orchestra and a large attendance is anticipated.

"Ki" Gets Three Months.

William Hotaling, better known as "Ki," was arraigned before Recorder Lang this morning on the same old charge of being drunk and was given three months at the county hotel.

SPECIAL EXTRACT SALE!
May 27th to June 2nd Inclusive

POCONO EXTRACTS

The season is now at hand for Ice Cream and Cold Drinks. We manufacture the finest flavoring and Root Beer Extracts, Orange and Wild Cherry Phosphates on the market.

Vanilla is the most popular Extract. It is also the most delicate flavor known. Our Vanilla is made from the finest Vanilla bean, grown in Mexico and the West Indies, scientifically manufactured and the flavor properly developed by aging.

Vanilla and Tonka. The same as Vanilla, but with the added strength and aroma of the Augostura Tonka bean. We recommend Vanilla and Tonka as it stands baking and freezing better than the clear Vanilla, but take your choice.

Our other Extracts are made from the essential Oils, from the fruits, nuts or herbs of the various kinds, scientifically manufactured, are of full strength and the finest flavor. Put up in full weight 2 oz. bottles.
